Former Premier of Britain Flays Foreign Affairs Departments

Puts Efficiency Ahead of National Welfare Says Leader

BY J. RAMSAY MACDONALD
Former Prime Minister of Great Britain

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, by the Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The general peace of the world and the smooth working of nations together must always be one of the chief concerns of democracies. That after the last war we should all be armed to the teeth in a vain attempt to be secure and that our national industries should be loaded with excessive burdens of taxation in order to pay for armaments which, as has been proved with domestic force, when used to the very utmost, bring no comfort or tranquility to either the victors or the vanquished, is one of those queer and irrational futilities in which nations indulge when they have neither the courage nor the wisdom to follow straight and simple common sense.

At the root of this tragedy lies the fact that the conduct of foreign affairs of most States has been left to overspecialized departments and to a very small group of men who staff these departments or who are foreign secretaries and ministers of war. Thus a sort of priesthood, protected by all the superstitions and taboos which frightened our cavemen ancestors, has grown up to conduct foreign affairs.

Diplomatic staffs pride themselves on the fact that they know nothing of politics and public opinion. In rectitude and devotion to their duties, in the knowledge of their work and in their single-minded interest in it they are not to be surpassed. As servants and when they are a comfort and a security and a man who would do nothing but value them beyond words can only confess his own in[illegible] incapacity to the world.

MENACE TO PEACE

But without being firmly controlled by public opinion those departments tend to become a menace to peace. Their pride in their [illegible] makes them put that efficiency before the national con-

NEW DEVICE AIDS HEART ILLS STUDY

Instrument Expected to Save Thousands of Lives Viewed in Demonstration

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Demonstration of a device for the phonographic recording of heart sounds expected eventually to save thousands of lives annually by making possible improved methods of diagnosing heart disease, was given yesterday by the Columbia Phonograph Company.

Engineers of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., and the Columbia Phonograph Company perfected the invention with the assistance of Dr. Richard C. Cabot, professor of physiology at Harvard University medical school; Dr. H. B. Williams, professor of physiology at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, and Dr. J. C. Gamble of the school of medicine of the University of Pennsylvania.

By combining the electric stethoscope, a product of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, with the recording apparatus of the phonograph experts, it has been possible to make records eliminating the sound of the heavy beats of the heart which mask the murmurs upon which diagnosis is based. It is also possible to record sounds which ordinarily are so faint as to escape detection by the human ear. This is done by amplification of the sound.

MINE BLAST IN GERMANY KILLS SCORE

Entire Town Shaken as Explosion of Fire Damp Rends Shaft

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—On All Saints' Day, today, consecrated to mourning for the dead in Germany, the black flag of death again floated over all the mines of the Ruhr. Seventeen miners are dead and one is dying and one is seriously injured in an explosion of fire damp last night in a mine near Gelsenkirschen. Thirty-two miners in the same shaft escaped.

The explosion shattered buildings for miles around. Great fissures hundreds of yards long appeared in the earth and flames shot high toward the sky.

Immediately families of the miners rushed to the shaft, but already a cordon of police was on hand holding back the relatives. Rescue squads began work immediately, though it was 4 o'clock this morning before the work was completed. The first bodies rescued were too charred to recognize, and it was only by checking up the rescued the names of the dead could be determined.

The mine was divided into two parts, which prevented the explosion from extending through the whole mine, which would have endangered more than 1000 workers. Ten years ago a similar explosion in this mine claimed twelve victims.

Orientals Plan Chicago Theater for Own Drama

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Wealthy Chinese of Chicago, San Francisco and Boston have about completed plans for the erection in Chicago of a $500,000 Chinese theater, the finest in the United States. It will contain at least 1000 seats and tables, for no Chinese theater is complete without its tables for refreshments. It will be of oriental design without and within and decorated on a lavish scale.

With the erection of this theater Chicago will become the greatest center of marathon drama outside of China. The ordinary Chinese dramas require from twelve to twenty-four hours for presentation and the operas run longer, the last one presented here continuing a week.

Sixty-five leading merchants are interested in the scheme. If the theater proves profitable here, similar houses will be built in the principal Chinese centers of the country.

A trace of rain was also recorded at Lindsay, in Tulare county, yesterday, making their total for this season .56 of an inch, compared with .57 at the same time last year. The total rainfall at Lindsay last season was 11.46 inches.

RELIGIOUS INTOLERANCE HIT

Oppression Practiced on Church Minorities Under League Treaties, Says Dr. Macfarland

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Danger spots for the whole world are being created by the treatment of religious minorities in some of the European countries, said Dr. Charles S. Macfarland, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches, in a report to the administrative committee following an extended visit to churches in Europe.

Transylvania, which was given to Rumania by the Versailles Treaty, with the exception of Asia Minor, Dr. Macfarland declared, presented the most serious situation in Europe today, and to meet this and other conditions the League of Nations should readjust or reinterpret the Treaty of Versailles.

He urged the people of the United States to use their influence to persuade all governments to treat minorities with sympathetic consideration, adding that "the government of the United States cannot be deaf and blind to these situations without culpability for any disaster that may ensue."

GOOD EXAMPLE CITED

Czecho-Slovakia was commended for its attitude toward religious minorities, which Dr. Macfarland said to some extent sets an example for the rest of Europe. The Lithuanian situation was helped by permitting churches of German-speaking people to have organic relationship with their sister churches in Germany.

"The situation in Poland has been greatly aggravated, however," he said, "and the mistake of the Rumanian government is not so much in what it is trying to do, as it is the method employed. The Rumanian effort to induce uniformity and identity at one stroke of two peoples of such differing language, customs and traditions is the commission of both a wrong and a blunder, especially when this is attempted by forcible means.

"The most sensitive point is that of the confessional schools and, while the Rumanian government will find sympathy for its efforts to develop a public school system, the manner in which it is taking over the confessional schools and properties, involving the sudden dispensement of both faculties and pupils, is the serious thing.

OPPRESSION PRACTICED

"There is probably no doubt but what these Hungarian populations are obviously very far from being whole-hearted, loyal citizens to Rumania, and it is quite probable that men associated in a responsible way with the churches are participating as a bloc in political affairs. It also hardly can be denied that on previous occasions, Austria-Hungary pursued a similar course with alien minorities. The difficulty is that apparently Rumania is continuing the old method of revenge, repression and force.

"It is obvious enough that the treaty on record with the League of Nations is not being observed either in letter or in spirit, and it is to be hoped that the League of Nations, now that it is gathering such moral power and influence, may be able to exercise its proper control in these situations.

"It does not alter the Polish situation by saying that the Poles are simply treating the Germans the way the Germans once treated the Poles. It is a question as to whether a new order is to bring justice and peace or the old order is simply to perpetuate the war."

After contrasting the efforts made in Czecho-Slovakia and Lithuania to bring about a better treatment of minorities, Dr. Macfarland said these danger spots were made so by keeping alive the political conditions and methods, the national and racial antagonisms, and the social and economic maladjustments that helped to bring on the war.

RADIO PROJECTS FILM

Machine Transmits Pictures from Hollywood Direct to Screen of Foreign Theaters

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—Trans-Atlantic tests of the radioscope, a new machine for the almost instantaneous transmission of script or photographs and motion pictures by wireless, invented by Dr. Carolus of the University of Leipzig, are to be undertaken in the near future under the auspices of the Radio Corporation of America and the German Telefunken Company, according to announcement made here today.

The technical development of the Carolus invention, Dr. Schroeter, the German Telefunken Company's chief scientist, reports, has reached the point where its application on a commercial basis has become entirely feasible. This is understood to have been demonstrated in private experiments over the radio between Berlin and Leipzig.

Count Arco, technical director of the Telefunken Company and himself an inventor, declares that the Carolus radioscope, or telechirograph, since it may be used over telegraph or telephone wires or cable, will revolutionize the distribution of motion-picture films and consequently the entire film industry throughout the world. When the invention is applied across the Atlantic, the Count says, an American photoplay can be projected right from Hollywood to the screen of any or every German moving-picture house.

The result will be, he predicted, the disappearance of the middleman and film distributing agencies. Moreover, great economy will be realized through the fact that positive prints will no longer have to be made from negatives.

A paper surface ten centimeters square, bearing either writing or a photograph, can be transmitted by wireless or wire by the Carolus instrument in a few seconds, it is said, and ultimately transmission will become instantaneous. Telegrams, it is argued, will become much cheaper, since, instead of a message being sent word by word in the Morse alphabet, it will be dispatched all at once—and be received in the sender's own handwriting.

A whole newspaper page can thus be transmitted by wireless in facsimile. The importance of this development in the long-distance

ITALY DEBT GROUP HERE

Envoys Arrive in Washington

Conversations Reopen Today With Little Formality Preceding Session

Difficulties Face Conferees in Renewing Discussions on Funding Issues

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The Italian government debt-funding commission arrived in Washington today prepared to reopen tomorrow the conference on a settlement of that nation's obligations to the United states which have been in abeyance several months.

No ceremony attended the arrival of the mission, headed by Count Volpi, the Finance Minister, and few functions are planned for tomorrow in advance of its first scheduled joint session with the American debt commission, except formal visits to the State Department, the Treasury and probably the White House.

The Finance Minister's intention is to start talking business as quickly as possible. The first meeting has been set for 4 p.m. and it is likely that the two commissions at the time will atempt to map out a course of procedure for the further conferences. In this connection it was suggested today that a committee will be named by each commission and that the real negotiations would take place between the two small groups.

DIFFICULTIES LOOM

The Americans and Italians alike recognize the difficulties which confront them in renewing the conversations. Italy's debt, as calculated at the Treasury, is $2,138,543,852, of which $1,647,869,198 is principal and the remainder accrued interest. Both commissions realize that careful thought will be required to arrive at a formula of settlement providing satisfactory and workable means of liquidation of such a sum.

The Italians will start the negotiations well informed as to the general views of the Americans. The conference tomorrow will serve in a measure to pick up matters where they were dropped when the first commission departed in midsummer.

Officials believe, therefore, that the new conference will be able to eliminate many of the usual preliminary stages, but there is no attempt anywhere to minimize the problem and the American commission, under the guidance of Secretary Mellon, will enter the conference with a desire to avoid all obstacles which may threaten the negotiations.

SETTLEMENT SEEN

The policy of basing debt-funding arrangements on a basis of capacity to pay will be applied to Italy, Undersecretary Winston of the Treasury, said today, as strictly as has been the case with all other powers whose obligations have been funded. He expects this basis to prove entirely practicable with the Italians and pointed out that it appeared unlikely that the second mission would have been sent to Washington had the Italian government not been convinced it could agree to terms with the American policy.

None of the American commissioners was willing to guess tonight as to the probable duration of the conference, although optimism obviously prevailed among them.

ENVOYS LANDED SECRETLY IN NEW YORK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Another important phase in the efforts of the United States to fund its war credits opened today with the arrival here of Count Volpi, Italian Finance Minister, and five members of the Italian debt mission on the liner Duilio.

While 2000 anti-Fascisti waited near the pier, the envoys were landed secretly at the Battery and, escorted by a force of seventy-two secret service men, mounted police and members of the special bomb squad, were hurried to the Pennsylvania station, where they entrained at once for Washington.

FRENCH CONSIDER NEW DEBT PROPOSALS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Nov. 1.—The new Cabinet of France is expected soon to resume negotiations at Washington for the settlement of the French debt to the United States. It is probable that Senator Henry Berenger will be intrusted with the mission. This does not mean, however, that M. Berenger will succeed M. Daeschner, the present French Ambassador at Washington. M. Berenger, it is understood, will come as a special ambassador.

The decision of the Cabinet to reopen negotiations at an early date is understood to have come about through representations of American Ambassador Herrick to Premier Painleve that the American government would welcome an early conference confident that a funding of the French obligations to the United States would do more than anything else possible toward a general stimulating of the foreign trade of both countries and toward the stabilizing of French finances.

OLATHE (Colo.) Nov. 1. The enrollment in the public schools of Olathe this year is 491, the rolls containing the names of 360 in the grade schools and 131 in the high school. The large school enrollment is accounted for by the density of population throughout the country immediately surrounding the town.

STAGE SET FOR OPERA PREMIERE

Season Opens Tonight at Metropolitan Operahouse; Tibbett Sings Saturday

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. — With the raising of the first curtain tomorrow night, all of the heroes and heroines and villains of last year's back-stage melodramas at the Metropolitan Operahouse will have reported to the management as ready for the coming season's battle with circumstance. Certain changes in the personnel of individual casts for the season are significant, however, despite the diplomatic silence of Giulio Gatti-Casazza, the general manager.

When Maria Jeritza appears Wednesday evening in "Tosca," Mario Chamlee will essay the role played last season by Beniamino Gigli, thus breaking up the former apparently close co-operation of Jeritza-Gigli-Scotti. Mr. Gatti-Casazza will make no announcement, but it has not been forgotten that last season Jeritza declared she never again would sing with Gigli.

Lawrence Tibbett of Los Angeles, who, after three years in minor roles and obscurity rose suddenly to popular acclaim last season, will appear Saturday night in the first Metropolitan production of Maurice Ravel's "L'Heure Espagnole." He will have a part said to be more difficult than any other he has shown New York audiences.

Stone Mountain Memorial Work to be Resumed

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ATLANTA, Nov. 1. — The work of carving the gigantic memorial to the Confederacy will be resumed at an early date, H. N. Randolph, president of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association, announced today. A squad of workmen is engaged in clearing away the debris from the grounds and the stone-cutters' implements, rusted from their long period of idleness since work under Gutzon Borglum was halted, are being cleaned and made ready for the renewal of operations under the guidance of Augustus Lukeman, the new sculptor.

The studio, closed since the work was suspended last February, will be thrown open to the public and Mr. Lukeman's sketch model put on display there, Mr. Randolph said. The master model now being completed in New York also will be brought to the association's grounds at Stone Mountain and displayed for public view. This model will be one and one-quarter times life size in its dimensions.

CANAL PLAN WEAKENED

Flood Control is Held Urgent

Senate Committee Convinced Protection Must be Afforded

Development of Colorado River Depends Upon Party's Views

BY KYLE D. PALMER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—Developments following the California and Arizona hearings of the United States Senate Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation clearly indicate, in the opinion of members of the committee and others attending the committee sessions, that the fate of the Colorado River project virtually rests, for the time at least, with the eleven western Senators who are here making a personal study of the problem.

Should the committee find itself able to iron out the differences in its own membership and reach a compromise on the divergent demands of groups in California and Arizona, it is believed that little difficulty will be encountered in completing the terms of the original seven-State Colorado compact and thus pave the way for development of unprecedented proportions throughout the Southwest.

Failure of the committee to solve the great river problem, however, is expected to result in a greater confusion of issues and interests than heretofore and in a renewal of litigation between the States, which may defer for many years not only development of power and storage of water for irrigation, but the more pressing and vital matter of flood control.

PLANS RETARDED

For four years in Congress the proponents of an all-American canal in the Imperial Valley have retarded plans for control of the Colorado's menacing floods, with a consequent depreciation of land values in the valley and a continuation of an irregular water supply.

The canal advocates now face a showdown. Either they will acknowledge their determination to sacrifice both a high dam and a low dam rather than abandon the less important issue, or they will permit the fundamental project to proceed without further opposition.

Testimony of the owners of a majority of the land on the American side of the international boundary in Imperial Valley that the present canal system is adequate and is satisfactorily administered and that an all-American canal at this time represents a political catch phrase rather than an economic need, apparently made a deep impression on a majority of the Senate committee. So much so, in fact, that various Senators have closely questioned the canal advocates as to their probable attitude n the event the committee finds itself unable to obtain support for the American line canal and faces a necessity for eliminating the local proposal from the Colorado development program.

PRIMARY NEED

The frank admission of leading proponents of the canal that flood control is the primary need and that either a low dam or a high dam is of paramount importance has aroused resentment among the more fanatical canal enthusiasts, but undoubtedly has been accepted by the Senators as a diplomatic admonition to abandon the canal feature if need arises.

Engineers with the Senatorial party, being concerned neither with the political nor the personal aspects of the controversy, are unwilling to become involved in the discussion by public commitments, but privately assert that

ROMANCE OF STEEL TOLD

Gary Personifies Industry in Book on Huge Merger Just Written by Ida M. Tarbell

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Ida M. Tarbell, author of "The Life of Abraham Lincoln" and "History of the Standard Oil Company," has invaded the territory of steel in her latest work just published, "The Life of Elbert H. Gary; The Story of Steel." She portrays the life of the head of the steel industry in this country and intimately pictures his quarrels and disagreements with other financiers over his labor and stock-market policies.

At the time of the formation of the big steel trust that later was subjected to many government suits and investigations, Miss Tarbell writes of J. Pierpont Morgan's part in acquiring the steel plants offered to him by Charles Schwab. Morgan submitted the proposition made to him by Schwab to Mr. Gary. Mr. Gary returned it with notations of his own and when the deal was going through Morgan told Gary, "Now there's one thing I want understood; if I go into this you are to go with me, not only as my lawyer, but as my friend—that is, you are to stand by me."

DISLIKE ROCKEFELLER

In attempting to gain the Rockefeller ores for the new combine Gary found that Morgan's dislike of Rockefeller stood in the way. Chided by Gary, Morgan went to Rockefeller and parleyed with him for the ore lands. The Rockefeller offer was $5,000,000 more than Gary's outside figure, but Morgan said the price would not stand in the way and directed Gary to write out an acceptance.

She interestingly portrays the long conference between Morgan and John W. Gates, who was determined to get a record price for his wire holdings. Gary took up the parley where Morgan had walked out, angry. He eventually forced Gates to sell by having Morgan enter the room and announced that unless Gates "sold his wire plants Morgan's interests would build one of their own and force Gates and his associates to the wall."

"Morgan was as tickled as a kid going home from a football game," Gary said in describing the victory.

Miss Tarbell draws her word picture of the modern master of steel, as exemplified in the person of Mr. Gary, as that of a pacifist. Nowhere does she make him the militant enemy or foe of labor, but shows him as the mediator and the peacemaker. An instance of

ADVERTISING OF CHURCH URGED

Minister Advocates Use of "Selling" Methods

Points Out Value of Large Electric Signs

Newspaper Publicity Also Stressed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1.—Rev. Christian E. Reisner, pastor of the Broadway Temple, New York City, in an address in St. Louis advanced the theory that the people could be "sold" on religion if the principles of business were applied to it.

"Advertise, that is the keynote word," he said. He then discussed the matter in detail by taking up each letter of the word separately and stating what he thought it stood for.

"A," he said, "stands for attract. You have to attract people to your church before you can convert them. Talking to empty pews never got anybody anywhere. Get an electric sign — not a cheap, dinky affair, but a modern electric sign that will loom up in competition with the signs of business. If you haven't the money, go after it. A young minister friend of mine needed a sign. He called on a rich member of his congregation after he was in bed. He stayed there until the man had given the money. Advertise. Get into the papers!

"D stands for the daily papers," Dr. Reisner continued. "The first thing I did in promoting the Broadway Temple was to give a banquet for all the newspaper men in town. As a result I got three managing editors on my publicity committee. Don't be afraid of the newspapers. Don't be afraid of breaking into print too often.

"V is for vivacious," he continued. "Put some life into the services. Develop surprises. Whistle a hymn occasionally instead of singing it. Mirthful energy never hurt anybody.

"E stands for entertainment. People are not going to come to church and be bored. Don't be afraid to present something diverting.

"R means rare program. I had Gov. Al Smith in my pulpit one night—that's what I mean by a rare program. Some people said 'Awful!' because he's a Catholic and 'wet.' But it set people to thinking. Incidentally, I have a friend in politics now. You may want the police band some time. A friend in power is always useful.

"T stands for topic. Announce the subjects of your sermons in as few words as possible. Connect them up with the daily happenings around you. If there has been an earthquake, let your topic be, 'God and Earthquakes.'

"I means impressive copy. Instead of 'Go to Church,' put it 'Come to Church.' It sounds better.

"S is for service. The church, of all institutions, ought to stand for service. Not just spiritual service, but every-day physical service too. Why shouldn't the church have a health service? It might teach people to cook, too.

"E is for evangelistic. Never desert evangelism. It is that of all things that puts religion across."

FLYER NEAR DEATH WHEN PLANE HITS

Brea Aero Club Meeting Marred by But One Mishap During Contests

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 1. — Five thousand spectators were given a thrill during the first air meet of the Brea Aero Club at Loftus, Saturday, when a Jenny plane, piloted by Joe Richter of Long Beach, suddenly turned on its nose, smashing the plane, during the attempted landing. Richter escaped serious injury. The accident occurred during the dead stick race, and was the only mishap to mar an eventful day.

The feature of the air program, conducted to dedicate the new field of the aero club, was an aerial wedding in which Miss Brownie Dale De Mose, 18 years of age, became the bride of Willard Claire Sweet, 21, member of an old Brea family. They were married by Rev. F. J. Porter, pastor of the First Christian Church of Santa Ana.

William Tremaine of Brea and the mother of the bride went up with the couple as witnesses. The ceremony was performed in the cabin of a huge plane piloted by a Long Beach flyer. After they were brought back to earth the couple were presented with wedding gifts and a cash prize. Another ceremony followed later at the home of the bride's parents.

About sixty planes participated in the meet. The results follow:

GIRL WILL WED MAN SHE SHOT

Couple Take Out Marriage Intention Before Hearing Is Called

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAUNTON (Mass.) Nov. 1.—Anna Morris Correaira, 17 years of age, Taunton girl who shot and nearly killed her suitor, Agiras Ageras, 38, also of this city, has won a husband, as the couple have been to the city and have taken out marriage intentions.

They tried to have Judge F. E. Austin waive the five-day law, but the court refused the request. The couple were in court just before they went to the City Hall, the girl waiving a hearing on a complaint that she assaulted Ageras by shooting him, being bound over to the grand jury in $1000 securities. Ageras had two statutory complaints lodged against him by Anna continued for a hearing the 3rd inst. The parents of the girl agreed to the wedding, their consent being necessary as their daughter is under age.

When the hearing against Ageras takes place he will have taken the complainant as his wife and she will not be obliged to testify against her husband. He, too, will not have to appear before the grand jury and tell about the shooting that sent him to the hospital. He was shot in the arm.

transmission of important documents, signatures for business purposes and police data, photographic or otherwise, can scarcely be overestimated.

The inherent difference between the German radioscope and previous instruments of a similar type is that it functions far more readily, according to the promoters, and thus overcomes the prohibitive cost of earlier devices.

An umbrella that has retained its original cover for more than a century and a half, shedding only the cord and tassel, has been tracked down in Hobart, Tasmania. It was purchased in or before 1770 by a Dorset man, William Clewett, whose great grand-daughter took it to Hobart, where it is now in her son's care. There is no evi- "lost property" catalogue, but its photograph was recently published dence that it ever figured on a in "The Dorset Year Book."

the canal project, involving an issue with other States relative to reclamation and the reclamation revolving fund, will be overwhelmingly rejected by both Houses of Congress.

There is a division both among the Senators and the experts accompanying the committee as to the probable approval by Congress of a high dam or a low dam. Agreement is general that Congress will appropriate money for a low flood-control dam only, the divergence of views occurring as to whether, having made an appropriation for flood control Congress will further authorize the expenditure by private capital and by the States or municipalties of sufficient additional millions to increase the height of the dam to make power development available.

The Senators, somewhat exhausted from their strenuous and dusty trip yesterday in Imperial Valley, and along the main Imperial canal on both sides of the border, and having remained until after midnight yesterday in a hearing of Arizona's views of the Colorado situation, cut today's program in two. The party inspected the Laguna dam this afternoon and visited other sections of the Yuma reclamation project.

Following an enthusiastic banquet in honor of the visitors, tonight, the party left for Phoenix for an all-day session tomorrow. The committee will visit the Roosevelt dam Tuesday and return to Phoenix in time to leave on the afternoon train for Prescott.

A visit to Las Vegas, Nev., and an inspection of the proposed dam site in Boulder Canyon Thursday will conclude the itinerary of the committee, as a whole. A smaller party of Senators will continue the original itinerary, which calls for a visit to Lee's Ferry, on the Colorado and one day in the Grand Canyon.

GIRL'S DEATH LAID TO RITE OF REDSKINS

Criminologist Says Clews Show Victim Sacrifice to Ancient Indian Tradition

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EUREKA (Cal.) Nov. 1.—The theory that Carmen Wagner, 18-year-old girl found murdered near here recently, may have been killed in accordance with sacrificial rites of an ancient Indian tradition by a descendant of the tribe was advanced by Dr. E. O. Heinrich, Berkeley criminologist, who returned to Eureka today after visiting the place where the young woman's body was found buried.

About 300 yards from the spot where the searchers uncovered the murdered body, Dr. Heinrich said he had found an ancient altar where the girl may have been sacrificed by the person who first shot and killed Miss Wagner's companion, Henry Sweet.

"It is possible that a descendant of the Indians in the vicinity was a victim of a 'flareback' to the old religious beliefs of his forefathers and he may have conceived the idea of sacrificing a young woman on the moss-covered altar," he declared.

Dr. Heinrich said that his theory had been strengthened by the fact that growth on the trees at the altar had recently been disturbed by human hands.

Lochinvar of Today Jailed as Kidnaper

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—The romantic quest of a modern Lochinvar came to an abrupt ending behind prison bars here early today and with him was jailed his "Ellen" and a male companion who assisted in the asserted kidnaping escapade.

Driving to a downtown hotel, Andrew Chittenden, 30 years of age, thrust a gun at the proprietor, commanding him not to interfere. He kidnaped Mrs. Abbey Caughran, 21, and took her away in an automobile, the police said. The police were notified and the automobile, driven by Lorenzo Zaplin, was soon captured.

Chittenden is charged with carrying a weapon and with kidnaping, and Zaplin and Mrs. Caughran are held on a vagrancy charge.

M'DONALD HITS FOLLIES OF WAR

cern, though they would stoutly maintain that the national concern is the one thing they keep before them. In that plea they are right; the error lies in the fact that in foreign affairs democracies so rarely and imperfectly show what that concern is.

Diplomacy as an overspecialized profession living in a limited world of its own making and working upon its own notions of national honor, self-respect and prestige cannot in the end avoid war. Therefore it results that from time to time new ways of controlling foreign offices are proposed with the object of keeping them in touch with the popular psychology and the opinions of democracies and so severely to limit what in some States has become almost a sovereign authority of foreign offices, war offices or admiralties.

The American system of treaty ratification by the Senate and discussion and consultation with the Foreign Relations Committee is with modifications necessary by reason of the special features of the American Constitution which are generally taken as a basis. Roughly what is aimed at is a committee which will be consultative but which will leave the Foreign Secretary absolutely responsible for decisions and then reference to the House of Commons of all treaties or instruments imposing obligations upon the country.

To the outsider, at any rate, it does not appear as the American arrangement of absolute check could not work if America were more closely concerned with European politics with their give and take and necessity of making, not the best conceivable, but the best possible bargains. A two-thirds majority in a body which is not responsible for negotiating but which is possessed of the power to destroy would never work in European conditions.

OF SAME COMPLEXION

Lord Bryce quite properly wrote when discussing the objections to the powers of the Senate in treaty making: "The answer is America, not Europe." Our European needs require, I think, that whatever be the authority which has the final power of ratification must be of the same political complexion as the responsible government; that ratifying authority must not be a body hostile to the government or independent of the government so as to take from the government its responsibilities, or, what is much worse, leave the government with its responsibilities, but deprive it if the exercise of its will. Its function rather should be to exercise freedom of criticism and pressure in accordance with manifested public opinion.

What is wanted is something that will be an instrument in the hands of the constituencies rather than in those of the political parties for the purpose of making the governments aware of the limits of their power to do just what they like. That is the justification for the Foreign Relations Committee, which has found a place in the parliamentary machinery of every important European state except our own.

On general principles, it is most desirable that foreign policy should not be revolutionized every time a government changes, but I have frequently pointed out that these principles are subject to many important exceptions. Supposing, for instance, that a Liberal government were to succeed a Conservative one that had been pursuing a policy of military alliance and had been taking on obligations which had allowed foreign states to pursue courses that must lead to war, it would be the duty of the new government to end such a policy.

BAD EXAMPLE

Then would arise the problem of how to handle such a situation and upon all that all that I say is that the manner of doing it would distinguish an efficient from an inefficient Foreign Minister.

When the present government came into office it made changes for the sake of showing that it was a new government and that it did not share any of our progressive views, but that was a bad example which ought not to be copied. Had a consultative committee been in existence, some of those mistakes might have been avoided because such a committee, changing its balance and views without changing its whole personnel, would tend to maintain just that amount of continuity which is good, while making alterations that are necessary to express the difference in outlook of the incomers.

Not only would the Foreign Minister have to report his intentions to it and thus be prevented from doing what was obviously reprehensible, but the advice it could give from its experience would be invaluable to him in making up his mind as to a course of action.

What we have to aim at is to secure for our foreign policy some intelligence in public interest and at the same time, while in no way weakening the responsibility of the Ministers and Cabinet, set up some machinery which meets the fact that governments under democracies are not only responsible, but should also be representative. Of responsibility we hear much; of representation we hear little, but a democracy demands both. Self-government is not secured when the hand of external authority is removed from the people; if an official function and its staff rule people whom circumstances then compel to obey that people can hardly be termed self-governing.

The powers of the American Senate could only be given in this country to a body which creates a responsible government, but a Foreign Relations Committee might well be engrafted as an expedient to make the government representative as well as responsible.

'NEWSIE' TO SHARE WITH DUKE HEIRS

Paper Vendor Named as One of Sixteen Relatives of Tobacco King

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 1.—James Buchanan Price, who sold newspapers on the campus of Duke University at Durham, N. C., last year, when James B. Duke, the late tobacco king, went there to participate in a dedicatory service, has been informed by attorneys for the Duke estate that he is one of sixteen relatives who will participate in a $2,000,000 bequest from the Duke estate.

Price, who is 59 years of age, lives here and supports himself by doing small jobs. He lost his last job in a restaurant ten days ago because of illness.

Last year, after reading of the $40,000,000 endowment given by Duke to the university, Price managed to raise money for a railroad ticket, but when he reached Durham his funds were gone. He sold papers on the campus to meet his needs.

He did not reveal himself to Mr. Duke and returned to Oklahoma City without his relative knowing he was there.

SOVIET TO FARM OUT WAIF ARMY

Hundreds of Thousands of Orphans Grave Menace in Russia Today

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MOSCOW, Nov. 1.—Soviet Russia has resorted to a novel method of solving its orphan problem.

The Moscow soviet today decided to place two orphans in each peasant family in the villages, alloting as compensation for their support either a small grant of land or from 50 to 110 rubles monthly for each child. The children will be provided with clothing and given 10 rubles each for their further needs. The local village soviets will act as "foster fathers" for the orphans, making provision for their education along Communistic lines.

Child vagrancy is one of the sorest problems with which the present-day Russia has to deal. All over the country there are great hordes of homeless boys and girls who have swollen the ranks of vagrants in the cities and become a positive menace to society. Official figures place the number of juvenile vagrants at 300,000. Large cities like Moscow, Leningrad, Kharkov and Kiev are infested with ragged, hungry, half-naked urchins, who sleep in the streets and become common mendicants.

MUNICIPAL ROAD WILL BE JUNKED

After Four Years Venture Proves Failure

Public Ownership Partisan Changes Views

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HAMPTON (N. H.) Nov. 1.—The Exeter, Hampton and Amesbury Street Railway, which for a little over four and a half years has been operated by the town of Hampton, will suspend operation Saturday, November 7, a victim of the ill effects of municipal ownership.

The road was purchased in 1921 from a private corporation for $76,000, a price which was quoted then as to junk value. The money was floated on twenty and twenty-five-year bonds at 5 per cent. Whether $76,000 was the junk value is problematical and the concensus of opinion is that it was considerably less. At the present time the junk value is known to have depreciated greatly owing to the increase in the cost of labor in the past several years. Also whereas in 1921 some of the rails were such that they could be used then for reservice rails, now they are fit only to be scrapped for junk.

OPERATED AT LOSS

During the first year that the road was in operation a total deficit of $7622.02 was incurred. Of this the towns of Exeter and Hampton Falls, which were served by the line, subsidized $2291 leaving Hampton to make up $5331.02.

In 1922 the total deficit was $9416.40 with Exeter and Hampton Falls contributing $3500. The figures for 1923-24 shows the deficit steadily increasing. The first year it reached $12,082.94 with the two adjoining towns appropriating $3000. In 1924 the deficit reached $12,761.74 with the subsidy $3500. These figures show a total deficit amounting to $41,883.10 up until December 31, 1924.

The road has been managed by three trustees, H. Lester Tobey, Charles E. Greenman and Howard G. Lane.

OPINIONS REVISED

At the time of purchasing the road in 1921 Howard G. Lane, treasurer of the trustees and a prominent citizen, was of the opinion that it could be operated by the town without loss. He was of the belief at that time that the corporation was carrying too much overhead in the matter of high-salaried officials. Now after over four years of experience Lane believes that ifthis was a fault of the corporation it is much more so of the municipal-owned road. One item that was paid out annually was $500 for expert advice from a railroad official of another State.

Still another one of the trustees declares that his experience has convinced him that no town or municipality should take over this electric road proposition unless in dire need of that form of transportation. In other words this same man, who five years ago was a great believer in municipal ownership of railways, declares "Never unless as the last resort."

With the exception of two new cars and some rolling stock purchased in 1923, the road has the same equipment as when taken over two years previous from the corporation. And in 1923 a second bond issue of $12,000 was floated, making a total bond issue of $88,000.

AUTHOR TELLS STEEL'S STORY

the strict Methodist training of the steel corporation head is given in his refusal to continue matching $20 gold pieces for the fees of absentee members of the Board of directors.

NO ADVANCE TIPS

No relative of Gary nor any one of his employees, Miss Tarbell writes, has ever or ever will benefit by advance information. His own son would not be "tipped off" to enable him to speculate profitably in the steel market by Gary, although he might be in possession of news and information that would make such speculation profitable for friends or acquaintances.

Miss Tarbell says that Mr. Gary so arranged it with the comptroller of the corporation that the quarterly financial reports of the company were not given out to anyone, not even himself, until they were placed before the board of directors at 3 o'clock, when the market had closed, and at which time they were also given out to the public. Miss Tarbell quotes Gary as saying: "As a matter of fact, I always thought this use of inside information by directors, very common at the time, was akin to robbery of their own stockholders and I had no hesitation in making my disapproval of it so clear that everybody on the board would understand. They finally gave up trying to get information from me, though in one case one of our directors went to our treasurer or comptroller to get it. But I was able to stop that. It was wrong in principle and set a bad example. How could we expect our officers and employees not to speculate if the members of the board did it?"

Mr. Gary always insisted that stockholders who attend the annual meetings, as they had a right to do, should not only be allowed to speak, but should be invited to do so.

HOUSE'S PEACE PLAN REVEALED

Hidden Details of Colonel's European Trip Out

Ambassador in Opposition to Conference Scheme

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Another posthumous contribution to the history of the World War, revealing details of Col. House's mysterious trip to Europe in 1916, is contained in a newly published volume of "The Life and Letters of Walter H. Page," war-time American Ambassador to London.

The book, compiled by Burton J. Hendrick and published under copyright by Doubleday, Page & Co., discloses that Mr. Page objected strenuously to Col. House's proposal that the United States should suggest a peace conference on condition that "if Germany refused the proposal the United States would go into the war on the side of the Allies." Mr. Page thought there were ample moral grounds for an American declaration of war against Germany, but he felt that to go in on the basis of the House proposal would amount to trickery.

The message brought to London by Col. House, as the emissary of President Wilson, more than a year before the United States actually did go to war, was quoted by Mr. Page in one of his memoranda, as follows:

"The United States would like Great Britain to do whatever would help the United States to aid the Allies."

ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY

That was in January, 1916. Five weeks later, after visiting the French, Belgian and German capitals, the colonel returned to London with his plan for an American peace conference proposal with a virtual ultimatum to Germany attached.

"Of course, as I told House," wrote Page in February, 1916, "nobody here would talk about peace, and if they did dare, nobody would dare accept the President's intervention. They no longer have confidence in the President.

"House told me that we'd have a meeting on Monday—Asquith, Grey, Reading, Lloyd George, he and I. No, we won't. No member of the government can afford to discuss any such subject."

Despite the Ambassador's refusal to be present, however, the meeting between House and the ranking British statesmen was held a few days later. Foreign Minister Grey is quoted as saying to House that "if it were known that we were meeting for the purpose of discussing peace, every window in my house would be smashed," while Page himself said to the colonel half seriously, half good naturedly:

"If the British public learns that this is going on, you will be lucky if you are not thrown into the Thames."

INDORSED BY GREY

Mr. Hendrick adds that, although nothing came of the plan, Grey definitely indorsed it and the others present at the meeting seemed generally favorable.

The text of the Wilson-House plan recently was made public by Viscount Grey in his memoirs, with the observation that when this text was submitted to President Wilson he approved it with a single change. This change, Mr. Hendrick declares, was insertion of the word: "Probably," which weakened the force of the proposal at a time subsequent to its presentation by House in London. As amended by the President, the opening paragraph said:

"President Wilson was ready, on hearing from France and England to propose that a conference should be summoned to put an end to the war. Should the Allies accept this proposal, and should Germany refuse it, the United States would probably enter the war against Germany."

PAGE REVELATIONS CONFIRMED BY BRITON

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Admiral Sir Reginald Hall, head of the intelligence service of the British Admiralty during the war, confirmed Ambassador Page's revelation that the famous telegram which announced the opening of Germany's "sink-without-trace" submarine campaign in 1917 and invited Mexico into an alliance against America, was captured by the British secret service and given by Lord Balfour to the American government.

Admiral Hall said that the telegram was sent from Washington by Count Von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador.

"We obtained it on the way, but not on American soil," he continued. "It was given to Ambassador Page in London, but Americans obtained the original coded telegram, and it was decoded in my office from the German consular code. I cannot tell how we first obtained knowledge of the document, but that telegram was mainly instrumental in bringing America into the war."

Defies Age and Regulations

Levi Morrill, far-famed as "Uncle Ike" in Harold Bell Wright's novel, the "Shepherd of the Hills," will continue to hold his job as postmaster at Notch, Mo., an office he has occupied since he erected the little wood mail station thirty-two years ago, despite all government regulations. # SCHOOL TO GET FAMOUS STONE

Cube of Rock Obtained from St. Paul's Cathedral

British Ambassador Will Make Presentation

Missouri Institution First to Teach Journalism

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

COLUMBIA (Mo.) Nov. 1.—Final preparations have been made for the presentation of a stone from St. Paul's Cathedral, London, to the school of journalism of the University of Missouri, the first school of its kind in the United States.

The stone has arrived from England. A small brick walk has been constructed from the main walk in front of the school for the stone to be placed the 10th inst. On top of the stone will be placed a meridian plate, a gift from the journalism graduating class, prepared by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. It bears the motto, "I have set thee a watchman."

Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador to the United States, will formally present the stone to the school. The stone is presented by British journalists through the courtesy of Lord Burnham, proprietor of the London Daily Telegraph and chairman of the British Empire Press Union, with the consent of Dean William Ralph Inge of St. Paul's.

G. B. Dealey, president and general manager of A. H. Belo & Co., and former vice-president of the Associated Press, has accepted an invitation extended by the university to represent the newspaper profession of the United States at the ceremonies. Mr. Dealey was born in Manchester, Eng., and came to this country in 1870.

Aaron Watson, British journalist, first suggested the fitness of the use of the stone as evidencing the association of British and American journalism. "St. Paul's Cathedral," said Mr. Watson, "is the one English building which for every reason is most sacred to all Englishmen. Within a few yards from where this stone was taken Nelson and Wellington are buried; close by are grouped the resting places of the great painters, Sir Joshua Reynolds, J. W. M. Turner, and Lord Leighton. Sir Christopher Wren, the architect of this most noble temple Christian, lies among these, and, looking down on His Grace from a neighboring wall, the press has its memorial, in a tablet to Melton Prior, the war artist of many campaigns."

The St. Paul's stone, a three-foot cube, formed a portion of one of the statues on the south pediment of the cathedral. It was quarried in the vale of Portland in 1724 and carved by Francis Bird, famous English sculptor.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE AID TO ROBBERY

Man Stretches Self Upon Elevated Tracks; Asserted Pickpocket Works

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Bored with life, George Stark, 49 years of age, of the Bronx, stretched himself across the Third-avenue elevated tracks at the One Hundred and Sixth-street Station and waited for a train.

Other passengers in the station, bored with suicides, shouted to each other that somebody ought to do something, but took no action. Motorman John O'Bryne, bored with interruptions, stopped his train three feet short of the bored Stark, climbed down to the tracks and tossed Stark up onto the platform.

Patrolman McDermott sighed wearily, grasped Stark by the coat collar, and started to march him off to the station.

"My money! My money! Stop that man! He's picked my pocket!" shouted Peter Sylvestri, also of the Bronx. Instantly the policeman and the passengers were bored no longer. A dozen hands grasped Jerome Viola, 20 years of age, as he fled toward the stairway. In his pocket was Sylvestri's wallet containing $43, according to the police. Patrolman McDermott took both men to the station house, Viola charged with larceny and Stark with disorderly conduct.

Check Planned on Requests of Californians

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Nov. 1.—Hereafter all requests for California automobile licenses received from Arizona will be returned for approval by the Secretary of State of Arizona, this under an interstate agreement entered into lately. There is suspicion that many Arizona people, especially those who may spend their summers on the Coast, have been shielding their travel under the cheaper California plates.

Secretary J. H. Kirby states that a survey of Maricopa county shows there now are here 2700 cars with foreign licenses, usually from California. Some of the owners are known to have their homes in Arizona, though the majority are winter visitors. Mr. Kirby, in turn, will check up and submit the names of all persons who may apply from California for Arizona licenses.

DRUG SQUAD EMPLOYS UNUSUAL METHODS

DETECTIVE WORMS WAY ALONG COPING AND CLIMBS IN WINDOW

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Unusual methods were employed by detectives of the narcotic squad in seizing two lots of drugs valued at $7000.

At 17 Mott street, at the end of a slender line which Detective William Zeek held on the roof above, Detective Percy Harmon wormed his way along a narrow coping from a fire escape on the fifth floor. He swung into a window and arrested Wong Hing, 40 years of age, a tenant. Opium worth $5000 with nine smoking layouts, was said to have been found.

After watching Andrews Huerta, 24 years of age, through a telescope, Detectives Louis Ramirez and Jeremiah Neville captured him in Jeannette Park, near the Battery. In Huerta's room at the Seamen's Mission, 25 South street, they found a quantity of marihuana, a narcotic, and some women's clothing.

Huerta came under suspicion after T. P. Ryan, superintendent, complained that a woman, or man in woman's garb, had bootlegged drugs to the seamen.

They were traveling westward from Belmont, Tex., where Cuevas is said to have had a wife and three children.

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Nov. 1. The United States Army has nine corps areas with nine corps area air officers but boasts only one assistant corps area air officer. Capt. T. W. Ernest Hinds, Capt. Hastey is acting in both capacities.

SECTIONS OF WEST WILL CO-OPERATE

Southern California to Mention Portland in Its Advertising

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 1.—Evidence that the Pacific Coast cities are pulling together better than ever before is contained in a letter received here from the All-Year Club of Southern California. The letter notifies the Portland Chamber of Commerce that henceforth Portland will be mentioned in all of the advertising literature sent out by the Southland organization.

In the past the various sections or cities of the Pacific Coast have confined their advertising pretty much to their own localities. The departure of the Los Angeles club in naming Portland, along with other cities, and urging easterners to "see the great West in one trip," has met with much favorable comment here. It is seen as a step forward to a broader policy in which the entire Pacific Coast will pull together in bringing people from the East and Middle West to view its attractions, enjoy its scenery and, perhaps, to select a place to live.

Chamber of Commerce officials say that there has seldom, if ever, been any knocking of one Pacific Coast community by another, but each has struck out along its own lines and urged its own particular advantages as the one bright spot on the map. With co-operation, such as the All-Year Club has initiated, they see a distinct advance in methods and believe that eventually it will bring greater results for the entire Pacific Coast.

EX-KAISER CONFIDENT OF RETURN

Wilhelm's Expectations Disclosed by Reply on Singing Society Dispute

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm not only expects to return to Berlin as monarch of the German Reich but also expects to resume his former role as judge of art. He further intimated that there is none in Germany capable of judging a song while he is absent.

The ex-Kaiser received an opportunity to convey these sentiments to his former subjects because of the strife between two choral societies, one in Berlin and the other in Cologne.

During the imperial days each society won the "Kaiser Chain." It was to become the permanent possession of the club winning it three times. Berlin having won the last contest, the chain is gracing the trophy room of the capital city. Cologne has challenged and challenged without being able to get Berlin to put up the coveted prize, so an envoy was sent to Doorn to appeal to the former sovereign.

He replied:

"The Berlin society retains possession of the Kaiser chain until some future day, when the two societies will again be called to sing in a Kaiser contest."

Jackrabbits and Quail Appear in Residence Area

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RENO (Nev.) Nov. 1.—Asserted by Indians and pioneers to herald a hard, long winter, coveys of quail and several jackrabbits are appearing in the residence sections of Reno, with an occasional jackrabbit even venturing near the business section. Hundreds of quail have invaded different parts of the city and appear indifferent to presence of men and dogs.

Older residents are unable to account for the presence of the birds and rabbits, as feed is plentiful in the hills, heavy rains having turned the desert areas into pasture in many sections, and coyotes and other predatory beasts are not numerous near Reno.

Orders for embroideries and leather goods for miladi in America are keeping factories in Florence, Italy, busy.

CREDIT GRANTED IOWA FARMERS

Total of $50,000,000 to be Loaned on Corn

State Rural Warehouse Act Now Invoked

Money to Enable Men to Sell Crop at Advantage

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OMAHA, Nov. 1.—A new note in farm financing and marketing was struck here when the farmers of Iowa were notified that the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Omaha will lend them $50,000,000 with which to carry their 1925 corn crop until they get ready to sell it.

The immediate effect of the announcement will be that Iowa farmers will not have to wait until they sell their corn to pay their bills or to make new purchases, and a great bound toward prosperity is in immediate prospect for all Iowa.

The advancing of this tremendous sum is made possible by the Iowa "farm warehouse" law which has been on the statute books of that State for some time but has not been used to any great extent because the money had not been available.

D. P. Hogan, president of the Intermediate Credit Bank, and also of the Federal Land Bank of Omaha, in his announcement that $50,000,000 is available for the Iowa farmers, called attention that the Intermediate bank had authority to issue $55,000,00 debentures, and that but $5,000,000 had so far been issued. This leaves $50,000,000 for the corn growers, President Hogan stated.

The money will not be loaned directly to the farmers, President Hogan stated, but the loans must come to the Intermediate bank through agricultural credit corporations organized by the farmers, or for the farmers.

To meet this need the Iowa Farm Loan Association has just organized an Iowa Intermediate Credit Corporation, with officers of the Loan Association in charge and it is this organization which will handle the $50,000,000 for the Iowa farmers.

Nebraska farmers can not take advantage of this phase of the situation because this State has no farm warehouse law. Under the Iowa farm warehouse law, warehouse certificates can be issued on corn in the farmers' bins and it is not necessary for the corn growers to store their grain in public elevators and be forced to pay storage charges. They can appeal directly to the State which will send an agent to examine the grain in the bins. After this is done the bins are sealed up by the State and thereafter the barn becomes a warehouse under the State control. A warehouse certificate will then be issued by the State and it is this certificate that can be used with which to obtain cash from the Intermediate Credit Bank.

In the past the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank has loaned funds to wool growers, wheat producers and live-stock interests, but this is the first time corn growers have been advanced cash on their farm warehouse certificates of stored corn.

Under the new order, the Iowa farmers will not have to dump their corn on the market as it comes from the fields, but they can store the grain in their own bins, borrow money for their needs from the Federal Intermediate Bank using the certificates as security, and then sell the grain at a favorable time when the market is not glutted. In this way the Iowa farmers will help themselves and will also help corn farmers in other States by keeping the great Iowa corn crop off the market at a time when less fortunate farmers are forced to sell.

HOPI CHIEF COMPLAINS ABOUT CATTLE DIPPING

ASSERTS MANY ANIMALS HAVE DIED AS RESULT OF TREATMENT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—Frank Seumptewa, chief of the Hopis at Tuba City, has renewed his complaint that Hopi and Navajo cattle have been badly treated by whites in being driven off the reservation for dipping. He asks governmental review, to determine the number that have died from their treatment and states that no action has followed his first protest, although he was assured that an inspector would be sent at once.

The report that the Indians have been taxed by the county is not correct. Declaration is made that taxes are levied only on Indian cattle that graze outside the reservation, and this has not been done in this county. The Indians declare that all the cattle affected in the present situations were herded up by white cowboys well within healthy and they did not need dipping for scabies. The dipped cattle are said to have been turned back to the Indians.

DEFICIENCY FUND FOR TICK CAMPAIGN SURE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Nov. 1.—A deficiency for tick eradication work will be approved by Gov. Miriam Ferguson, it was decided at a conference between the Governor and Leo Callan of San Antonio, chairman of the State Livestock Sanitary Commission, the latter stated. No intimation of what the deficiency will amount to has been made, and it was stated the fund may be created in installments as needed. At the conclusion of the conference James E. Ferguson stated the Governor will approve the deficiency, according to Callan. Despite strict economy, including the cutting down of the number of inspectors, he said, the present appropriations are insufficient. Hence the deficiency is necessary.

Expert Poultry Burglar Works Near Vancouver

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Nov. 1.—The expert "chicken" burglar is the latest. He works in rural districts near this city, travels in a car and his nightly returns run into hundreds of dollars.

He is an exceptionally clever and expert judge of poultry and has never yet made a mistake in the birds he selects, taking only those that are valuable.

The thief is hot on the trail of all prize birds and has taken some worth a great deal as show birds. Police are completely baffled, as night after night the marauding continues.

THREE NEW TOWNS IN CASA GRANDE VALLEY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CASA GRANDE (Ariz.) Nov. 1. The Casa Grande Valley has three new towns. Two of them, Coolidge and Randolph, on the new Southern Pacific line, are well established. The third was to have been named Cameron, in honor of the Arizona Senator, but it has been found that the name already is attached to a postoffice on the Navajo Reservation in Northern Arizona. So the settlement is to be called Hesston, after H. C. Hess, its principal promoter.

MARKETING BILL TO BE PROPOSED

Farm Relief Confined to Co-operative Measure

Jardine Seeks to Overcome Divergent Views

Appropriation of $250,000 Will be Sought

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Farm legislation, with administration support, to be proposed at the next session of Congress, will be confined, in the opinion of Congressional leaders, to a co-operative marketing bill drafted by Secretary Jardine with the evidence of a score of co-operative representatives throughout the country.

When Congress convenes, the Secretary of Agriculture will have ready a bill calling for an appropriation of $250,000 to create a division of co-operative marketing in the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to foster co-operative marketing of the major agricultural products.

For several weeks Mr. Jardine has conferred with co-operative leaders in an effort to co-ordinate their views. The conferences have developed that some of the co-operative associations were opposed to any Federal supervision of their operations while others were in favor of the Department of Agriculture extending its work along these lines.

Although the bill is expected to include a provision for an advisory commission of the Agricultural Department consisting of co-operative leaders, there was a sharp division on this point among those called in by the Secretary.

One protest came from the National Council of Co-operatives, which objects to the appointment of a commission on the ground that such a body might infringe on its authority. Since early in his administration, Secretary Jardine has regarded co-operative marketing as one of the most vital movements for the relief of agriculture. Before submitting proposals for legislation, however, he hopes to obtain the support of all co-operative organizations in an effort to sidestep the difficulties encountered by co-operative measures at the last session when they were attacked by existing co-operative associations on the ground that such legislation would give too much centralized control in Washington.

Positive indications have been given that supporters of principles of the McNary-Haugen export bill again will be active in Congress, but, unless these forces obtain the support of the administration, the leaders do not regard these activities seriously.

Farm representatives are expected to be active at the next session in support of various measures of lesser importance, such as the adoption of standard farm containers and the dyeing of imported alfalfa and clover seed.

APPROVES FORGET-ME-NOT DAY

Mrs. Coolidge Sponsors Campaign

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Coolidge has become a sponsor of Forget-Me-Not Day.

The First Lady recently accepted, from Michael Inselbuch, disabled war veteran, one of the flowers, as a prelude to the Forget-Me-Not Day compaign, which will open in Washington on the 16th inst., the proceeds to go to the aid of disabled veterans.

Mrs. Coolidge also had her new dog, Prudence, photographed for the first time, and introduced it to Inselbuch, to whom she gave a White House rose for the forget-me-not.

Berlin's Stage Girls Rush to Buy Wardrobes

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Nov. 1. — This morning hundreds of excited stage girls and directors stormed Berlin apparel stores, frantically telethem their entire stocks.

Another force from theaters were kidnaping seamstresses.

Up to 8 o'clock tonight sewing-machines never stopped and scissors snipping were heard above chants for All-Souls' Day.

For last night police headquarters issued orders to revues to "cover up" and in Berlin, orders are orders. Tonight stockings reach above the knees and skirts are way below. However, the novelty of seeing fully dressed chorus girls crowded all theaters. It was a victory for the Nationalist party, for they started the protest.

HUGE PRICE TO BUY OFF HOHENZOLLERNS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—The Prussian government is willing to award the Hohenzollern family $200,000,000 in cash for castles, lands and pictures in settlement of their claims; citizens who loaned the monarchy gold before and during the war may receive 12½ per cent on their investments after thirty-five years, is the way the Morgenpost sizes up the Prussian government's secret negotiations with the Hohenzollern lawyers for settling the estate of the former ruling family.

This sum is in addition to $3,000,000 gold sent to Doorn the year after the revolution to enable ex-Kaiser Wilhelm to keep the wolves from his door, and the granting of other properties now in possession of Hohenzollern princes and princesses, such as Oels estate, which was awarded to the ex-crown prince by Prussian courts.

According to the same paper, the Prussian government has offered the Hohenzollerns 150,000 acres of land and thirty-three castles if the claim can be settled out of court. However, this offer has been refused, the former reigning family demanding everything over which the crown held administratorship during the monarchy.

SEEK CHICAGO KILLER WITH TINY MUSTACHE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO. Nov. 1. — Federal agents and the police of many cities tonight sought Martin J. Durkin, Chicago gunman who a few weeks ago shot and killed a Federal officer and last week shot his way to freedom when he walked into a police trap, his sweetheart's uncle, who informed on him, being killed and one policeman wounded. One effect of Durkin's escape is to increase the trade of barber shops. Scores of men who have been mistaken for the sheikish gunman have sacrificed tiny blond mustaches, the killer's distinguishing feature.

CRASH KILLS ONE AND HURTS STUDENT TRIO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

REDDING, Nov. 1. — Everett Simcox, 18 years of age, was killed and three persons were injured, one probably fatally, when the automobile in which they were riding left the road and crashed into a tree last night between Fort Jones and Etna in Siskiyou county. All were high school students returning from a football game at Fort Jones. Velma Schneider is not expected to recover. Mabel Landis suffered internal injuries and Cecil Landis was slightly hurt. Landis, the driver, had turned his head to talk to one of the girls in the back seat. The car swerved off the road.

HOPE GROWS FOR PEKING CONFERENCE

Customs Meeting Success Expected Unless Civil War Again Breaks Out

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—With the Peking customs conference safely through its first week and showing no signs of a break, Washington officials are generally hopeful of the outcome, provided the new Chinese civil war does not interfere.

Great significance is attached here to the fact that the American, British and Japanese groups were fully prepared to enlarge the scope of the discussions as outlined by the Washington resolution under which they are being conducted to the extent of considering the tariff autonomy question when it was raised by the Chinese.

The State Department has made public only its lengthy reports on the first plenary session of the conference last Monday when the autonomy proposal came up, but since that time Committee No. 1, to which this subject was referred, has held one meeting and will convene again Tuesday, making it clear that nothing of a nature to indicate a breaking off of the discussion developed.

There are intimations from unofficial quarters, however, that the Chinese suggestion that autonomy be restored by 1929 found no support among the other delegates.

A feeling that considerable time must pass before a central authority can be built up in China sufficiently strong to justify surrender by the powers of their existing treaty rights as to tariffs was expressed by Chairman Hioki of the Japanese delegation in his opening statement a week ago. He insisted that China herself did not contemplate any immediate action to that end and submitted proposals for ad interim tariff agreements which went to Committee No. 2, on "progressional measures to be taken during the interim period," pending restoration of full autonomy.

It is reported that a force of anti-Red troops is rapidly approaching Canton.

Angeleno Dies on Way to Pay Daughter Visit

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OMAHA, Nov. 1.—T. C. Torrence, Los Angeles, some days ago came to Omaha to make his daughter, Mrs. Fred Chrisman, a surprise visit. He suffered some sort of stroke just before entering Omaha, was unable to tell where he wanted to go, and was taken to the County Hospital, where he died. Torrence had been dead two days before his daughter learned of his presence in the city and rescued his body from burial in the potter's field.

At the station he tried to tell the taxi man where he wanted to go, but was unable to do so.

Among his effects was a trunk check. The undertaker to whom the body was turned over opened the trunk and found a name and address in Council Bluffs, where he asked information concerning the dead man.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL HIT

Member Seeks to Air Charge Organization Hears Only One Side of Important Questions

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DETROIT, Nov. 1.—Claiming victory in the fight of the women's protective committee for the return to the open forum through the election Saturday by the National Council of Women of several officers pledged to that principle, Mrs. Haviland H. Lund of New York tonight addressed an open letter to Mrs. Philip H. Moore, the president, asking a hearing on her charges that the organization is a closed body permitting the presentation of only one side on questions of international importance.

Mrs. Lund charges that a resolution, censuring her passed yesterday also requested constituent organizations, of which she may be a member, to refrain from appointing her as delegate to further meetings of the National Council.

REFERS TO ATTACK

Referring in her letter to Mrs. Moore upon the attack made against her Saturday by Mrs. Alfred Wilson, the New York woman asserts that she has proven her statement that a minority is in control of the Council.

"Mrs. Wilson proves my contention when she says 'the Council voted to refuse her (Mrs. Lund) the opportunity of making a protest,'" Mrs. Lund wrote.

Decrying that it is unfair for the Council to take advantage of Mrs. Wilson's personal prestige in Detroit to have her reply to Mrs. Lund, the latter asks if Mrs. Moore with others believes her charges untrue why they fear to examine the evidence.

NEED NO DEFENSE

"You know full well that I need no defense among the patriotic organizations, who are, many of them, aware of the truth of my statements of the control of the Council by a minority of women of unquestioned ability and who are doing splendid work in their specialties, but who are unfortunately under the influence of extreme pacifists who cause them to vote away the defense of our country and to stand for Socialistic legislation under names other than Socialistic, in other words, false labels."

In her letter, Mrs. Lund reminds Mrs. Moore that, after the Council passed the resolution of censure, one delegate asked an investigation of the charges and that Mrs. Moore promised there should be one.

The national Council will resume its discussions tomorrow after the week-end recess.

Friends for Nearly Half a Century

IT IS UPON SUCH AN OCCASION as the opening of Harris & Frank's new store, that the true force of such business friendships are driven home.

For nearly half a century—which is a long, long time—Stein-Bloch and Harris & Frank have worked together, towards the same ideals. Each firm has been in business, for upwards of sixty years, not merely for gain, but to become and to remain institutions that honor and are honored in their communities.

We have always been thoroughly pleased that Stein-Bloch was represented in Los Angeles by Harris & Frank. They have maintained our standard of quality—we have upheld theirs. We think that their growing success proves that quality is what every one really wants.

Now we have the pleasure of congratulating Harris & Frank upon the opening of their fine new store. We know that it will be a success—it cannot be otherwise, because the ideals and ideas back of it are right for success. We hope that when the half century mark is passed our friendship will be cemented even more firmly,—and we believe that it will.

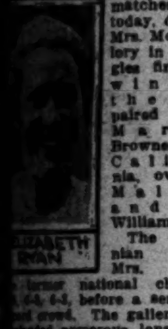
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

XICO CITY, Nov. 1.—Miss abeth Ryan, California tennis r, scored a double victory in the national matches here today, defeating Mrs. Molla Mallory in the singles finals and winning the doubles paired with Mary K. Browne, also of California, over Mrs. Mallory and Marian Williams.



ELIZABETH RYAN

The Californian defeated Mrs. Mallory, former national champion, 6-4, 6-1, before a sensational crowd. The gallery loudly applauded numerous long rallies. Miss Ryan showed an increase over her already brilliant form shown during the tournament and distinctly outplayed her old rival, who was favored to win. Miss Ryan's service was largely instrumental in her win, together with a number of chop returns just beating the net and not giving Mrs. Mallory time to get up to the barrier. During the whole tussle Mrs. Mallory did not make a single volley, Miss Ryan scoring several points in this manner.

Miss Ryan and Miss Browne worked their way to victory in the doubles by a score of 6-3. The winners both play the former excelling the back line, while Miss Browne played brilliantly at the net. Mrs. Mallory played a strong game against the back line and Miss Williams's periodical flashes failed to keep the large crowd in-

JACK THRILLS MEXICAN CROWD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1.—Jack Dempsey appeared before 25,000 hilarious Mexican fight fans here last night and boxed two sparring partners two rounds each. Jack Lee, the first, survived the distance although submitting to a severe battering, while the heavy champ knocked out Jack League in two rounds in the other tilt. The champion leaves today for Monterey and Tampico, where he is scheduled to repeat his slaughter of the innocents.

BOB ASKIN COPS TITLE AT ROUND-UP

Montanan Noses Out Ryan for Bucking Championship in Ascot Park Classic

Bob Askin of Miles City, Mont., cinched the bucking contest in the championship round-up which closed at Ascot Park last night, and walked away with the title and the $5500 purse attached. Paddy Ryan, also of Miles City, was a close second, 2½ points behind the winner.

Throughout the hectic championship matches Askin and Ryan staged a terrific duel, with Askin totalling 757½ points, while Ryan took 755. Askin is the 1925 champion, while Ryan is the holder of the 1924 Roosevelt award.

In the calf-roping contest Homer Ward of Carlsbad, N. M., was an easy winner. He roped nine calves in the speedy time of 4m. 46 4-5s. to take the $1500 added purse and title. Lloyd Saunders of Burbank placed second with a record of 5m. 14 1-5s., while Fay Adams of Chihuahua finished third in 5m. 17 3-5s.

Cecil Tracey of Bakersfield was taken to the General Hospital suffering from a depressed skull. Tracey suffered the injury when he fell from his mount in the bareback riding contest and was kicked in the head.

A crowd of 15,000 people, one of the largest of the spectacular show at Ascot Park, was on hand to see the wind-up of the championships.

Bucking horse contest, purse $5500, five rides, total points to count—First, Bob Askin, Miles City, Mont., 757½; second, Pat Ryan, Miles City, Mont., 755½; third, Norman Cowan, Hollywood, 751½.

Metropolitan Newspaper Service

ONCE in a great while there comes along a gridiron specialist like Charlie Brickley, who has, by diligent practice, acquired what is known as an "educated toe." Brickley specializes in kicking field goals from all angles, both by the drop kick method and by kicking from placement, and his record of only five missed out of seventy attempts at Harvard shows how successful he was.

Walter Eckersall was another wonder at field-goal kicking, but he was also a remarkable all-around player. Both "Eckie" and Brickley kicked five field goals in an intercollegiate game, Brickley against Yale in 1913 and Eckersall twice, once against Illinois and once against Nebraska. Trafford of Harvard also kicked five against Cornell in 1890, while Robertson of Purdue, with seven place kicks, holds the record.

"Frosty" Peters's seventeen drop kicks in one game was made in a freshman contest, University of Montana vs. Billings Poly. The interscholastic record is fifteen, set by Alfred Griggs of Exeter (Cal.) High School in 1915. The longest place kicks on record are sixty-five yards, made by Haxall of Princeton, against Yale in 1882, and sixty-six yards, two feet eight inches by Chadwick at Exeter, N. H., on November 29, 1887. Mark Payne of Dakota Wesleyan kicked a sixty-three-yard drop kick in 1915.

Pat O'Dea of Wisconsin and the late George Gipp of Notre Dame each drop-kicked a sixty-two-yard field goal in a game, while O'Dea made an exhibition drop kick of sixty-three yards eleven inches in May, 1898. O'Dea's stunt of drop kicking a fifty-yard field goal while on the dead run, when almost at the side lines, was most remarkable. It occurred in the Wisconsin-Minnesota game of 1897 or 1899. O'Dea was running back a punt, when Gill Dobie, now coach at Cornell, had him almost stopped at the edge of the field. It was a surprising thing to do, and even more surprising because it succeeded.

The Whites defeated the Purple in a torrid polo match at the Hollywood Country and Polo Club yesterday by a score of 9 to 2. The contest marked the second of the series and the Whites by virtue of their victory went into the lead.

Barger and Mueller starred for the victors by chalking up four goals apiece in sensational plays. Buck and Bunch starred for the Purple quartet.

TROJANS HOME TOMORROW

U.S.C. Grid Team Encounters Santa Clara Eleven at Coliseum Saturday Afternoon

BY BRAVEN DYER

More than thirty flushed young athletes, fresh from their 51-to-7 victory over the Idaho eleven, will arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow morning, bringing with them U.S.C.'s first conference triumph of the season. The Trojan party will disembark at 9:45 and will be welcomed by the entire U.S.C. student body. There will be no classes at the Methodist institution all day, the whole works leaving at 9 o'clock to participate in the jollification at the depot.

Morris (Red) Badgro, stellar end, and Morton Kaer will no tbe with the squad when it returns. The former suffered a broken arm in the Vandal rout, and after having an X-ray taken went to his home in Kent, Wash., to recuperate. It is unlikely that he will be able to play again this season. Red's loss is a tough blow to the Trojan passing attack, as he was a ball snatcher par excellence. It is presumed that Newton Starke, who is a mighty handy young man in the aerial line of play, will get the call for the end berth vacated by Badgro.

ADAM WALSH

Kaer went to Red Bluff to visit his parents, who were recently saddened by the death of one of their sons.

STANFORD ON TOP

Stanford stands at the top of the Coast Conference with three victories, Washington having two and California one. Trojan fans are figuring that U.S.C. can still get a tie for conference honors if certain things take place. In order to bring about such a standing something like this will have to occur:

California or Stanford must beat Washington. The Cards play at Seattle this Saturday and the Huskies come to Berkeley the following week. Washington must beat one of the two bay region elevens. Then the team that beats the Huskies must lose the "big

HOLLYWOOD A.C. SOCCER ELEVEN JUMPS INTO LEAD

Hollywood A. C. moved into undisputed leadership of the Los Angeles Soccer League yesterday afternoon when they defeated the Sons of St. George eleven, 3 to 1, in a game that at times, reached heights of brilliance, but was interspersed by periods of loose play. Neither team seemed up to their usual form, the Sons in particular, being away offf color.

The largest crowd of the season was on hand and judging by the vocal demonstration a Sons' victory would have been a very popular one.

Much of the defeat can be charged to Southern, Sons' goalie. Ordinarily, a very reliable man between the sticks, he seemed to misjudge the easy shots which came his way, while turning aside the hard ones. All three of the counters made by Hollywood might have been saved. In each case he had time to make the play but faltered through misjudging the flight of the ball.

The first half was barren of goals, and in this period the respective goalies were tested on but few occasions, the backs successfully parrying the thrusts of ambitious forwards. In this half the Sons about held their own in the exchange and much of the play was of the end-to-end variety.

In the second forty-five, however, conditions were far different. Scarcely had it go under way when Hollywood opened the scoring. The counter came from a seemingly impossible play, Jimmie Ramsay dropping the leather into the net with a long curving shot from near the corner flag.

Southern set himself to make the play on the ball, but evidently calculated that it would sail harmlessly across the goal mouth, and when he realized that it was circling into the net he was too late to get his hands on the leather.

On the second goal, which came from the same quarter, but from the toe of Charlie Stewart, Southern again made the same mistake. Ramsay added his second of the

ELLIOTT IS STILL BEST OF SCORERS

Trojan Quarter Being Hard Pressed by Kaer for High Honors

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1. —Howard Elliott, fleet quarterback of the University of Southern California, retains his premier position as leading scorer of Pacific Coast football over the week-end by his touchdown against Idaho Friday, although the twelve points scored by his alternate in the U.S.C. quarterback position, Morton Kaer, put Kaer only three points behind.

HOWARD ELLIOTT

In collegiate games played by the Los Angeles university this fall Elliott has carried the ball across the line eleven times and has made three points by conversion, for a total of 69 points. Kaer has eleven touchdowns to his credit.

Mel Ingram of Gonzaga added nothing to his string of points scored in the Haskell game yesterday but his total of 54 was good enough to hold him in third place.

Two touchdowns by Earl Jabs of California against Pomona raised him from his tie with Nevers of Stanford for seventh place to tie with George Wilson of the University of Washington for fourth position. Each has scored eight touchdowns this year.

Hugh Beckett of Washington added nothing to his scoring laurels yesterday and Ernie Nevers's touchdown for Stanford against Oregon brought him even with Beckett with seven touchdowns for a total of 42 points

Schulmerich, Oregon Agricultural College's star backfield performer, out of the O.A.C. line-up against Montana, dropped from sixth to eighth position, maintaining his total of 37 points for the season. Shidler, University of Washington, and Edwards, O.A.C., both heavy early-season scorers, added no points to their totals of 34 and 24.

HONOLULU, Nov. 1.—Mariechen Wehselau, the star Hawaiian swimmer, made a clean sweep over opposition from the mainland when she won last night the fifty-yard free-style race over Eleanor Garatti of San Rafael, Cal., national champion for the distance. Miss Wehselau kept in the lead throughout, finishing a scant foot ahead of the Californian. Her time was 29 3-5s.

Lester Smith of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, was hard pressed to win the men's 100-yard free-style in 57s. flat. To spectators it appeared to be a dead heat between Smith and Gay Harris, of the Outrigger Canoe Club, Honolulu, but the officials, after a consultation, awarded the event to Smith.

GRANGE GIVEN ROYAL WELCOME

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHAMPAIGN (Ill.) Nov. 1. — Thousands of Illinois students and townspeople of Urbana and Champaign were at the station tonight to welcome Coach Bob Zuppke, Red Grange and the Illinois football team on their return from Philadelphia. Never before in the history of Illinois football has such a rousing welcome been given to a returning football team.

Dr. W. F. Burres, Mayor of Urbana, and George J. Babb, Mayor of Champaign, issued a joint proclamation last night calling upon the citizens of the two towns to be at the station to unite in a rousing welcome to the returning fighting Illini. Capt. Grange of course was the center of attraction, but his team-mates were not forgotten.

LOCAL RACE TO FINISH CAREER

Clinches American Championship in Salem Event

Winnings for Season Total Almost $100,000

To Appear at Culver City in Turkey Day Race

BY AL G. WADDELL

ROCKINGHAM MOTOR SPEEDWAY, SALEM (N. H.) Nov. 1.—Peter De Paolo, the unbeatable speed king who captured the inaugural race on the New England bowl yesterday, announced here tonight that the Thanksgiving race on the Culver City speedway would be his last board-track appearance.

Peter De Paolo

When De Paolo received the checkered flag on the Rockingham course yesterday he cinched the 1925 American speedway championship. He also added another $10,000 to the De Paolo bank account and brought his total winnings for the season up to $96,000, which is just $4000 under the mark that De Paolo set for himself to retire on.

GOT WHAT HE WANTED

"All I wanted," said Smiling Peter, "was to win $100,000 and the championship. They can't take the championship away from me now even if I fail to finish in the last two races of the year, and it is not unlikely that in the Charlotte race on Armistice Day and the Thanksgiving Day race at Culver City I will win another $4000 and reach the total I had set for myself."

The sensational string of victories won by De Paolo eclipses the record of the late Jimmy Murphy. Back in 1922 Murphy won the title with a long list of victories, and before him, Tommy Milton had a run of breaks and took every event, piling up enough points to give him the championship, but De Paolo has outdone them all.

The little town of Salem will be deserted tonight. The speed kings will all be gone and the Rockingham speedway will be a dark house until next July, when the second race is to be held.

STILL ON THE SCENE

Several of the drivers got away early today, but others were still on the scene late this afternoon, planning to take night trains to Charlotte, N. C., via Boston or New York. The cold weather that chilled the thousands in the stands yesterday abated somewhat today and many of the speed kings played golf on the Kenoza Country Club course at Haverhill, where all the drivers and visiting officials were guests during the race meet.

From New England the drivers go to Charlotte, N. C., for the Armistice Day event. From the Dixie race they will rush to Los Angeles for the annual Thanksgiving classic on the Culver City course that will bring the 1925 racing season to a close.

Occidental and Southern Branch Tied for Lead in Conference Gonfalon Ra

TIGERS BATTLE CALTECH NEXT

Grizzles Will Mingle With Redlands Eleven

Stars Return to Spaulding's Line-up for Tilt

Expect Nichols Team to Win From Engineers

With Occidental and Southern Branch leading the Southern California Conference as a result of the Tiger win over Whittier last Saturday, the two schools will attempt to strengthen their shaky positions by further submerging the Caltech and Redlands eleven. The Grizzlies are scheduled to tackle the Bulldogs on the Vermont-avenue tanbark, while the now awakened Oxy Tiger plays annual classic against the Engineers in the Pasadena Rose Bowl. Pomona and Whittier clash Armistice Day.

The Occidental-Caltech event is the big game of the year for the Engineers. For years the two squads have been friendly enemies. Coach "Fox" Stanton points the Caltech team for this struggle at the very first of the season and no matter how badly the Engineers look against other conference teams, the Oxy clash is always a battle royal.

CALTECH WEAKENS

After the Redlands game last Saturday, in which Caltech was defeated by a 9-to-0 score, the Engineers' stock dropped far below par. The Oxy battle this year will be less of a struggle than in past years, is the prevailing impression, unless the Engineers take a new lease on life and begin to fight. Occidental started the season off in a half-cocked way that terminated suddenly with the Grizzly defeat. The Tiger is now a tough animal to tangle with. Solly Mishkin is working a la "Red" Grange for the Tigers and the whole squad has undergone a stiffening of the backbone.

The Redlands Bulldog will go up against a superior team in the Grizzly outfit, but the tenacity of the bulldog species is well known, and with McGilbra and Ford working in the Redlands backfield, another upset would not be surprising. McGilbra is easily the equal of the Branch flash, "Cy" Walton, and besides is fully as heady a quarter as Scrips Birlenbach, the Branch signal caller.

Loren Peake will be back in the line-up, as will Hudson, which will give the Branch an added punch. Hudson was the big star of the Grizzly line in the Occidental game, but he has been out with injuries since that fracas. Julius Jessup has just begun to find himself and will probably hold down the other halfback position with Walton. George Ray, who has been filling Peake's shoes remarkably well, will start at fullback if Peake should still be weak.

The Grizzly line will be the greatest stumbling block in Redlands' way. The Bulldogs have a weak passing game, and depend on straight football for gains. The Grizzly line is a much tougher combination than any the Bulldogs have been up against this season. Furthermore, the Branch will be playing for the league championship and will be aided by playing at home.

game and the third for Hollywood with a grass-cutter which rolled between Southern's legs.

With a three-goal handicap to overcome, Sons struggled gamely but without results in goals until Slawson, who had moved from the half line to center forward uncorked a hard drive which beat Murray. It was the best goal of the match and put new life into the game. Sons returned to the attack from the kick, but their dying rally was barren of goals.

Charlie Stewart and Bobby Cook put up a great game for Hollywood, as did Archie Brown. For the Sons the outstanding players were Slawson and Abbott.

Scots proved the nemesis of the L.A.A.C. and emerged on the long end of a 1-to-0 score. The winning tally had its inception in a penalty, George Allen converting.

The clubmen were off their game while the Scots showed to better advantage than they have this season. The winners outplayed their opponents for the greater part of the match, and were worthy of the win.

Largely responsible for the Scots' win were George Allan, J. T. Gregory, Ben Hawkins and Jimmie Elder. Bobby Robertson was easily the best man on the club team.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER
BILL HENRY

WE REFUSE to be unduly excited over the 51-to-7 defeat of Idaho at the hands of the galloping Trojans. True, the margin of victory was a little larger than anybody expected, but the Trojans are a very surprising team. After seeing them play the first two Saturdays of the season we expressed our opinion to the effect that we regarded the Trojans as a "freak" football team, one of the biggest and fastest and best gridiron outfits we'd ever laid eyes upon. That's our story and we stick to it. Yes, in spite of the fact that the Trojans didn't resemble themselves very much when they played Stanford. Stanford fought 'em off their feet and on that particular day the best team won, but in our estimation the Cardinals played almost to the limit of their ability, while the Trojans never got out of second gear.

No matter how much fine material a coach has or how good he is the fans are a little unreasonable in expecting him to make a clean sweep on his first public appearance. In the first place, he had nothing whatsoever to do with the laying out of the schedule and he has only hearsay evidence regarding the ability of his players to do their stuff under fire. If Howard Jones had been able to play two or three fairly tough games before he played Stanford he might have started a somewhat different team and he might have had a few other plays. He undoubtedly learned a lot about his team when they lost to Stanford and the Trojans ought not to lose again this year unless Iowa can do it.

Saturday's games certainly gummed up the Southern California Conference race for fair. Occidental returned to form and trampled Whittier much more completely than the 13-to-0 score would indicate and didn't look like the same listless outfit that was pushed around the field by the Grizzlies. Redlands, showing improvement in every game, was too good for the Caltech Engineers so that Occidental, Whittier and U. C. at L. A. now head the league. It looks very much as though the crucial games to decide the championship would be Redlands vs. the Grizzlies, Redlands vs. Whittier and Occidental vs. Pomona.

Pomona is getting better and better, just the way they would figure to do. Of course, the California team which played them was not anything like the Bear regular eleven, but just the same the Sagehens are improving and will be pretty good by the end of November. Comparison of the Pomona game scores run up by U.S.C. and California don't mean a thing at all because Pomona is much better than when she met the Trojans, the most of the Bear team watching Stanford play.

U.S.C. HOME TOMORROW

game" between Stanford and California on the 21st inst. Washington can ruin everything from a U.S.C. standpoint by failing to win from either Stanford or California or by winning from both of 'em. Therefore, U.S.C. has one chance in three of finishing in a tie for the Coast title, provided, of course, that Jones's charges win their remaining conference games from Montana, O.A.C. and W.S.C.

Santa Clara is next on the Trojan program, coming here Saturday. Adam Walsh, Notre Dame, captain and all-American center last year, coaches the "Western Irish" and has had pretty fair success in his first year. California took a 28-to-0 game, Stanford won, 20 to 3, and the Olympic Club, 10 to 6. The Broncs in turn have trimmed Fresno State, 6 to 0, and Nevada, 20 to 7, the latter victory being turned in last Saturday.

USE NOTRE DAME SHIFT

Walsh has introduced the Notre Dame shift to Santa Clara and naturally the team is gaining strength as the season progresses. Roy Baker, former U.S.C. star, is assisting Walsh. One of the big stars of the team is Capt. "Blizzard" Storm, a battling end, who is in every play. Leonard Casanova rates as one of the greatest punters on the Pacific Coast. He kicks with his left foot. In the St. Mary's game last year he was credited with booting from behind his own goal to the St. Mary's 3-yard line. Sam Dagley, former Pasadena player, alternates with Bud McKee, ex-San Diego athlete, at the quarterback berth. "Red" Chisholm, a 200-pound end, is another of the team's bright lights.

Andrew L. Smith, famous coach of the equally famous California football team, certainly didn't gain any popularity in Southern California with Saturday's game at the Coliseum. Not only did the Bruin mentor refuse to grace the occasion with his august presence, but he also kept nine of his men up north—most of the absentees being regulars whose performances were awaited by local fans with no little interest.

ANDY'S ACTION UNFAIR

Andy's action was not only unfair to California alumni here, but also failed to take well with the Coliseum management and Eugene Nixon, athletic director at Pomona College, who was staging the battle. Also it was something of a slap at the Southern California sporting public, which expected to see the real Golden Bears in action.

Alumni have a right to be hurt at Andy's move, while Nixon certainly has good reason to feel put out. It was the only showing of the Bruins in Southern California over two seasons. Former California students, many of whom do not make pilgrimages north every season to see their team play, naturally expected to watch Jimmy Dixon, Snooky Mell, Scoop Carlson, Dana Carey, Al Young, Otis Miller, Jack Sargent, Gordon Huber and Frank Couper do their stuff. All but Couper rate as regulars. The whole bunch—nine of 'em—stayed at Stanford to watch the Cards mangle Oregon. With the exception of Miller and Sargent the boys were in good shape to play.

ANDY HAS ALIBI

Of course, Andy will say the game didn't amount to anything anyway, so why bother about it. But from Nixon's standpoint it's another matter entirely, and also from the Coliseum viewpoint. The Pomona management scheduled the game before the U.S.C.-California break came off. California would have appeared in the South, probably at Claremont, even had the Trojans scheduled a game here. Thanks to the Coliseum, who were besieged with requests from California alumni to stage the game in the big bowl, the affair was put on there. The Coliseum officials figured that California's only showing here in two years was worth it. Apparently Andy thought otherwise.

CAREY'S NINE WINS

Running a sensational string of victories to sixteen straight games, Harry Carey's fast-moving Saugus Indians yesterday defeated George Stovall's California Petroleums 7 to 1 on the winner's home grounds. Mack, pitching for the Indians, added another win to his streak by holding the Petroleums to three hits and a single tally, registered in the first inning.

HINKEY HAINES IS "PRO" STAR

Professional Grid Sport Draws Huge Crowds

Paddy Driscoll Features in Cardinal Win

Long Runs Registered as Yellow Jackets Cop

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Playing an entirely different brand of football from what they showed against the Frankford Yellowjackets two weeks ago, the New York football Giants trounced the Cleveland Bulldogs, champions of the National Football League, today by the score of 19 to 0.

Another gathering of 20,000 spectators thronged to the Polo Grounds to see the second game of the professional league football in this city. It was a thoroughly partisan gathering, filled with a pride in its team of all-American stars and ready to cheer its head off at every opportunity. There was plenty to cheer about. The tackling was deadly, the attack concentrated and smooth working and every man on the field was there to give his best.

Hinkey Haines, Penn State's great star, was the outstanding ball carrier. He scored two touchdowns in the first half and then was taken out in order that he might be saved for the game with the Buffalo Bisons at the Polo Grounds Tuesday. Haines tore loose for gain after gain and his handling of passes was astonishing. Twice he caught long heaves from McBride of Syracuse on his finger-tips and sidestepped tacklers to make gains of thirty and twenty-eight yards in the second quarter. On the second occasion he threw himself across the goal line for his second touchdown.

PACKERS VICTORIOUS OVER MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Nov. 1.—The Green Bay Packers chalked up another victory in the pro league in Milwaukee by taking the Badgers into camp by the score of 6 to 0 in a bitterly contested game on a muddy gridiron.

The only score of the game came in the second quarter when Basing Packer fullback, plunged across the goal line after a series of well-executed forward passes. Buick missed the goal.

During the first three periods the Badger State champions had the ball continuously in the Milwaukee territory. The Bays missed three goals from the field.

This victory cinches the pro football championship in Wisconsin for Green Bay for the seventh successive year.

FAST TEAMS IN SCORELESS TIE

DIXON (Ill.) Nov. 1.—Although the Darlington (Wis.) Panthers were able to make only two first downs in the game here today with the American Legion team they played a great defensive game and Dixon was unable to score against them and the game ended in a scoreless tie.

DULUTH LOSES BY 10-6 SCORE

CHICAGO, Nov. 1. — Paddy Driscoll's trusty toe again hoisted the Cardinals to victory today when the former Northwestern star kicked four points onto the locals' score in the final quarter, enabling the Cards to turn back the strong Duluth team in a pro grid game at the White Sox park by a score of 10 to 6.

It wasn't until the last period that the Cards organized and decided to win. The exit of Gilbert, flashy Duluth back, from the game because of injury put them in a position to knot the count, 6-to-6, after which Mr. Driscoll added the winning point and a few minutes later booted a goal from field from the 35-yard line.

CHICAGO BEARS RUIN ISLAND HOPES

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The pedigreed toe of the diminutive Joe Sternaman kicked the hopes of Rock Island into the discard at Cubs Park today and the Chicago Bears scampered off with a tight pro grid victory by 6 to 0 before 8000 spectators.

Tiny Joe polished off his toe on four different occasions, but only two of his efforts bore points, one in the first period and the other in the third. At other times the struggle was just a shoving match with a run or a long pass tossed in here and there for good measure, but the Bears invariably managed to keep the play in their opponents' territory.

PHILADELPHIA WINS BY GRABBING PASSES

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Nov. 1.—Philadelphia defeated Buffalo here today in a fiercely contested National League football game, 12 to 3. The Yellowjackets scored all their points via the aerial route, Hamer intercepting a Bison pass and running 50 yards for a touchdown and Chamberlain catching a Philly pass and racing 55 yards across the goal line.

The Buffalo line outplayed the Quakers all the way. Six times the Bisons rushed the ball inside Philadelphia's 20-yard line, but were unable to score. The brilliant playing of Noble, Bruder and Chamberlain featured.

MONTEBELLO WINS

Montebello won from the Calglasco ball club yesterday, 13 to 3, when they cut loose a barrage of base hits capped off by a home run by Red Hatch with the bases loaded. The relief pitching of Chief Anthony, who held the visitors to one hit in the last five innings, featured. Fowler, with a double and single in three trips, led the home guards at bat. The score:

EAST DECLARES GRANGE MARVEL

Critics Call Red Greatest of All Stars

Circumstances Make Showing More Remarkable

Yale's Triumph Over Army is Blow to Soldiers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Any hesitation the East may have had in placing the laurel wreath upon the sorrel-thatched head of Red Grange or any skepticism as to the greatness of this artful dodger of the gridiron has vanished in the wake of the meteoric swath he cut through the mud of Franklin Field, where he led the Illinois attack that crushed Pennsylvania and simultaneously shattered any national championship hopes entertained by the Red and Blue.

Grange, averaging more than a first down, about 11 yards, for every one of thirty-two times he handled the ball, fully lived up to the most extravagant claims previously made for him and established beyond question his place among the greatest football players of all time. Seasoned critics, veterans who saw in their prime such stars as Willie Heston, Jim Thorpe, Ned Mahan, Ted Coy, Charley Barrett, George Gipp and Eddie Kaw, were a unit in proclaiming Grange the greatest ground-gainer, the most elusive runner of them all.

CIRCUMSTANCES AGAINST HIM

The circumstances of Grange's achievements made them loom all the greater, for he triumphed over obstacles at every turn. Before the most critical eyes he ever had faced he slashed forward on a boggy field that was expected to slow him up and ripped to pieces a defense that was regarded as the strongest in the East, one that had been especially drilled to check his charges.

Grange had remarkable support, too. In fact, the all-around brilliance of the Illinois team, outplaying Pennsylvania at every turn, was almost as amazing to eastern critics as Red himself, for as the Illini played yesterday, it was difficult to understand how they could have been beaten three straight times in the Middle West.

Grange's marvelous work was the overshadowing feature of a day of gridiron strife unprecedented so far this season for its startling upsets in the East, where the smoke of battle cleared from scenes that scrambled title hopes in ruthless fashion and forced an entire realignment of calculations.

YALE'S WIN SENSATIONAL

Pennsylvania's defeat, however, after five straight victories and successive triumphs over Brown, Yale and Chicago, was no more sensational than Yale's smashing defeat of Army, which had conquered Notre Dame, gone into the bowl unbeaten and with high hopes of pinning the Bulldog to earth. Another previously unbeaten eastern array fell a victim to blood-thirsty Wolverines in the West, where Michigan mopped up the Navy by the staggering margin of 54-0, and helped square a few intersectional accounts.

These were most astonishing developments of the conflict that left only three undefeated or untied elevens in the top flight of the eastern list. Two of these, Dartmouth and Syracuse, had all they could do to take the measure of Brown and Pennsylvania State, respectively, while Cornell, though seeing its goal line crossed for the first time, demonstrated far more superiority over Columbia than the score of 17-14 indicated.

Howard Wins Motor Event at Santa Rosa

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SANTA ROSA (Cal.) Nov. 1.—Fred Howard won the twenty-five-mile automobile race here today on the Santa Rosa Speedway in 24m. 13s. Roy Walters finished second, with M. Soares third.

In the fifteen-mile event, Freddy Lyons finished first, with Howard second and F. McKennon third. Lyons also won the ten-mile race, with Howard second and Soares third.

In the fourth lap of the twenty-five-mile race, O. C. Moon crashed through the fence and his machine turned over. Moon was seriously hurt, although it was not believed tonight his injuries would be fatal.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By
PAUL LOWRY

AFTER perusing the list of sparkling matches Joe Levy has lined up for the next six weeks at the Olympic Auditorium we can't think of anything we would like to add to it except an engagement between Charley Phil Rosenberg, the bantamweight king, and Bud Taylor, the Terre Haute Terror.

This is a match everybody was excited about last summer and which Jack Doyle almost cinched for a ball park show at Vernon. With Rosenberg and Harry Segal, his manager, here and prepared to stay all winter and Taylor also on the scene it seems to us this is the time of all times to make hay.

Of course, the fact that Rosenberg only wants a paltry $35,000 to defend his title, win, lose or draw, probably has a great deal to do with the reluctance of our fight promoters to talk title turkey. Even the Olympic people with their tremendous capacity can't pay the bantie wallopped that much and make both ends meet. They could if the public would fall for a high seat tariff, but Jack Doyle tried a $15 top with Mickey Walker and it failed to work.

As for the outdoor shows none of them has gone over with the anticipated bang which was expected. Dick Donald made a little on the first Ascot show and lost on the last two—one of which was a world's championship match, the other featuring Champion Jack Dempsey. Doyle's outdoor shows have drawn fair crowds but not a great deal of money. However, the Taylor-Rosenberg fight is one of the greatest matches in prospect and for one we certainly hope some promoter sees his way clear to landing it.

Our old friend, "Curly" Landis, the handsome proprietor of a cafe in the Pacific Finance Building, has gratified the urge to become actively associated with the fight game again, and has taken over the management of Billy Wallace, an unusually classy lightweight.

Landis bought the contract of Wallace, whose last appearance in a local ring was against Tuffy Wing, whom he defeated easily, and expects to start the boy against even tougher opponents.

As a matter of fact, Wallace was not considered to have much of a chance against Wing, who had been bowling them all over up North and the week before had knocked out Julius Jessick in the Hollywood ring. But Wallace was in rare form against Wing and demonstrated his class in such certain terms that Landis immediately grabbed his contract.

We are glad to note that the Occidental Tigers learned the lesson of overconfidence and indifference which cost them the game with Southern Branch and came back in noble style to defeat Whittier.

The Tiger triumph over the Quakers, who had already knocked over the Branch boys, probably means a three-cornered tie between Occidental, Whittier and Southern Branch for the title. Each team has lost one game, and all three figure to win the remaining games on their schedule.

Leo Lomski will do. That was the universal verdict of the fight fans who filed out of Hollywood arena Friday night after he stopped Eddie Roberts in the fth round. Leo the Lion is not a wonderful defensive boxer. He has a lot to learn about keeping his chin away from devastating right-hand wallops. But he is sturdy, rugged and a merciless, slashing punch slinger—just the kind of a fighter to annoy the life out of Bert Colima, who likes rough going none too well.

OLD STAR TO APPEAR

Ludy Langer Will Swim in Hollywood Athletic Club's Meet; Many Notables Are Signed

Ludy Langer, one of America's greatest distance swimmers and holder of four records, will come out of retirement long enough to perform at the Hollywood Athletic Club in a swimming meet to be held Wednesday and Thursday. Langer was a national champion and a member of the 1920 Olympic squad.

"TIMES" TO PLAY ON GRID

Well protected with great wads of copy paper as shoulder pads and gleefully tossing typewriters from hand to hand, The Times football team, popularly known as the Bone-Crushers, is in daily preparation for its game with the Examiner Misprints, which is to be played next Thursday at Bovard Field. The Misprints have seen fit to present a line-up of 200-pounders, but these beefy boys won't be in its with dash when The Times boasts such speed-burners as Dazzling Dyer, the former Pomona Phlash, Wild William Henry, the demon Oxy quarter, and a flock of other brilliants.

MEXICAN TITLES TO CALIFORNIAN

which President Calles will present the prizes.

The finest and hardest fought tennis match ever witnessed in Mexico was the afternoon's two-hour battle in the men's doubles finals when Johnston and Clarence Griffin beat their way to victory in five sets against Harvey Snodgrass and Walter Wesbrook, who were playing almost invincible tennis, the final score being 6-4, 9-11, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2.

In the first set, Johnston's service, Griffin's steadiness and Wesbrook's smashes were the outstanding features. The second set was the hardest fought, Snodgrass frequently pulling himself out of tight places when a lost point meant the lost set. In this set with Snodgrass and Wesbrook leading 10-9 and Johnston serving Little Bill foot-faulted, which error was the direct cause of their losing the set. Again in the third set with the score 4-all, he foot-faulted, losing his service. Wesbrook then lost his service after the game had six times gone to deuce. Griffin won the next game after several deuce scores.

In the fourth set Snodgrass and Wesbrook played unbeatable tennis in both back-line and net shots, and Johnston obliged by netting his smashes repeatedly. In the fifth set, with darkness approaching, Johnston played supertennis and called on all his reserves and like a phantom figure on the court, smashed almost every manner of impossible shots which had Snodgrass and Wesbrook at his mercy.

GRANGE GAINS ON SCORERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—"Red" Grange moved from ninth place to third in the standing of Western Conference football point-makers with his three touchdowns yesterday against Pennsylvania.

He has three games to go to catch Nick Kutsch of Iowa and Benny Friedman of Michigan, who have held first and second places all season. Kutsch was idle Saturday but Friedman added five more goal kicks to his string.

Oosterbaan of Michigan shares third place with Grange, thanks largely to Friedman's accurate passes Saturday against the demoralized Middies.

The leading Western Conference point scorers are:

HUNTER CHARGING EL CABALLERO PAR

Wee Willie Hunter, former British amateur champion and one of the ranking amateurs in the game for many years, now professional at the Brentwood club, expects to crack both par and course records at Jack Tarrant's El Caballero course today. Willie—with the curly hair—the smiling face, and a lot of English brogue, is a great fiend of the Caballero layout.

WILLIE HUNTER

The course has come along in wonderful shape. The eighteen holes were in fine condition during the opening tourney several months ago, but the improvements that have been completed since then are remarkable. The greens have improved and are near a state of golfing perfection. The greasewood that ruined a lot of good scores during opening week has been cleaned out and the course offers one of the best tests of golf in the West.

Speaking of golf tests—the revamped Brentwood course is going to be the surprise of the season. The course—with five of the seven greens that will give way to new ones starting with the invitational, one week from tomorrow, has always been one of the hardest courses to score on in the circuit. The clover fairways have offered fine lies—the greens have been true—and there has been lots of room. On many courses, one wasted shot still means a par, especially on the long five holes, but a wasted shot at Brentwood means—at the least, one over even figures.

The course is situated in a very desirable location. Actual work on the new $200,000 clubhouse will start next week, and when the new club home is completed, the already valuable memberships are bound to increase accordingly. Willie Hunter and his valued assistant, Jack Stone, have done much for Brentwood. Martin Leach, chairman of the greens committee and tourney chairman has insisted upon investing club money and the return has more than warranted the expenditure.

With Judge Lewis L. Works, president, the organization should continue to rank with the best in the country, and the annual invitational next week should find more than 400 of the best golfers in this vicinity, playing through what promises to be the banner event on the Brentwood calendar.

PROF. MOORE TRIPS GROVES IN THRILLER

O. L. "Prof." Moore, Eddie Brandstatter's golfing saxophonist who takes charge of his own nine-piece orchestra in the popular Hollywood Montmartre Cafe next week, shot through a former University of Illinois class-mate, Bob Groves, rotund and genial Hollywood Moon and Diana sales manager, for a thrilling 1-up win in the Dan Fink Trophy play at El Caballero yesterday. Groves dropped some beautiful putts — and choice golfing language but Moore was well on his game and came through with colors flying.

HILL AND BAKER TIE AT BRENTWOOD

J. W. Hill's card of 91-18-73, duplicated C. E. Baker's for first prize in the weekly feature at Brantwood yesterday. F. L. Baker's Mitchell won the third Class-A trophy from a record field, with 92-18-74.

W. O. Todd finished under the Class B field, 91-24-67, and O. R. Adamson's 97-26-71 tied W. S. Lincoln's 93-22-71, for second prize.

WOMEN'S TOURNEY AT HOLLYWOOD

Entrants in the women's Hollywood invitation tourney starting Wednesday, are advised to use the road through Laurel Canyon, when driving to President W. H. Richards's popular golfing establishment. The Pass road is in bad shape with many heavy trucks holding up traffic both ways, while the canyon road, rough in spots, offers a much better route to the club.

Players will start qualifying early Wednesday morning and will be bracketed in flights of eight each. There will be two rounds of match play Thursday, which will be a literal "manless" day at Hollywood. Players wishing starting time may phone the club at once, but there will be no waiting at the first tee to start play in the most enjoyable auxiliary event of the new season.

KANT-SCORES AGAIN

With Pitcher Dennison in fine form the Kant Score Pistons won from Downey, 5-to-2, yesterday. Dennison, who goes to the Pittsburg Pirates next season for a tryout, held the enemy to three blows, fanned thirteen and walked four. Larson of the winners got two hits, including a home run. The score:

CONN'S ALL-AMERICAN GRID TEAM PREPARES FOR GOBS

Under the direction of "Tuffy" Conn, the all-American football squad, which will tackle the U.S.S. Melville eleven on Armistice Day, worked out at the Pasadena Rose Bowl yesterday afternoon. Eight of the All-Americans were in uniform, and their numbers were supplemented by several local stars. "Brick" Muller and Aubrey Devine were not able to attend the practice but they will be on hand for the game. Conn expressed himself as being satisfied with the workout and expects to turn out a real team.

Hoge Workman, quarterback of Ohio State and all-American player, joined the squad today. He did his best work a year after appearing in the Ohio State line-up against California, three years ago. He is coach at Redlands and is a "Red" Grange type of player. He is in excellent shape and it is said he always makes a gain once he has the ball in his possession.

Regulars in yesterday's practice were "Norm" Anderson, tackle (U.S.C.;) Bill Blewett, halfback (California;) "Hoggey" Evans, quarterback (California;) "Jumble" Pierce, guard, (Big Ten Conference;) Archy Nesbit, fullback (California;) Paul Minnick, guard (Iowa;) Stew Beam, tackle (California;) "Babe" Horrell, center (California.)

Besides Workman other players joining the squad were Schwill of Mississippi, an Olympic Club player of last year, fullback; Bob Schlauderman, Stanford quarterback, 1922; "Stew" Seymour, tackle, coach at Caltech; Hallock Harder, end, former naval player; Gene Miller of Chicago, guard.

"Brick" Muller (California;) Aubrey Devine (Iowa;) Dewey Lyle, all-Minnesota end, are other regulars of the Legion team which, if it wins from the U.S.S. Melville on Armistice Day, will tackle the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

JOE STECHER DUE TODAY

Jim Londos Will Grapple Wrestling Champion in Olympic Auditorium; Expect Big Crowd

Lou Daro is anticipating a big rush on his box office this morning when the sale opens for the world's championship combat he has booked for next Monday night between Joe Stecher, world's heavyweight champion, and Jim Londos, "The Giant Killer."

JOE STECHER

Interest in the match has reached a high pitch since Londos made his impressive win over Renato Gardini three weeks ago and his friends made the greatest demonstration ever recorded a grappler on the Pacific Coast. When Daro announced he had signed Stecher to defend his title against the Greek, he was immediately swamped by a flock of reservations that indicate that Londos will be fully as big a drawing card as will the world's champion when they get into the ring Monday night.

Stecher will arrive in Los Angeles this morning and beginning this afternoon will work out each afternoon at the Manhattan gymnasium. The champion is in great shape following a short rest after his tour of the Pacific Northwest and isn't anticipating any difficulty in beating Londos. However, there is a feeling along Spring street that Joe had better not hold his Greek opponent too cheaply because Londos has been for several years a tough man for big fellows to handle and has killed off the hopes of many a big man during his mat career. It is this feature of his work that has won him the sobriquet of "the giant killer" and many competent critics are giving him much more thas an outside chance to "take" Stecher in this match.

HUDKINS, O'DONNELL MIX

Ace Forced Into Ring With Ancient Foe by Order of State Boxing Board Commissioner

The long-looked for Ace Hudkins-Johnny O'Donnell fight is at last about to materialize. It is signed, booked and advertised to be the feature attraction at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium Friday night.

Hudkins didn't want to fight O'Donnell before he fights Mushy Callahan. He tried his best to duck the bout, but Mike Collins took a hand in the case and asked Commissioner Louis Almgren for a ruling. Commissioner Almgren notified the Legion, Hudkins boys and Mike Collins, O'Donnell's manager, that Ace Hudkins would have to fight Johnny O'Donnell before he could meet Callahan. That is the reason Hudkins has decided to fight Johnny this week.

It is a very tough bout for Ace Hudkins, the O'Donnell fight. To the average fight fan it might look as though Hudkins was just getting a workout before he faces Mushy, but that impression is a false one.

O'Donnell is in great condition. He has been working for this show as though the championship of the world were at stake. He knows all the tricks of the game, and being in fine physical condition, Hollywood fight fans have a rare treat in store for them.

Chris Hansen knocked Sailor Mosier so dippy when he showed at Hollywood a week ago, that he has been moved up to a semi-wind-up. Norman Wilson, a boy from the Northwest fights Hansen. Here is a whale of a fight.

Johnny Godinez and Alki Akol fight a rematch in the special event. Fight fans remember this bout. Perpetual motion Akol, is one of the freaks of the ring. This bout may steal the show.

Jack Murphy and Pat Freeman, two one-ton heavyweights, fight for crackers and cheese in the second spot. Sailor Carter starts the evening's festivities with Harry McGrath.

The card is a great array of talent for the regular Hollywood prices.

MORAN READY FOR MUSHY

Pal Says He'll Fight Callahan Whether He Weighs 140 Pounds or 150; Pair Meet Tomorrow

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams of the Vernon club has been sick in bed for several days. But this didn't hinder Pal Moran from calling said matchmaker on the phone to discuss the matter of weights. Moran boxes Mushy Callahan at Vernon tomorrow night.

MUSHY CALLAHAN

He is a stickler for keeping an agreement. If he makes an appointment for two bells, it is two bells to the second. If the other end of the party is a couple of seconds off either way, Moran won't be there. He is there like a dot—and gone when he has fulfilled his part of the party.

Here was the hitch in Moran's mind.

He signed to box Callahan at exactly 140 pounds — not 139 nor 141. In the gymnasium Pal heard Eddie Sears, manager of Callahan, remark that Mushy wouldn't do weight for anybody.

"I'll fight Callahan if he weighs 150," Moran told Wadhams on the phone. "But why did we sign for 140 if Mushy didn't intend to make it?"

Wadhams got hold of Sears and learned that 140 is Mushy's natural weight just now. "He'll be that Tuesday night," Sears assured Moran. "But if it wasn't a natural weight for him we'd weigh in at something else. You better eat a good meal before you come to the arena regardless of what you weigh for tomorrow is Mushy's twentieth birthday. And naturally we expect a little celebration."

GRANGE STARTS ON PREP SQUAD

"Red" Makes First Touchdown in Second Year

Develops Talent for Making Lengthy Runs

Gets Speed from Basketball and Track Work

BY JAMES BRADEN,
Former Yale and All-American Fullback

RED'S FIRST TOUCHDOWN RUNS

The first sign of approaching success in football appeared for Red Grange during his second year on the high-school team at Wheaton.

RED GRANGE

He had struggled all summer long on an ice wagon and the heavy outdoor work had hardened a growing youth into a sound young gladiator, who seemed admirably equopped for the shock of the gridiron. He took to the game with zest and abandon. Soon his opponents began to speak to him as "that big red-headed fellow of Wheaton."

It was during his high-school sophomore year that Grange's touchdown runs were first made. The initial one came about by accident.

GRANGE SHIFTED

"Our team that year was pretty much of a chance affair without a great deal of coaching," said Grange. "I had been shifted to the backfield from end, and was trying to run with the ball. In one of the early games I tried an end run and everything piled up in front of me. I ran around it and streaked for the sideline. About five yards from it I started down the field. To my surprise, I got away and made a touchdown."

Red thought about that run for a week and how easily it had been accomplished. He made a mental picture of the fast swerve that had taken him around the piled-up players and then had enabled him to make for the sidelines.

The next game he tried the same thing several times and improved upon his new discovery by keeping his head up and looking for those who might be dangerous. By the end of the season he had developed to a high degree that which is known in football as "superiority over the defense."

"Of course I could not have got away without interference at the start of a run," Red said of his experiences, "and my team did its best to get me started. I've always had good eyes and I think that they, as much as my speed, helped me, for I was quick to see what the opposing player was about to do. I depended upon the straight arm a great deal if close quarters were encountered.

"In basketball I had been playing center and forward, and the dribble through opponents was a good bit like running through a broken field. There was more space to get loose on the football field and there was no ball to be bounced. In track I was trying to be a sprinter and a jumper. The speed and spring developed in these events helped me a lot in football. Work on the ice wagon made my arms and hands much stronger than they would have been otherwise. This came in handy in straight-arming and warding off tacklers."

PLAYS BASKETBALL

Grange continued his playing of basketball that winter and in the spring he was on the track team. He became especially proficient in several track events. At a community meet Red was entered in seven events. He worked like a beaver and won a cup for high point man of the meet.

His sophomore year in high school was an important period to Red Grange, for he made some lasting friends and came under the helpful influence of Mrs. Charles Dollinger, mother of a high-school chum. She aided the motherless boy all she could. The Dollinger home was the hospital for tte high-school gridiron players and a general rendezvous.

Grange went back on the ice wagon that summer and was having a fine time of it. There was one bad interruption. He fell under his truck one day when it was loaded with about two tons of ice and a wheel ran over his leg, just above the knee. That kept him in bed for a month.

BONILLAS IN SCRAP WITH SARMIENTO

Fast-Coming Bantam Gets Shot at Eastern Fighter Wednesday Night

Billy Bonillas, Southern California's best bantamweight, gets the chance of his young life when he crawls through the hemp to go ten rounds with Pete Sarmiento at the Olympic Auditorium Wednesday night.

A match with the seasoned Sarmiento is a big assignment for a youngster, but the Taft Typhoon has come to the front with such a rush that he had to be given this opportunity to break into the championship pugilistic flight.

Many smart boxing men consider Sarmiento the best bantamweight in the business. Not a few believe that all either "Pinwheel Pete" or Bud Taylor needs in order to be crowned champion is a title go with Charley (Phil) Rosenberg. For this reason, a victory for Bonillas will place him in the front row of bantams.

Matchmaker Joe Levy has arranged a splendid card for Wednesday night.

Ralph Smith, the former Los Angeles Athletic Club heavyweight, goes agains Young Ford, colored conqueror of Vic Alexander. Neal Crisby and Big Mitch, in a six-rounder. Young Papke and Paul De Haute, welterweights, travel the same distance.

Frank Quigley and Joe Guerrero, junior lightweight employees of different branches of a local manufacturing company, are to have it out in a four-round grudge fight. Jimmy Black and Sally Martinez hoist the curtain.

Pacific-Southwest REVIEW

ANYONE who thinks Los Angeles hasn't an industrial future will be amazed by her industrial present as in-licated by the pages of the tenth edition of the Manufacturers' Directory and Commodity Index just published by the Chamber of Commerce.

There are 120 pages, double column, of small type listing commodities that come out of Los Angeles. And diversity! After a cursory examination of the list it is hard to imagine any manufactured thing that you cannot find made right here.

The foreword says "Buyers should consult the concerns listed herein before ordering. You will save time and expense if you 'Buy it in Los Angeles.' " That's the idea!

Add one thought. If you boost the other fellow by buying from him he's there to reach you a helping hand when you need a job. Growing industries mean growing opportunities for workers.

DURING the first half of this year, in fifty-seven leading American cities, more than 00 people died as a result of automobile accidents.

Civilization, that devises means to protect life, also devel- ways to take it. There is more certain thing than the uncertainty of human existence. Tomorrow always wears a veil.

That is why every man should carry adequate life insurance. But that isn't enough. The added measure of protection is the creation of a Life Insurance Trust with a reliable Trust Company. Then, when the insurance money is due, instead of going in a lump sum into inexperienced hands, the Trust Company receives, invests, and reinvests it safely, paying regular income to the heirs.

C. E. Quirollo of the Trust Department, Pacific-Southwest Bank, has interesting information regarding life insurance trusts. Talk with him!

HERE is one man in Hollywood who thinks he is the luckiest man in the world. Also he feels himself considerably wise. The other day he was purchasing a piece of property. Just before the deal was closed it occurred to him that the better part of wisdom would be to "go to escrow," as the saying is.

The escrow department of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank discovered a judgment of $3500 against the seller. Now the Hollywood man is wondering just how much difficulty he missed by his thought in time.

A word about escrow. Its purpose is to protect buyer and seller impartially in property exchanges. At the same time, it relieves them of all details and brings the deal to a close quickly, safely and satisfactorily. For such work the modern bank has a corps of experienced people. These people are specialists, impartial, disinterested, but meticulously accurate in carrying out escrow instructions.

FROM New York comes word that the Pennsylvania coal strike, now in its eighth week, has thrown the city's poor into a state of panic with winter something icily just around the corner.

Strikes, and other emergencies that cut off employment of workers and necessities for those in need, are heart-breakingly hard for those who are not prepared to weather the storm. It is then that the little money put aside in more plentiful times is "worth its weight in gold" and then some. That's the worth of a savings account with your bank.

Pacific-Southwest REVIEW

ANYONE who thinks Los Angeles hasn't an industrial future will be amazed [illegible] her industrial present as [illegible] by the pages of the tenth [illegible] of the Manufacturers' [illegible] and Commodity Index [illegible] published by the Chamber of Commerce.

There are 130 pages, double [illegible], of small type listing [illegible] that come out of Los Angeles. And diversity! After a cursory examination of the list it is hard to imagine any manufactured thing that you cannot find made right here.

The foreword says "Buyers should consult the concerns listed herein before ordering. You will save time and expense if you 'Buy it in Los Angeles.'" That's the idea!

Add one thought. If you boost the other fellow by buying from him he's there to reach you a helping hand when you need a [illegible]. Growing industries mean growing opportunities for workers.

DURING the first half of this year, in fifty-seven leading American cities, more than [illegible] people died as a result of automobile accidents.

[illegible], that devises means to protect life, also develops [illegible] to take it. There is no more certain thing than the uncertainty of human existence. [illegible] always wears a veil. That is why every man should carry adequate life insurance. But that isn't enough. The added measure of protection is the creation of a Life Insurance Trust with a reliable Trust Company. Then, when the insurance money is due, instead of going in a lump sum into inexperienced hands, the Trust Company receives, invests, and reinvests it [illegible], paying regular income to the heirs.

C. E. Quirolo of the Trust Department, Pacific-Southwest Bank, has interesting information regarding life insurance [illegible]. Talk with him!

THERE is one man in Hollywood who thinks he is the luckiest man in the world. Also he feels himself considerably wise. The other day he was purchasing a piece of property. Just before the deal was closed it occurred to him that the better part of wisdom would be to "go to escrow," as the saying is.

The escrow department of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank discovered a judgment of $1500 against the seller. Now the Hollywood man is wondering just how much difficulty he missed by his thought in time.

A word about escrow. Its [illegible] purpose is to protect buyer and seller impartially in property exchanges. At the same time, it relieves them of all details and brings the deal to a close quickly, safely and satisfactorily. For such work the modern bank has a corps of experienced people. These people are [illegible], impartial, disinterested, but meticulously accurate in carrying out escrow instructions.

FROM New York comes word that the Pennsylvania coal [illegible], now in its eighth [illegible], has thrown the city's poor into a state of panic with winter [illegible] just around the [illegible].

[illegible], and other emergencies, that cut off employment [illegible] and necessities for those in need, are heart-breaking hard for those who are not [illegible] to weather the storm. [illegible] then that the little money [illegible] in more plentiful [illegible] is "worth its weight in [illegible]" and then some. That's the [illegible] of a savings account with your bank.

[illegible] invited to invest in highly speculative enterprises "guaranteed" to [illegible] sudden riches it is well [illegible] the words of the [illegible] who was invited on [illegible] ride.

"[illegible]!" he said, "terra [illegible] good enough for me. [illegible] the less terra."

ITEMS OF TAX BILL FORECAST

House Favors Cut in Surtax and Income Rates

Auto Assessment Expected to be Retained

Inheritance Revenue Repeal Held Improbable

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Sentiment as developed among members of the House Ways and Means Committee during hearings of the past two weeks makes probable the approval by its Republican majority of the following as features of the new tax bill:

A reduction in the maximum surtax rate from 40 to 20 per cent,

A reduction in normal rates on individual incomes from 2, 4 and 6 per cent to rates ranging from 1 to 5 per cent.

Reduction of the maximum estate tax rate from 40 to 20 per cent with a provision by which a greater credit is given for amounts paid under State inheritance laws.

A measure of relief to corporations through the repeal of the capital stock tax, but without any compensating increase in the flat tax of 12 1-2 per cent on corporation earnings as proposed by some groups.

MAY LIFT TIRE TAX

Repeal of the tax on automobile trucks and tires and automobile accessories, but with the tax on automobiles retained.

Repeal of a number of other miscellaneous taxes which are regarded as of the nuisance variety and which do not yield enough revenue to justify their collection.

Repeal of the gift tax.

Repeal of the publicity provision of the present law.

Provisions for strengthening the tax board by providing larger salaries and long terms for a permanent membership of about sixteen.

The Ways and Means Committee will conclude its hearings Tuesday and on Wednesay will commence the consideration of the bill in executive session. Its purpose is to have the completed bill ready to report to the House when Congress convenes in December. Democratic members of the committee are to be allowed to sit with the Republican members in the executive sessions, the administration forces having a sufficient majority this time to make it unnecessary to eject the Democrats while perfecting the bill as they did during the framing of the 1924 act. Republican leaders talk of the possibility of framing a nonpartisan measure which can be reported unanimously from the Ways and Means Committee, but the Democrats scout such a possibility and plan to file a minority report.

LOSS TO DECREASE

The program as it is tentatively taking shape in the minds of Republican members of the committee contemplates an aggregate tax reduction of from $300,000,000 to $350,000,000.

The proposed reductions in surtax and normal tax rates will mean a loss of about $140,000,000 the first year, but only $100,000,000 thereafter.

The reduction in estate taxes together with an increase from the present credit for State inheritance taxes which is limited to 25 per cent of the Federal tax will mean no loss at all the first year and probably not to exceed $25,000,000 thereafter. The prospective increase in surtax revenue the second year of the operation of lower rates is expected to more than make up for the second year's loss from the estate tax changes. The committee therefore probably will not include any loss under the estate tax in its computations.

Notwithstanding the recommendation of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for the repeal of the estate tax either immediately or at the end of one year there is a strong probability that the Republican members of the committee will advise the administration that it must be content at this time to obtain a reduction in rates. It has been made apparent at the hearings that opposition to repeal of the tax until uniformity of State inheritance laws is obtained is so strong as to make its repeal at this time virtually impossible.

Douglas Plane in Long Flight to San Antonio

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Nov. 1.—A Douglas transport, carrying a pilot and four passengers arrived at Kelly Field, making a 750-mile flight in six hours and ten minutes actual flying time from Fort Riley, Kan.

The transport was flown in the Pulitzer races by Lieut. R. B. Wolfe of Brooks Field, taking third place in the trophy race. Lieut. L. C. Carr of Kelly Field, piloted the plane westward on its trip here, where it will be stationed as a part of the model airways equipment.

A sister ship of the transport, which was forced down at Fort Clark early in the month while on a cross-country flight to Mitchel Field, is now at Duncan Field for repairs. As soon as it is ready it will be sent to Kelly Field and will also be used on the airways.

PRISON POPULATION LARGE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The population of the seven prisons in New York State is greater today than at any other time in the history of the State. This was revealed by James L. Long, State Superintendent of Prisons, while inspecting Sing Sing Prison. More than 6500 prisoners occupy the seven State institutions. Of these about 5000 are in Sing Sing, Great Meadows, Auburn and Clinton. The remaining 1500 are in Matteawan State Asylum for Criminal Insane, Dannemora State Hospital and Auburn Prison for Women.

Open House For You
at our New Hill Street Store

WE'RE INVITING YOU—everyone in Los Angeles—to come on Monday to the formal opening of our new store, at 635 South Hill—near Seventh. We shall keep "Open House" from ten in the morning until ten at night, with music and entertainment. We want you to be our guests, so that we may have the privilege of showing you the new store, where we hope to serve you often in the future. On Monday there will be no selling—and on Tuesday morning, we shall start our first business day in our new location.

SIXTY-NINE YEARS AGO—IN 1856—our first little store was started, 'way down by the Plaza. We have moved seven times since those pioneer days, growing as Los Angeles grew, enlarging, each year becoming more firmly established. Because we have always held to the highest standards of service and quality, because we have kept faith with our public, because this has always been a friendly store—we have earned your confidence, making possible this wonderful new building. # ATTACHES WILL HOLD FRONTIER

League Mission's Arrival in Balkans Awaited

Responsibility and Damages to be Assessed

Greek Minister Denies Any Aggressive Motives

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ATHENS, Nov. 1.—The commission of military attaches has been ordered to remain on the Greco-Bulgarian frontiers to prevent a further outbreak of hostilities pending the arrival of the League of Nations commission which will meet at Geneva on the 6th inst. The commission is expected here on the 10th inst., when an inquiry will be made to fix the responsibility, if possible, and a decision reached as to the extent of the damages.

Admiral Hadjikyriacos, acting Minister of Foreign Affairs, contends that the damages by the Greek occupation were negligible, as the soldiers had carried out their orders not to enter the villages. He admitted, however, that several cannon shots were fired into the depot of the narrow-guage railroad where comitadjis and regular Bulgarian soldiers were detraining.

The admiral fervently denied that Greece at the present time, has any aggressive ambitions.

"We are not prepared for any military adventures of any kind at the present time," he declared. "We need all our efforts for the re-establishment of the economic life of the country."

He sees in a Balkan pact with Jugo-Slavia, Bulgaria and Romania under the supervision of the League of Nations, the best guarantee for peace in the Balkans.

"It would be preferable for Turkey to be a signatory too, but that is not necessary since it is a member of the League," the admiral remarked. "The pact must consider the situation of the minorities, which are the main disturbing element in the Balkans. The exchange of population is partially successful in solving the problem. Even between Greece and Macedonia there is practically no minority question. Of 2,500,000 population, 47,000 are Jews, 73,000 inhabitants of Slavic blood, the remainder being Greeks."

Union Pacific Changes Time

statement from the Interior rtment said:

each case adjustments pro- for the transfer of areas the national forests to the parks and elimination the parks to the forests, which will not affect materially grazing areas now available for stock raising. The agreements for new boundaries were suggested during the past summer.

"The adjustments in the Grand Canyon National Park call for an addition of about 45,000 acres by elimination from the Kaibab National Forest north of the Colorado River, with a net addition to the park on the south side of about 2000 acres. This area was studied on the ground by the commission, which found the local people utilizing the Kaibab Forest for grazing thoroughly in accord with the plan on the north side. The addition will make possible the carrying out of the road program of the National Park Service by new road building to the most scenic points along the north canyon rim, at the same time give a reasonable sanctuary for the deer and other game in the north portion of the park. The adjustments on the south side are relatively small, the most important of these being a small addition at the southeast corner to allow of some road development to Desert View and other scenic points on the south rim of the canyon.

MT. WHITNEY ADDED

"In the case of the Sequoia National Park in California its proposed enlargement included the addition of the national forest land lying west of the park and up the crest of the Sierra Nevada Mountains. The area has long been recognized as containing some of the most rugged and scenic country in the United States. It includes Mt. Whitney, the highest mountain in the United States proper. Adjustment of the boundaries of this park were made between officials o fthe National Park Service and the Forest Service and the commission accepted the agreement.

"Changes in the boundaries of the national parks and forests must be approved by Congress before they become effective. The special commission has already filed its report with the President's committee, and after consideration by this committee will be submitted to Congress at its coming session."

No One Wants Public Posts in Midway, Ky. and Incumbents Refuse to Stand for Re-Election

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VERSAILLES (Ky.) Nov. 1.—There are probably a thousand candidates for the various offices to be voted for over the State at the election this month but that awakens no thrill among the souls who inhabit Midway, a town of 1500 population, in this county.

There is not an aspirant—candidate, nominee or even one person with his political lightning rod elevated—who would have any of the offices required to keep the government machine ticking in Midway. If the town is to have officials next year, Gov. W. J. Fields will have to appoint them.

R. C. Richardson, who has been Mayor of Midway for eight years, declined to stand for re-election. One or two other men were appealed to as possible candidates but they sidestepped. None of the present members of the Town Council were willing to be candidates for their posts again. One, L. F. Sutherland, is moving away. The others, W. C. Morris, Vernon Sutton, John T. Gattrell and R. W. Lacefield, seem glad for the time to come for them to let go the reins of lawmaking. There is a vacancy in the board created by the recent death of George H. Wise, but no one even wants that place.

Judge Richard Godson, who for fourteen years, out of a spirit of public duty, has been police judge of Midway, decided to not make an effort for re-election. At Midway the police judge receives only statutory fees. Judge Godson's pay for 1925 amounts to $14 or about $1.40 a month. From January 1 to August 1 not even one warrant was issued by him. Since August 1 there have been five petty cases in the Midway court for infractions of city ordinances.

The terms of the present Midway officials expire December 31, next.

The situation is without precedent in Kentucky, whose citizens mostly at some time or other hearken to the buzz of the political bee.

MONEY LOSS HALTS PLAN TO END LIFE

Woman Forgets About Shooting Self, Following Theft and Recovery

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BRIDGEPORT (Ct.) Nov. 1.—A woman who said she was Anna Davis, 50 years of age, of Brooklyn, came here to commit suicide. Deciding that the harbor water was too cold and muddy, hanging an unpleasant way to die and caustic poison too painful, she finally determined that shooting herself was the easiest way.

Charles Davis happened along. He asked a street direction. Anna's sympathies were aroused by the fact that Charles had but one eye.

She told him of her suicide plan, but she said she hadn't yet bought the gun.

"They won't sell you a weapon; you're a woman," said Davis. "Give me your money and I'll buy the revolver for you."

Anna gave him her last $12.50. He started to run. Anna screamed. Recruiting men who were near by darted after Davis, capturing him and handed him over to police. Anna was so pleased at getting her money back that she refused to press charges against Davis. In the excitement she forgot her suicide plan and took the train back to New York.

CITY OF LOS ANGELES
WATER & POWER

The 5 Way Project

A HIGH DAM at Boulder Canyon will provide the Southwest with five distinct benefits—protection for the Imperial Valley against flood menace—elimination of the dangerous Colorado River silt condition—furnish a tremendous amount of water for irrigating—provide cheap, reliable power for Southern California—supply additional domestic water. Nothing less than a high dam will do this.

Los Angeles needs Boulder Dam immediately. The most important local factor regarding power supply for Los Angeles from this project is the fact that it will not add to this City one penny in taxes. The Bureau of Power and Light is operated with such marked efficiency and economy that the revenues, at present low rates, will not only easily repay the Federal government for power rights, but the use of this energy will create a greater earning power for your utility and immeasurably increase community wealth.

Los Angeles citizens must know what will happen if Boulder Dam power is not provided for use in the city. Our present sources of power are either too limited or too expensive. It is inconceivable that Los Angeles should not go to Boulder Canyon for Power, when it costs nothing in taxes, does not increase electric bills, and yet meets such an urgent demand.

EMPIRE STATE ISSUE WATCHED

Votes Tomorrow on Basis Law Amendments

Four Important Measures Up for Decision

Blanket Financing Plan One of Features

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Of greater economic importance to the citizens of this State and of political import almost equal to that of the election of a Mayor of New York City, will be the verdict tomorrow of the people of the Commonwealth on four proposed amendments to State legislation.

Interest in the fate of the propositions extends beyond the confines of New York State, for it is only a question of time when Illinois, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and other populous States will face the problems of abolishing railway grade crossings, financing extensive new public improvements, shortening the ballot and reforming the judiciary system which the Empire State government is preparing to solve in a manner requiring changes in the organic act.

BLANKET BOND ISSUE

Under amendment one the Legislature would be empowered in each of the Legislatures following its adoption, to authorize without further submission to the people, the issuance of bonds, not to exceed $10,000,000 in any year, to provide funds for the acquisition of real estate and for the construction of buildings and for works and improvements of a permanent character. The proposal, if carried, would automatically suspend for the next ten years the legislative provision requiring all proposals for pledging the State's credit to be for some single work or object, the proposal to become effective only upon approval by the voters at a referendum.

Amendment two would prepare the way for the creation by the Legislature without further submission to the people of a debt or debts not to exceed in the aggregate $300,000,000, the proceeds to be used for the elimination under State supervision of approximately 4000 dangerous railroad crossings throughout the State. The amendment provides that the State must bear 25 per cent of the costs, localities where grade crossings are relieved 25 per cent and the railroads affected 50 per cent.

Amendment No. 3 which, as Gov. Smith views it, surpasses in interest and importance the two bond issue amendments, reduces the number of elective State officials by eliminating the State Secretary, the State Treasurer and State Engineer, continuing in the elective class only the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, State Controller and Attorney-General. The amendment would also establish twenty civil departments of the State government into which all the administrative activities of the State must be fitted and with a proviso that, while the number of departments may be reduced through construction or abolition of some, the number may never be increased.

In Amendment No. 4, the features which have compelled most attention are the clause eliminating from the legislation the provision made for the salary of Supreme Judges and vesting power in the Legislature to regulate Judicial salaries and the provisions for partial reorganization of courts of inferior jurisdiction in this city.

Greatest H.-P. Industrial Motor

The 9000-H.-P. General Electric synchronous motor, to be installed by the McKinney Steel Company at its River Furnace Plant at Cleveland, will have the highest continuous H.-P. rating of any industrial motor in the world.

PEACE CRUISES IMPORTANT

Navy Has Done Valuable Service by Impressing World With Power of America

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The peace-time cruises of the United States Navy always have been propitious to the fortunes of America. The Navy has been, as it were, a publicity agent which, bearing with it manifestations of America's greatness and strength, has acquainted the world with the doings and growth of the startling young republic.

Indeed, it was the Navy which first displayed the fact that the United States was a nation and meant business. The Barbary States first felt the wrath of the United States and the world was given to understand that the American Revolution was not a flash in the pan. The War of 1812 heightened this understanding, but then there was a lapse in activity and the two hemispheres went their respective ways, little of note transpiring between them.

Then, in 1854, the United States, through her Navy, dabbled in internationalism again and sent Perry to the Orient on a peace-time cruise. The results of that cruise are yet in evidence. He opened the Orient. He brought Japan from obscurity to prominence. He started the island kingdom toward world power, and American influence preponderated in the rise. He opened the gates for American capital and the world is still talking about it.

The next great cruise to be made in peace time was that by Admiral Sperry in 1908. This cruise, a 'round-the-world one, is famous as Roosevelt's Big Stick. It might be said that this cruise was a complement to that of Perry's for it was of great significance.

The situation in the Pacific was not of great comfort. The outlook, in fact, was ominous. Anything might have happened then. The United States was not firmly established in the Pacific and Japan had reasons for wishing that she would never be. The growth of an American system of strategy was odious to Tokio and there was ill-concealed feeling against it. Likewise there was the immigration question.

So out went the American fleet. It cruised about and visited Japan. There were salutations and compliments and ceremonies and welcomes and celebrations and speeches and every show of good feeling imaginable and the American fleet sailed away. The Root-Takahira agreement, the well-known gentlemen's agreement, emerged and the ominous ebullience in the Pacific subsided. The Navy had cooled things off.

And now in 1925 the American fleet again makes a peace-time cruise. What its diplomatic effect, if any, will be is, of course, conjectural, but there are many interesting things embodied in the report of Admiral R. E. Coontz, commanding officer on the cruise. These have to do with the ability of the fleet away from home bases and the needs developed by the trip to Australian waters.

Admiral Coontz declares in his report to the Navy Department that the fleet, on its return, was in the same logistic condition as when it departed five and one-half months ago, and that it could repeat the cruise on twenty-four hours' notice. He further declares that, due to the comparatively low cost of the cruise—$515,000—a similar one can be made every third year and recommends that this be done, as the benefits, naval, national, and international, are immeasurable.

The outstanding accomplishment of the cruise was the demonstration that the fleet, in time of necessity, could strike quickly and operate for a period of four months, at least, virtually independent of its home bases. The Admiral construes the cruise as a striking illustration of "self-sustained mobility and great radius of action of the United States Fleet."

Italians Like the Argentine

Nearly 2,000,000 of the Argentine's 9,000,000 inhabitants are of Italian birth, the South American country being their favorite goal when they emigrate.

Why do men believe the Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes prices standard

IF you have not seen the Hart Schaffner & Marx suits and overcoats selling for $33, $35, $40, $45, $50, $55, $60 and to $90—go look at them.

You will "get" a new angle on values. You will see the smartest, the finest made clothing at these prices Hart Schaffner & Marx have ever made.

There is a definite reason for Hart Schaffner & Marx clothing values being the "standard," the gold standard, of the clothing industry.

This store features these fine clothes because the place to trust the prices, the values, is where you can trust the make of clothes. The average man is shrewder than many merchants realize on that point.

The greatest single force toward settled value conditions is the Hart Schaffner & Marx stand for 100% values at today's prices. The Hart Schaffner & Marx suit or overcoat for $45 has the value that a $55 suit or overcoat had a year ago.

That's "hard to beat" for the man who's been holding off until values stabilized. . .

That's for the man who has been hoping for assurance of money's worth along with fair pricing. . .

To the man who knows the house of Hart Schaffner & Marx, and this store, and what we stand for. . .

To the man who knows it means experience, integrity, resources. . .

To the man who has yet to learn these advantages. . .

Aged Man Holds Jail Better Than Paying Alimony

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—"Send me to the electric chair. I cannot pay any alimony to this woman," dramatically declaimed an octogenarian before Brooklyn Supreme Court Justice MacCrate. "Kill me now if you want to. I never married her and I'll never give her a cent."

He is Henry Weiss, white haired and white bearded. Mrs. Lena Weiss of Brooklyn had asked for alimony and counsel fees pending trial of her suit for separation. Some time ago another woman who said she was Mrs. Fanny Weiss, asserted she was the wife of the aged man, but in annulment proceedings neither she nor Weiss appeared and Justice MacCrate dismissed the action.

"I direct you to pay $75 counsel fees and $5 a week alimony," Justice MacCrate ordered in the latest action.

"No!" thundered the defendant. "Send me to jail."

Weiss left the courtroom still declaring he "would sooner have the chair."

Beach District Pioneer's Burial Set Tomorrow

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Nov. 1.—Funeral services for George B. Charnock, Bay District pioneer who died at his home near Culver City today, will be conducted at Evergreen Temple, Los Angeles, tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Charnock, who was a native of England, came to Canada when he was 7 years of age, and to California in 1880, at the age of 17. He once was the owner of large land holdings in the vicinity of Palms and Venice, and Charnock Grove was named for him. He took a prominent part in civic affairs in the Bay District.

Mr. Charnock leaves two sons, Nathan S. Charnock of San Jose and George B. Charnock, Jr., of Palms, and eight grandchildren.

CALLS DRY LAW IMPOTENT

Church Federation Worker Declares Prohibition Never Has Been in Force or Effect

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Prohibition enforcement was given another airing today by Dr. F. Ernest Johnson, research secretary for the Federated Council of Churches of North America, official national organization of Protestant churches. He declared the "inescapable conclusion" is that "ultimately the schools and churches must take the responsibility of destroying alcoholism; legislation alone never can accomplish it."

Dr. Johnson recently made a report of a survey of prohibition, in which the facts as he saw them were made public with the conclusion that it was not entirely successful. He made his statements today in discussing this report before the Chicago Forum.

He said that "we don't know whether it has succeeded or failed; no man knows, and some of the effects of prohibitory legislation are too fine drawn for charting."

But he said flatly that it has never been enforced, that it has never even been in effect, revealing his opinion on that point, based on his survey when he was discussing whether it had failed.

"If prohibition is to be fully successful the American people must cure themselves of the will to violate the prohibition laws. Laws do not become effective because they are enforced but because they are observed. The Volstead law will become effective when the vast majority wants it effective."

He said he wants all employees in the prohibition department put under civil service. He said he does not want attempted prohibition abandoned and that it is not yet time to talk of modification such as the allowance of light wines and beer.

"To abandon this great social undertaking," he continued, "because serious difficulties have arisen, would be to waste five years of effort in one of the most important social movements in our history."

"What do they mean by raining cats and dogs?"

"That's what you call beastly weather."—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

MITCHELL TRIAL RESUMES TODAY

Witnesses Are Examined by Both Sides

Texas Newspaper Men to be First in Stand

Subpoena for Coolidge Not Decided on

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Opposing counsel tonight had taken full advantage of the week-end recess to work out their prosecution and defense plans and were ready for resumption tomorrow of the legal struggle before the court of generals in the case of Col. William Mitchell, Army Air Service, critic of the War and Navy departments.

The prosecution officers, headed by Col. Sherman Moreland, had concluded preliminary examinations of several witnesses summoned by them to appear against Col. Mitchell to support the charges of conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline. These included three Texas newspaper men who disseminated the statements of the defendant made public in San Antonio charging the two executive departments with incompetency, criminal negligence and almost treasonable administration of aviation affairs, which gave rise to the court-martial proceedings.

Col. Moreland also had been able, as a result of the court's recess, to work out the statement he will make before the court, probably at tomorrow's sessions, which will forecast briefly the points on which he will seek conviction of the accused officer.

So far as the defense's preparations were concerned, Representative Frank R. Reid of Illinois, civilian counsel for Col. Mitchell, said he was "thoroughly prepared." He, too, had made preliminary examinations of the newspaper writers from Texas. As regards the future court strategems that Col. Mitchell and his counsel will employ, Mr. Reid had little to say.

The defense attorney still was undecided whether he would yield to advisers who have urged him to seek a subpoena for President Coolidge, or ask a deposition by him which would disclose the name of the official who ordered the arrest of Col. Mitchell. Mr. Reid is aware that such a plea would be certain to be rejected by Col. Moreland or the court, in whose power such affairs as the calling of witnesses are placed under the court-martial manual regulations.

NEW CULT ADVOCATE OF CRUELTY

One of Objects Abolition of Married Life, Says Wife in Court Plea

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 1—Chicago, the home of numerous weird cults and assemblies of plain "nuts" banded together by some asserted religious observances or theory, has discovered a new one. The latest cult, it is declared, specializes in cruelty. It carries the title of Biblists, a sect charged with having for one of its objects the abolition of married life.

Mrs. Katherine Rawot, 34 years of age, mother of three small children, seeking the protection of the court from her husband, exposed the workings of the cult, of which he appears to be an ardent member. Up to four years ago, when he joined the sect, she said their married life was happy.

Every Sunday thereafter, she charges, he would come home from religious meetings and beat her severely. He told her his religion required him to lose his love for his wife and her love for him. Thereupon, if he could find a place that was not black and blue, he would beat her again. Recently his beatings and other cruelties have become more severe, including constant chokings, and the climax came when he threw her off the porch. Every Sunday had become a day of horror and misery for her and the children, and she applied to the court for protection.

The judge issued an order forbidding Rawot to molest her or the children in any way, and to contribute regularly to their support. Meanwhile, the police are investigating the cult.

Consul Detects Passport Fraud of Hungarians

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BUDAPEST, Nov. 1.—An attempt to smuggle 400 Hungarian farmers into the United States by providing them with counterfeit American passports and forged birth certificates, purporting to identify them as native-born Americans, has been unearthed by the American Consul here.

About 100 already have arrived in America and passed the customs officials, according to documents seized in the fake plant. Thirty-four have been arrested by the Hungarian government on information given by the American Consul, and the names of those who already are in America have been sent to Washington.

POLICEMAN'S VICTIM STILL UNIDENTIFIED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MUSKEGON (Mich.) Nov. 1.—Identification of a man killed last night by Detective Hammond after he had been fatally wounded, still was lacking today. Police announced, however, they were convinced he was not Martin Durkin, notorious Chicago gunman. The victim of the detective's bullet was slain when he resisted arrest for having passed a counterfeit $10 bill. He carried $76 in genuine currency and $2200 in counterfeit $20 bills.

MYSTERY OF SLEEP UNDER SCIENCE EYE

Research Work Expected to Determine Conditions Making Better Slumbers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—Scientists at the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research are engaged in an exhaustive study of sleep, one of nature's deepest mysteries. The work is in charge of Dr. H. M. Johnson, psychologist and physiologist of national repute, formerly of Ohio State University. Twelve students from the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology have offered themselves as "subjects."

Absence of definite knowledge of what sleep is, what conditions improve it, how it can be measured, how much of it is required for the most beneficial results and what bedding paraphernalia is best fitted to produce sleep, are conditions under observation.

Special apparatus, laboratories and testing rooms have been established and the students, who are quartered in a fraternity house, are observed during both sleeping and waking hours.

A fellowship has been arranged, the donor believing that study and research can improve health, efficiency and comfort of the general public through better provisions for rest than now provided.

Experiment and study will cover a period of years.

Italian Aviator Ready for Trip to Buenos Aires

Count Casagrande hopes to proceed eventually to New York, in which case, after changing his motor, sent for that purpose to America, he will continue to Canada and return to Italy by way of Newfoundland and the Azores.

SMOKING PROTESTED

Women Are Shocked by Poetess Who Indulges in Cigarette

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CEDAR RAPIDS (Iowa) Nov. 1. Because a visiting woman celebrity, Mrs. Aline Kilmer, nationally known poet, smoked cigarettes during her visit here last week, buzzing tongues of objectors threaten to carry their remonstrance to Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, president of the Iowa W.C.T.U., to see if she will not issue a statement against women smoking cigarettes, it was revealed today.

Mrs. Kilmer came here to address the co-eds of Coe College, and when a group of them called on her to escort her to the college, Mrs. Kilmer, according to the girls, asked if any of them smoked.

Being informed that they did not, Mrs. Kilmer retired to her hotel room and enjoyed a fag, thereby delaying her arrival at the college. Mothers of some of the girls heard of the incident and suggested that Mrs. Smith be notified, fearing that her indulgence in cigarettes would have a harmful effect on the morale of the students.

Miss Nicholson, dean of the women, took the opposite view. She said all the girls were shocked by the incident, but she didn't believe they would be harmed.

Names of the artists are as yet unavailable, but it is understood that it will include world-famous stars, including one or two who will sing for the first time in Paris during the American season.

to which the Ringling interests later constructed a spur from the main line.

RAILROAD AGREEMENT

Now arises again a question that a thousand times has been asked in recent years by towns along the main line of the Rock Island in Oklahoma: Will the Santa Fe continue to regard an agreement once had with the Rock Island not to penetrate the territory situated between the Rock Island main line and the Santa Fe main line, so far as those lines occupy routes across Grady, McClain, Stephens, Garvin, Jefferson, Carter and Love counties, further than an approximate half-way point?

Whether such agreement ever was made in writing or with due solemnity is not known here, but it is a fact that when the Rock Island projected a line into that territory out of Chickasha it laid it only to Lindsay, a point about half way to Paul's Valley, and that the Santa Fe met the Rock Island with a branch of its own laid from Paul's Valley.

The purchase by the Santa Fe of the Ringling line again brings a Santa Fe branch terminus to a point nearly midway between the Santa Fe and Rock Island main lines, for the town of Ringling is nearly midway between Ardmore and Waurika.

Rock Island surveys have been made between Waurika and Ringling but no move has been made to construct a road. Also surveys have been made into Ringling by the Santa Fe from Lindsay, the prospective route being a north and south line that would split the territory between the two main lines in the middle.

The construction a short time ago of a branch of the Burlington system into Waurika from Wichita Falls renewed interest among railway companies in the territory between Waurika and Ringling, principally because of connections at Ringling that made short routes into the timber, oil and coal regions of Arkansas and Louisiana and a shorter route to Gulf points in Louisiana and Mississippi. It is believed here that one of the three great systems interested will in a short time fill the Waurika-Ringling gap. Waurika Chamber of Commerce officials have had some assurance that this will be done.

It may be that the late Jake Hamon, who promoted the Ringling road, extravagantly exaggerated the dream of John Ringling, yet the latter, during the prosperous early years of the operation of the road and development of towns along it, is known to have an ambition that his namesake should prove worthy of the best industrial traditions of the Ringling family. So the dream makers told of building roads out of Ringling that would go south into Texas, north into Oklahoma City, west into Waurika and probably the South Plains of Texas, and northeast to Duncan and Lawton and points beyond in New Mexico and probably on the Pacific Coast. The company they formed was called the Oklahoma, New Mexico and Pacific Railway Company.

OFFICE PLANNED

On a principal corner of Ringling's Main street was to be erected a sky-scraping general headquarters building. Great shops, terminal facilities and warehouses were to be erected. Large industries were to be invited there and given valuable concessions. The city was to become one of the most important in Oklahoma.

Dream vestiges began to vanish as the Healdton oil field developed and Jake Hamon became an oil millionaire. Necessity and business called for a rival town to Ringling out in the oil field, and Healdton was established and a line of the Ringling system constructed to it. The war and later the decline of promotions in the oil field robbed the dream of other vestiges. Still later Congress gave the government more authority over railroads and provided for a limitation on construction. Good roads were built into the Ringling-Healdton area from all directions and presently motor busses were robbing the rails of business to such an extent that profits dwindled to inconsiderable figures or disappeared entirely and service was reduced accordingly.

CHINESE SHEIK GETS TWO YEARS IN PRISON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Nov. 1.—The sentence of two years in the penitentiary, given by Magistrate H. C. Shaw in Police Court to Richard Cumyow, dapper young Chinese court interpreter, in connection with the case of Marion Wilson, 18 years of age, white girl, was a surprise and severe jolt to the cake-eater type of oriental who stands around the streets for no good purposes. Magistrate Shaw issued an edict, that the police must investigate these gay young foreigners and see that they go to work.

LAYS THEFT TO POVERTY IN GIRLHOOD

Woman Who Admits Robbing Church Poor Box Trailed Since June

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Because when she was a small girl, only recently arrived from Austria, she was sent with her brother to a school in Connecticut in shabby clothes and with an imperfect knowledge of English, Charlotte Lehman became in later years a church-box thief.

In the steel cubicle in Raymond-street Jail, Brooklyn, she sat and told of her career.

Two weeks ago she was arrested in Milwaukee by Detective James J. Powers, sent there from Brooklyn. Since her disappearance last June, just as she was to go to trial for her last previous theft, the police here have spent more than $400 searching for her, although the charge against her was only the theft of $14. Because, last June, she jumped bail the second time, this time a $500 bond. County Judge McLaughlin has held her in $15,000 bail for trial, an extraordinary bond for such a crime.

The charge against her has been made a felony on the ground that when Detective Powers caught her rifling the poor-box in St. James's Roman Catholic Church, Jay street, Brooklyn, he found two screw drivers in her possession. She is charged with "possession of burglar's tools."

She broke into gusty sobs when questioned, ringing her handkerchief around her plump red fingers. Her short, stout figure shook spasmodically. Her bobbed head drooped.

"I know I have done wrong," she said, "but I don't think it is fair for them to insist that I plead guilty to a felony. I might have done so much worse. A felony means years not months in jail. Besides I never used tools to open poor-boxes. I just turned them upside down and shook the money out."

MAIN OIL PLANS TO START SECOND WELL

The Main Oil Company has a new derrick up for its No. 2, 800 feet southwest of No. 1, six miles southwest of Wasco. As soon as drilling equipment, rotary, is set up, work will begin. No. 1, a gasser, has caused considerable trouble sanding up, but gas from it will be used to drill the No. 2.

MICHIGAN PLANS TO EDUCATE ITS ALUMNI

GRADUATES TO BE ENCOURAGED IN STUDY OF FAVORITE SUBJECTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LANSING (Mich.) Nov. 1.—"I do not intend to allow another person to graduate from the University Michigan," is the startling statement made recently by President Clarence Cook Little at an alumni dinner. Then he proceeded to explain his statement.

"Of course, diplomas will be given to students as they leave the campus as of yore, but the plan is to create what amounts to a University of Alumni. Every year pamphlets wil be sent to the alumni, explaining what the university is doing in research of all kinds, in pushing forward the bounds of human knowledge. The alumnus will be urged to select some subject as a hobby. When he indicates his choice he will be sent regularly material on the subject, by means of which he can keep himself informed on the latest developments.

"The alumni will be expected to pay for the course whatever they think it is worth."

The plan is being hailed as a great innovation in Michigan and is expected to quicken the interest of University of Michigan alumni in their school.

PUMPED WELLS INCREASE FLOW

Improved Methods in Santa Fe Field Profitable

District Production Gains 9000 Barrels Daily

Shallower Sands May Still Augment Returns

Efforts on the part of the major operators to make their wells in the Santa Fe Springs field yield the maximum have resulted in the field showing a gain of approximately 9000 barrels a day, during the last seven months.

This gain has been gradual. Present production is coming from about the same number of wells as before. Eight or nine idle wells lately have been returned to activity, but otherwise the field's status has remained the same since February, save for the production gain.

The increase is ascribed entirely to long-stroke pumps, air lifts and other improvements in methods of pumping wells and coaxing greater yields from flowing projects.

Another remarkable feature about the present Santa Fe Springs situation is that more than two-thirds of the total yield from the district is still coming from the Meyer zone, which is known as the greatest gusher horizon in American oil history. This 5000-foot sand is still responsible for 40,000 barrels a day of the 50,000-barrel daily output. Two hundred and fifty wells give this total.

The two shallower sands, Bell and Foix, are credited with the remaining 10,000 barrels of the field's production. The number of wells in this sand is 115. The surprising fact is that the average from the Bell and Foix zones exceeds that of wells producing from the Meyer sand. The great majority of the Meyer zone wells were sunk to this level at a time when the production from the Bell sand was considered negligible in comparison with the gusher flow to be obtained from the Meyer sand, and the former zone was passed up completely. These wells can all be plugged back to the Bell and Foix sands, it is asserted.

OIL COURSE DRAWS MANY AT COLLEGE

Petroleum Option Taken by 45 Per Cent of Students in Mining Class

About 45 per cent of the students registered in the college of mining at the University of California are following the petroleum option, indicative not only of the dominant importance of petroleum in world industry but of the high standard of excellence of the instructional facilities in classroom and laboratories.

In addition to the prescribed undergraduate curriculum all students are assisted during the summer months in acquiring first-hand knowledge of field conditions in the petroleum districts of California.

Research into the varied problems confronting the industry is being diligently prosecuted at all times and many graduate students are investigating obscure phases, both of the oil pool and oil shale situations. The administration of the college of mining considers these matters of such pressing moment that additional laboratories are being equipped, by special budget appropriation, so that in the near future the University of California will be second to none in its facilities for advanced work in petroleum technology.

It has been demonstrated by field and laboratory studies that present methods of exploiting our petroleum deposits fail to recover more than 25 per cent of the oil present in known pools. Increased efficiency in the production of this vital and rapidly diminishing resource can only be obtained by an exhaustive study of the physical conditions controlling the drainage of oil from the reservoir sands.

SILVER PAYSTREAK HIT

Rich Find Reported in Crosscut of Bunker Hill at Cedar

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—A new vein of rich silver-lead ore has been struck in a crosscut of the Bunker Hill mine at Cedar. Native silver is found in the paystreak of a ledge fully fifteen feet wide, carrying gold, silver and lead. Much of the material will be shipped direct to the smelter.

At Chloride, the Tennessee mine is being rewired for modern electric operation. On the 900 level has been picked up a new ore body and on the 1600-foot level is a large vein of good commercial ore that has not been touched thus far.

PHOENIX PREPARES FOR MINE CONGRESS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Nov. 1.—Preparations have been started for the meeting in Phoenix the 18th and 19th inst., of the American Mining Congress. Secretary James F. Callbreath will be in the city soon to establish headquarters for the session. Reception details are in the hands of W. B. Gohring, secretary of the Arizona chapter of the Congress. Attending members will have a trip over the Apache Trail, including a motor-boat ride up Apache Trail Lake. Thereafter they will be guests of the mining companies at Globe and Miami, where they will inspect some of the largest copper-producing plants of the Southwest.

GIANT GASSERS AT VENTURA

Field Enjoys Active Month; Gravity of Crude Increasing; Gas Output Reaches New Peak

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

With the completion of the Shell Company's Edison No. 3 well yesterday, as a 2900-barrel producer, the Ventura-avenue oil field at Ventura rounded out five new producers for October.

The field is now yielding between 35,000 and 36,000 barrels per day. The gas production of the field is reported to be approximately 110,000,000 cubic feet per day. The two gas companies in the field are able to handle about 80,000,000 cubic feet of this.

The October wells are each yielding between 2000 and 3500 barrels per day. The Lloyd No. 15 of the Associated Oil Company, which was completed a week ago, was reported, on Saturday, to be yielding 3000 barrels of oil, testing 35 deg. gravity, and about 45,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. This gas is all going through a casing-head gasoline plant.

The Floyd No. 9-A, a well completed seven months ago, is still producing 8,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day. In October it yielded 240,000,000 cubic feet of dry gas, worth $24,000, to say nothing of its daily production of 2000 barrels of crude oil and the gasoline extracted from the wet gas. This well is 1000 feet west of the Lloyd No. 15, which was recently completed. Both wells are gigantic gas producers as well as good oil properties.

The Lloyd No. 15 is flowing through three lines, two being one and one-quarter-inch nipples and the other a one and one-eighth inch nipple. Production is coming in under 500 pounds pressure to keep the well under control as a result of its terrific gas output.

Of the new well in the field last month, two were completed by the Associated Oil Company, two by the Shell Company and one by the General Petroleum Corporation. The majority of the field's daily output is being obtained from twenty wells completed within the last year.

Texas District to Boost Output of Quicksilver

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TERLINGUA (Tex.) Nov. 1.—Quicksilver production of the Terlingua district will be increased soon by the placing in operation of a large furnace at the mine of R. A. Waldron. For some time the work of blocking out cinnabar ore in the mine has been in progress.

It is stated that an enormous quantity of rich ore is now ready for the furnace. One of the remarkable features of this new mine is a large cavern which the tunnel penetrated. This cavern is 100 feet long by 75 feet wide and has a height of 75 feet. The walls are of solid cinnabar ore.

The mine and furnace of the Chisos Mining Company, which have been in regular operation for about a quarter-century, are maintaining their usual production record. This company has produced a total of more than 100,000 flasks of quicksilver of seventy-five pounds each.

Several other cinnabar mines in this district which were formerly worked may be reopened soon, it is stated.

Leasers of Aztec to Use Shaft of Adjoining Mine

Leasers on the Aztec claim of the Tom Reed Mining Company at Oatman, because of the destruction of the hoisting works by fire, and injury to the shaft, have arranged with Manager W. K. Ridenour of the United American, adjoining, to hoist their ore through the American shaft from the 400-foot level of that property.

To facilitate transportation from mine to the Tom Reed mill, the aerial tramway is being extended to the collar of the American shaft. Pending its completion ore will be hauled by truck to the mill.

There is said to be a large tonnage of ore disclosed in the Aztec, which has been worked up to the American endline, and it is reported it is probable that the ore developed in the American, but opened up at greater depths than is the case in the Aztec, may be handled in practically the same manner, using the tramway for conveyance to the Tom Reed reduction works.

EXHIBIT TO FEATURE

Arizona Fair to Have Large Mine Machinery Display

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Nov. 1.—The Arizona State Fair, starting November 9, is to be notable for its display of mining machinery, to be left in place for the National Mining Congress, which will meet here the following week.

W. J. Graham, manager of the mining exhibit, is receiving support in his preparations from the college of mines of the University of Arizona, which will conduct daily demonstrations during fair week.

SCHOOL EXPENSE LARGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Nov. 1.—This city is spending nearly one-third of the taxpayers' dollar on its public school system, according to figures issued by L. Heuermann, city auditor. With 32.72 per cent being spent for education, the next largest expense is for bonds and interest, this amount being 16.67 per cent.

ABSORPTION PLANT PLAN AT ARTESIA

Trio of Companies Will Join in Manufacture of Casing-Head Gasoline

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ARTESIA (N. M.) Nov. 1.—An absorption plant with a capacity of 8000 gallons of casing-head gasoline a day is to be constructed in this field immediately, according to plans of the Ohio Oil Company, Continental Oil Company and Phillips Petroleum Company, the largest operators in the Artesia district. A survey by these companies indicates that the present gas supply available is between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 cubic feet, the gasoline content averaging more than three gallons of gasoline per 1000 cubic feet.

Oil production of the field is nearly 4000 barrels a day, according to pipeline reports of the Illinois Pipeline Company and New Mexico Pipeline Companies, whose total runs aggregate 3900 barrels a day, without including 500 barrels a day used as fuel by the operating companies.

The V.K.F. Oil Company is getting about 175 barrels a day from its No. 5 well on Sec. No. 17, 18-28. The V. K. F. No. 3 on the same lease is averaging 100 barrels a day on the pump, and is one of the most consistent wells in the field.

In Sec. No. 4, 18-28, the Dancigar Oil and Refining Company is finishing another well in Kaseman No. 4 finding the sand from 2251-2265 feet. The well will be shot as soon as connections can be made.

With tubing set in the Ramage well in Sec. No. 31, 17-29, this well pumped close to 200 barrels the first two days. When cleaned out and settled it will produce about fifty barrels daily.

The No. 7 well of Snowden, McSweeney-McNutt, in Sec. No. 21, 18-28, is swabbing 400 barrels and will be put on the pump. Offsetting it to the east the No. 3 of the Dome Oil Company in the same section has been also making 400 barrels and will also be put on the pump.

Miners Seeking Removal of Tax on Gold Bullion

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 1. — Removal of the Federal income tax on gold bullion is sought by the department of mines and mining of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce in resolutions addressed to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Senator Smoot and Congressman Green, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, now at work on a new tax revenue bill.

Adoption and forwarding of the resolutions followed a meeting with Congressman Curry of California, who strongly advocated making gold bullion tax-free to stimulate its production. M. W. Kriegh, chief of the tax division of the American Mining Congress, is representing the department on this question at the hearings before the House committee at Washington.

The resolutions point out that the present cost of producing gold is 160 per cent of the prewar figure, whereas the selling price of gold remains the same—$20.67 an ounce, as gold is standardized.

HUNT FOR DEEP SAND HALTS TEMPORARILY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HOLBROOK (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—Prospect of deep oil development appears to have been given up, temporarily, by the operators of the Great Basin, or Taylor-Fuller well. It now is proposed to make a test of two shallower sands that were found last December. Efforts to obtain a water shut-off below 4200 feet proved unsuccessful.

OIL REFINERY AT FORT WORTH SOLD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Nov. 1. The Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Company has purchased the refinery of the Montrose Oil Refining Company of Fort Worth, according to announcement of Edgar J. Marston, vice-president of the former company. The consideration was approximately $500,000, it is stated.

PROGRESS REPORTED ON TUNNEL

Huge Bore on Property of Comanche M. & R. Now in About 425 Feet

Excellent headway is being made in the driving of a tunnel on the property of the Comanche M. and R. Company on Blind Springs Hill near Benton.

The big bore is in a distance of about 425 feet, and headway is being made at the rate of eight feet daily, with two shifts working. The recent addition of new machinery will enable the contractor to work three shifts.

With the completion of the 1500-foot contract, arrangements will be made to continue the tunnel an additional 2000 feet. In its course this tunnel will cut five or six known veins and ore shoots.

Upon its final completion it is the intention, according to General Manager Charles A. Palmer, to handle 250,000 tons of dump ore at the old mines, dropping this material to the tunnel level and conveying it to the millsite at a cost not to exceed $2.50 per ton. Repeated sampling shows that this dump ore will average about $15 per ton in its metallic content.

An equal tonnage of ore, of about the same value per ton, exists in the fills and stopes in the old workings of the consolidated mine, which has a past production record said to exceed $6,000,000 from comparative shallow workings.

KERN OIL COMPANY ADDS TO HOLDINGS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nox. 1.—The Kern Canyon Oil Company has taken over the property of F. A. Fether on Section 25, 28-27, in the western part of the Kern River field. The property is described as the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of Sec. 25. The transaction includes the transfer of about fourteen wells, all producing.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Nov. 1.—The gross receipts of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for the quarter ending September 30, last, were $3,888,011.49, according to its report just made to the State Comptroller. The company paid a tax to the State of $58,320.17 on this amount. Extensive improvements and enlargements of its system are now underway.

MIDAS OF OIL GAME QUITS

Waite Phillips to Retire With $30,000,000 Fortune After Ten Years of Operation on Start of $30,000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TULSA (Okla.) Nov. 1.—Waite Phillips, who came to Tulsa ten years ago with $30,000 in cash, retires with $30,000,000, through the sale of his Mid-Continent oil field properties to Blair & Co., New York bankers, who represent in the purchase a major oil concern as yet not revealed.

This spectacular figure of the Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas oil territories, owned, before the deal just closed, thousands of barrels daily production, 101 filling stations and warehouses in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri; pipe lines, natural-gas gasoline plants; 627 tank cars and minor accessory properties unnumbered.

Phillips's advance was made in the face of countless obstacles, dating from a break with his brothers, Frank and L. E. Phillips of the Phillips Petroleum Company, in 1906. Waite had been a lease-buyer for the brothers and at the disagreement, took what money was coming to him, and opened a filling station in Fayetteville, Ark.

Nine years later, he had accumulated $30,000 and with it, he came to Okmulgee and began to buy and sell leases. A year at that and he decided to become a producer. It is related that he drilled seventeen consecutive dry holes before, with his last available credit, he brought in a well south of Okmulgee, producing oil of such high gravity that it commanded a price of $3.50 a barrel. That was in war times, at the height of inflated prices.

In 1918, Phillips moved to Tulsa and expanded his operations, buying valuable properties in the Osage reserve and testing deep sands in the fields near Beggs and Phillipsville. In 1920, his properties in Okmulgee county were regarded as the very choicest of oil production in Central Oklahoma.

Late in that year he purchased a refinery at Okmulgee and the next year made his concern a complete unit by establishing the first of his long string of filling stations, where he sold gasoline refined in his own refinery from oil flowing out of his own wells.

Phillips directed his own business down to small details and kept his properties in his own personal name until 1922. Then the inroads of Federal income taxes led him to incorporate for the first time. He retained 75 per cent of the stock until the sale just closed, less bonuses paid employees for special efficiency.

He opened the rich Rainbow Bend pool in Cowley county, Kansas and, despite the sale of half the properties there to other companies, had about 10,000 barrels daily production in that field when the New York bankers bought him out.

Phillips has a large ranch south of Denver and a hunting preserve near Raton, N. M. He spends as much time as possible on each of these places, but because he is not able fully to satisfy his love of the wild outdoors, he has, on his Tulsa estate, a log-cabin, where he does his resting in an imaginary ranch atmosphere.

On his Raton preserve, Phillips has planted buffalo, elk, deer and mountain goats. The streams running through are stocked with game fish. Near the reserve, in Central New Mexico, he has blocked another playground, extending over into the Apache country of Arizona.

Phillips's total ranch holdings exceed 300,000 acres.

GUSHER PUT ON PUMP IN TAFT FIELD

Federal Well in North Midway Again Producing After Sanding Twice

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 1.—The well of the Federal Drilling Company on the southwest corner of Sec. 20-31-24 in the eastern extension limit of the north Midway district, four miles northeast of Taft, is again pumping 235 barrels of oil at 4845 feet.

When completed in May this well flowed 2300 barrels, declined to a 320-barrel pumper in August, was cleaned out and flowed 1100 barrels for a few days, and is now an ordinary pumper.

The No. 2 and No. 3 at 4940 feet and 5012 feet, showed plenty of sand well saturated, but the No. 2 was never a producer, while No. 3 is a salt-water producer. The No. 11, one location east of the No. 1, stands cemented at 4963 feet. Pan-American wells in the northeast corner of Naval Reserve No. 1 constitute the only production east and northeast of the Federal Drilling Company wells, four miles lying between.

No reports of progress are given out from the John K. Porter test on Poso Creek, fifteen miles north of Bakersfield. It is asserted, however, that a depth of at least 2000 feet has been reached, with a fishing job delaying progress. Other tests drilled in that neighborhood found saturated sand at 1100 feet and 1400 feet.

Another chapter has been added to the record of the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company's test well, fourteen miles east of Delano—it has been recemented, the third effort made to shut off water in the attempt to make of it a commercial producer. The attitude of the company appears to be about fifty-fifty.

COMPANY TO WORK LESZYNSKY CLAIMS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLIFTON (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—The United States Copper Mining Company, incorporated about six weeks ago by A. L. Terry, H. D. Gradney and M. E. Crawford of this city, is preparing to work the Detroit, Leszynsky and Novo groups, aggregating sixty-three claims of 1380 acres. The Leszynsky group of eighteen patented claims is reported to have blocked out 1,000,000 tons of ore averaging 2.44 per cent copper.

ARGENTINA BRINGS IN 2300-BARREL GUSHER

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 1.—The Ministry of Agriculture received reports today that an oil well at Plaza Huincul in the government-owned field in Neuquen Territory, Western Argentina, has been producing for the last two days at the rate of 2300 barrels a day, a record for the field. The oil is said to be of high specific gravity.

OPERATIONS IN COALINGA FIELD WANE

Little New Drilling is Reported as Prices for Crude Drop Lower

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

COALINGA, Nov. 1.—Operations in the Coalinga field which have been quiet for four years, are not expected to increase now that crude oil is again lower in price. The Shell Company and the Standard Oil Company have nearly everything shut down and the Pacific Oil Company is doing but little new work. A little drilling is being done in the west end, where wells are completed at about 700 feet.

The General Petroleum Corporation has finally cleared its Kettleman Hills test hole on Section 28, bottom of hole being at 6410 feet, but cavings cause slow progress. Four miles northwest the Marland Oil Company completed a long fishing job and is again drilling ahead at 5315 feet. Between these two locations the Associated Oil Company is going deeper in its 500-foot assessment hole.

The Associated has dismantled the three deep holes it drilled near Raisin City and Caruthers, leaving its Kerman test going. One of the new steel derricks will probably be moved to King City, where the Associated is to test out a 7000-acre tract northwest of King City and south of the Harriman Jones Oil Company's well.

NEARING COMPLETION

Flotation Plant at Black Jack Mine to Operate Soon

Within the next few weeks the 100-ton oil flotation plant being built by the Southwest Engineering Corporation for the Black Jack mine of the Santa Catalina Island Company, will be ready to go into commission.

Mining for precious and base metal will be a new departure for the company, which is largely controlled by William Wrigley, Jr., and of which D. M. Renton is general manager; but it is stated that a goodly tonnage of commercial ore has been worked out in the mine workings, and that the new venture may prove to be profitable.

MINE CAMP STARTED

Angelenos to Develop Property in Arizona District

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—J. E. Mitchell and T. T. Kleinmeyer of Los Angeles are establishing a camp at Mineral Park on property purchased from Thomas Johnson. They will drive two tunnels to cut veins that are well defined on the surface.

R. W. Woods of Vancouver, B. C., president of the Premier Gold Mining Company, was a late visitor to Kingman to inspect the Peerless property, in which he has become interested. The mine is in the Stockton Hill section.

POTATO CROP FAILS IN COCONINO COUNTY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—For some reason as yet unexplained, the potato crop of Coconino county, usually a source of large revenue, is a failure following seven successive good crops. It is possible that the trouble lay with the dry weather of the summer, while some farmers to the southward declare that injury was known from the fumes of the Clarkdale and Clemenceau smelters. It happens however, that the potato crops also failed in Tonto Basin and in the Snowflake districts.

MARICOPA SAND THICKEST FOUND

Formation Being Cored at 3590 Feet

General Petroleum Annex Work Delayed

Springs Company Obtains Phelps Sections

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MARICOPA, Nov. 1.—A new sand in the Maricopa Flats field, just north of the Obispo property, has been found by the United Oil Company in its well on the Transport property at 3560 feet, the formation being cored to 3590 feet, which is said to be the thickest single oil sand yet found in this field. The United is setting casing to test.

The new sand correlates with the Calivada sand found north of the Transport lease about a year ago, and is about 100 feet shallower than the expected depth of the Obispo zone.

The Obispo gusher is down to about 500 barrels a day, water encroachments necessitating a pinching in of the well.

The Trojan Oil Company's deep test well, half a mile east of the Obispo is now about 4750 feet deep, with little evidence of oil in quantity. The hole will be carried down a little deeper before abandoning.

WORK ON TESTS

The three tests for the California Petroleum Corporation — the Maricopa Star, the American and the Midland, all in Section 32, 12-23, north of the Obispo, No. 6, have reached depths varying from 2500 feet to 3300 feet, with first cement job completed, but not yet quite deep enough to indicate what the 3700-foot level may show.

The General Petroleum Corporation's Annex 11-B and Essex 10-B have been greatly delayed by fishing jobs and skidding one rig. The El Dora Oil Company's test, a diagonal northeast offset to the Obispo lease, is going along rather slow around 3300 feet, the direct south offset to it of the Pacific Oil Company (No. 5-A) having been the last of the deep tests in Section 32 to start.

Ten years ago last week, the Trojan Oil Company completed a 1500-barrel well in the upper sand on the lease where its No. 2 is deepening at below 4700 feet, and about the same time No. 2 for the Obispo Oil Company had an initial production of 5000 barrels at about 2300 feet. Several other wells on the Maricopa Flat made as much as 3000 barrels from the upper sand during the early years of the district's development, so there is always a chance that good wells may be secured. The looked-for deep sand below the brown shale at 4000 feet and deeper, seems to be more uncertain than the upper sand.

NO RESULTS

Dorothy No. 4 for the California Petroleum Corporation, Section 32, 32-24, northwest of the Obispo lease, is below 4000 feet without much showing, other wells on the lease getting production at 3400 to 3600 feet.

The Springs Company, drilling the Bell-Wrightsman, Inc., test in Section 29, 11-23, in the foothills southeast of Maricopa, is having trouble completing the well, bottom of the hole being 5260 feet, with a reported thickness of hard sand of approximately 300 feet. The crude tests about 38 gravity. A shot was exploded a few days ago that seemed to increase the volume of oil in the hole. During the cleaning out oil follows the bailer up to three feet above the casinghead, but the well is not yet on production and no estimate of its possible production has been reported. The Springs Company is affiliated with the General Petroleum Corporation.

WILL START TEST

The Springs Company, having secured all of Section 15, 32-22 from Z. L. Phelps, is moving in a large-size drilling machine to start a test at once, and may drill four tests on the 640 acres, government land. The location is west of Maricopa and south of the Temblor Hills.

A mile and a half northwest, in the northwest corner of Section 7, 32-22, Carter Mulally of Long Beach has spudded his first test on a tract of 2500 acres, using cable tools and expecting shallow production. In Section 8, 32-22, between the Springs Company's and Carter Mulally's locations, C. E. Livermore is starting a test well.

The Frankel-Orloff Oil Company has abandoned its test in Section 25, 11-24, southwest of Maricopa, mechanical troubles having junked the hole at 2800 feet. Another test may be started. The only well now drilling west of production in that area is the Fresno Sun-Maid Oil Company in Section 16, 11-24, now below 3500 feet, with considerable gas pressure reported.

MELONES RESERVOIR POWER PLANT BEGINS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, Nov. 1.—The Pacific Gas and Electric Company will begin this week to construct the power plant in conjunction with the Melones irrigation reservoir project. O. W. Peterson, engineer, who successfully completed the Pit River projects, is now on the ground selecting camp sites. The power plant is being built as a result of an agreement reached between the power company and the Oakdale and South San Joaquin irrigation districts.

TO IRRIGATE MORE LAND

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SNOWFLAKE (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—About 7000 acres are to be added to this district's irrigated area by construction of the dam of the Showlow reclamation project, seven miles south of this point. Most of the new land lies west of Snowflake and Taylor. Drilling for bedrock now is being prosecuted.

Mine and Oil Notes From Far and Near; World-Wide Financial Reports

SPOT SITE OF NEW DRILLING

Standard Planning Well at Santa Ana Gardens

Work on Line With Policies on All Large Leases

Shell Project Expected to Draw Much Attention

The Standard Oil Company has spotted its second well in the Santa Ana Gardens district, and will begin drilling operations as soon as the derrick can be built and machinery moved in. The new well will be known as the Plaven No. 1, and will be located about 500 yards northeast of the intersection of the Pacific Electric tracks and the Newport Beach Road.

The site of Plavan No. 1 is about one mile east of the Von [illegible] well which the Standard has drilled to 5163 feet. At about [illegible] feet this well caused some excitement by a report of showings which were subsequently denied by the Standard. Scouts who were in close touch with the operation reported about forty feet of sand showing heavy oil, and the discovery of tar sand was generally known, but little importance was attached to it. After setting [illegible] the Standard continued to drill, but no further showings have been reported. Recently the well developed casing trouble, the eleven-inch pipe going bad, but Standard officials say the well will not be stopped on this account, unless further complications develop.

In explaining the location of the new Plaven well the Standard makes the statement that the project is in line with the company's policy of making a thorough test of large leases such as the Santa Ana Gardens property which aggregates several thousand acres.

Another project in this field which will attract considerable attention from now on is the Von [illegible] well of the Shell company at Talbert. This well is down [illegible] feet at which point a surface string of sixteen-inch pipe was set.

USE OF STEAMSHOVEL SUGGESTED FOR MINE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—Steam-shoveling has been suggested as the proper method for further development of the famous old Pot[illegible] mine, near Yuma, after inspection by Los Angeles mining men. In the same locality, Huffman & Trenchard report the finding of a rich new vein on the old Buena Vista or Senator property.

MERGER OF NEVADA CON AND RAY ON

Final Step in Program of Consolidation is Set for Early Date

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RAY (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—It is reported here that controlling interests in the Ray Consolidated and Nevada Consolidated companies have decided upon combination of the properties, this to be done at the next meeting of the latter's stockholders on the 10th inst.

It is proposed to increase Nevada stock to 5,100,000 shares, permitting absorption of Ray's outstanding 3,077,179 shares. D. C. Jackling is reported to have advised the consolidation, which would decrease overhead costs and possibly better selling conditions.

Ray last year absorbed Chino, a Southwestern New Mexico property owned by the same interests and of similar characteristics, that Consolidation appears to have worked out well, as is shown by a good stock price average ever since and by operation, despite a low copper price.

It has been intimated that the consolidation may even extend to Inspiration Consolidated, of Miami, but Inspiration is outside the Jackling group. Absorption by the Utah group is considered more likely.

Crude Refined by Nature Will be Fair Exhibit

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Nov 1.—At the State Fair there will be an exhibit of crude oil from Willcox, so refined by nature that it will operate a motor without further treatment. This oil is from shallow sands, tapped at a number of points.

About two miles east of Willcox, a Utah company, represented by Frank Copening, is down about 1200 feet, the last 800 feet said to be in favorable ground.

The same interests have a well four and one-half miles east of Bowie, which has reached a depth of 2770 feet. From it comes a report that the drill is passing through blue shale and oil sand and that gas blowouts are frequent.

OIL LEASE ASSIGNED

Chanslor-Canfield Takes Over Angeleno's Contract

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 1.—Thirty-two wells are contracted for in a twenty-year oil lease on the south half of Sec. 2, 28-26, Lerdo Mesa area, obtained by E. K. Potter of Los Angeles from Charles Cohn of this city.

The agreement has been assigned to the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company of Los Angeles. It calls for the beginning of drilling operations within five years and drilling to a depth of 4500 feet.

BELIEVE BELRIDGE IN VAQUEROS SAND

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAFT, Nov. 1.—The Belridge Oil Company has cored through about forty feet of oil sand in its Goyer well on Sec. 32, 32-23, in the Temblor range back of the Hovey Hills. Drilling was started in the Monterey shale, but the oil sand, which was picked up at about 1600 feet, is reported to have the characteristics of the Vaqueros sandstone. If the well proves productive, this will be the first production in Kern county to come from the Vasqueros sand, it is asserted.

LOUIS d'OR ESTATE TO HAVE TEST WELL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GLOBE (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—G. M. Eggleston, vice-president of the Louis d'Or, is preparing to start drilling on the company's property near Miami. This company claims to have one of the largest bodies of low-grade copper ore in Arizona. Further operations will be under direction of Orrin P. Peterson, a mining engineer and geologist.

KAY MINE PROPERTY SEEN AS PROMISING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Nov. 1.—According to former Gov. Tom Campbell, the Kay property, north of Phoenix, may be classed as "a most promising enterprise, meriting continued development and expenditure." He says he believes that the zone of copper enrichment is improving with depth.

STOCK INCREASE VOTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DALLAS (Tex.) Nov. 1.—At a meeting of stockholders of the Lone Star Gas Company conducted here it was voted to increase its capital stock from $10,675,000 to $13,500,000. The additional stock will be sold only to present stockholders of the company and at a par value of $25 a share, according to R. A. Crawford, vice-president and general manager. The additional $2,825,000 will be used for enlargements of the company's gas distributing system.

DAM TO BE REBUILT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CASA GRANDE (Ariz.) Nov. 1. Plans are being made for rebuilding the dam of the Picacho reservoir, washed away by a fall flood and again washed out after $2400 had been spent in its repair. The reservoir covers three square miles of land and held 4000 acre feet of water at the time of the break.

STEEL PLANT PLANNED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Nov. 1.—A steel foundry, the only one between El Paso Los Angeles, is to be erected by the Arizona Iron Work Company, adjoining its present plant in the southwestern part of the city near the capitol.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analyses will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Not Meteoric Stone

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Question: The sample is from Lake county, Cal. Please analyze it and state whether or not it is a meteor. F. A. B.

Answer: The sample is chiefly limonite (hydrous iron peroxide.) There is more or less manganese present with a little iron carbonate (siderite,) and hematite (iron peroxide.)

If the sample was a meteorite (meteoric iron) it would resemble brightly polished steel when cut, burnished, etc.

Not Bentonite

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—Q.: I am taking the liberty of mailing you two samples of clay under separate cover, and asking you, kindly analyze them, if possible, as to their constituents, or identify them. The clays were found near Kelso, San Bernardino county, Cal. No. 1 is Bentonite clay, in my opinion. It falls to pieces in water and forms a smooth, greasy mess. People there call it beauty clay. No. 2 looks like kaolin or potters' clay of high grade. I would appreciate, very much, indeed, if you could tell me whether or not the clays are of commercial value and in what respects. Thanking you for your kindness. X.

A.: There are, in California, a great number of clay-like minerals occurring in big deposits of almost endless varieties, and it is probable that no two samples taken from any part of the State will analyze alike.

The mere fact of a clay falling to pieces in water is not of much value in analysis—with the exception of Bentonite (medicinal clay, or Denver mud.)

Bentonite swells immensely in water; a sample as big as a coffee grain will expand in bulk the size of a big cherry, and on the subject further, there is no harder task in chemistry than the quantitative analyses of California clays.

There is some kaolin in sample No. 1. It seems to be on the order of impure halloysite; calcite and soda present; iron oxides found, and a low per cent of hydrogen sulphide occurs in both samples.

No. 2 (the milk-white specimen) is a variety of potters' clay, reacting for some magnesium silicate; traces of iron, zinc and manganese found. Sample No. 1 is in part hydrous magnesium silicate, and might answer for certain filter purposes. We regret that a quantitative analyses could not be given on both samples.

Resembles Gravel

CANTIL, Oct. 16.—Q.: I am sending you a sample of round sand. Could it be used as a molding sand by using a binder with it? It is an air-tight sand that we have in this county. F.

A.: The best molding sand used in Los Angeles is shipped in from Nebraska. It seems to be very doubtful that the sand you offer for test (inclosed in a part of gunnysack) would answer for the uses stated by you, even with a "binder" added. It is not rounded sand, and it is impure with magnetite, hydrous aluminum and magnesium silicates, quartz, pegmatyte, microscopic mica and a like variety of pyrite. There are traces of microscopic blende, and titaniferous iron in the sample also.

Gypsum

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—Q.: I would like to know what kind of stone this is. I found it in the San Fernando Valley, and I am a pupil in Carpenter-street school. U.

A.: The specimen shows seams of milk-white crystallized gypsum known as selenite. The yellowish matter present is of aluminum silicate mixed with limonite, (hydrous iron peroxide) and gypsum. All of the sample (excluding the selenite) is gypsite (impure gypsum.) The specimen is such that similar material could be used as an ingredient for manufacturing fertilizers. It is a pleasure, indeed, to be of service to you.

Two Samples

Q.: Will you please analyze the two samples? Is No. 1 a bauxite-clay? Is either of commercial value, and if so, to what extent? Thanking you for past favors. C.

A.: The clay-like yellowish specimen is not bauxite; it is a hydrous, double silicate of aluminum and magnesium; iron oxides present. No. 2 is a handsome specimen of carbonates; chiefly lime carbonate, and not tested for magnesia. The crystallized matter is calcite, and among the carbonates more or less present bismuth and zinc occur. Commercial values of minerals represented by the samples are problematical.

Three Specimens

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 18.—Q.: I have mailed under separate cover three samples of what appears to be bluish clay. These were brought out of a seepage hole which I had deepened to about twenty-five feet, encountering such sticky resistance that no further progress could be made with an auger. Please give me your best idea of samples; is there any sign of petroleum in them? They are from Riverside county. Many thanks for this and past favors. E.

A.: The samples are very much altered and react for hydrous silicates of lime and magnesia; lime carbonate present. One of the specimens carries a little conglomerate resembling amygdaloidal lava in part, iron silicate and magnesium silicate found. Judging from the samples only, it does not appear that they represent good oil indications, and it may be that "ball clay" occurs at the locality.

High Grade

ROSCOE, Oct. 19.—Q.: Please analyze for valuable minerals. Found in Mono county.

A.: The samples react for cerussite (lead carbonate,) galenite (lead sulphide,) blende (zinc sulphide,) stibnite (antimony sulphide) and bismuth is more or less present. Not tested for gold or silver.

Quartzitic Rock

WILMINGTON, Oct. 21.—Q.: I am sending you some mineral samples taken from a shaft down about twenty feet. Located in the Santa Catalina Mountains, Arizona. Will you please give me analyses on same? What would be your opinion as to going further down in the shaft? G.

A.: The samples contain a good percentage of hematite and react sparingly for zinc; there is no free gold in the rocks, and while it would be a pleasure to advise you regarding going down, it cannot be given on the samples only.

Silicate and Carbonate

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—Q.: Please analyze sample for commercial value. Found in quantity thirty miles from Nogales, Ariz. A. P. M.

A.: The sample carries lime carbonate mixed with hydrous aluminum, and hydrous magnesium, silicates. Try it out as filtering material.

Gypsite

GLENDALE, Oct. 21.—Q.: Does this sample carry gypsum, and if so, does it contain enough for commercial uses? Locality, in the hills north of Glendale. J.

A.: The specimen is impure gypsum, known as gypsite. The grade might answer for a fertilizer ingredient.

Gneiss

ALHAMBRA, Oct. 20.—Q.: Found in Los Angeles county. Test for rare and valuable minerals, and oblige. W. W. W.

A.: Microscopic pyrite sparingly present in the sample with one very small color (a trace) of native gold. The specimen is a shale-like altered granite; mica schist present.

Uranium Absent

REDLANDS, Oct. 20.—Q.: I am sending you two samples of rock and would like to know if they contain anything of value? G.

A.: Sample No. 1 is impure limestone; iron oxides found with copper traces and zinc in low percentage. No. 2 is hematite—stained calcite; copper and zinc traces.

Tough Bird

A sailor from the backwoods sent his mother a parrot as a present. Some time later he came home on leave. He looked for the parrot, but could not see it anywhere in the house.

Carefully broaching the subject to his mother, he asked her how she liked it.

"Ah, it was a handsome bird," she said. "But it was a tough 'un."

MINE PLANS FOR LARGER OUTPUT

Nevada Bunker Hill Opening New Ore Body

Company Expects to Boost 1926 Production

United Eastern Putting Old Bluster in Shape

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ELKO (Nev.) Nov. 1.—The Nevada Bunker Hill Mining Company is shipping slag from the old smelter dump to Utah smelters, opening ore in the main tunnel, and preparing for heavy production in 1926. The property is a silver-lead producer, located fourteen miles from Carlin. Leases have been granted on the Blue Sky and Standing Elk claims.

The main 3575-foot tunnel is to be extended 2000 feet next spring for the purpose of developing the main ore deposits at an approximate depth of 1650 feet. Equipment includes a compressor, power drills and other machinery. The group has produced more than $4,000,000 and is expected to enter on a new era of production from greater depth.

New equipment for the United Eastern mill at Jarbidge is arriving, and the old workings of the Bluster mine are being cleared and placed in shape for operations. The working force is increasing as rapidly as mine conditions permit. The company will probably start production within a few weeks From the Bluster workings the development of the Success and Pick and Shovel groups will be vigorously pressed. The company formerly operated at Oatman, Ariz.

The Homestake Divide Mining Company has leased 480 acres in the wildcat oil territory on the border of Fresno and San Benito counties, California, and has let contracts for drilling seventeen shallow wells.

Incorporation of the Guadalupe Consolidated Mining Company under the laws of Novada has been completed by California and Nevada capitalists. The company plans to work a cinnabar property near Los Gatos, Cal. Recently developments are credited with having exposed material running fairly high in quicksilver.

Announce Four Completions in West Kern Area

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 1.—Four new wells were completed and put on production during the past week in the west-side fields of Kern county. They were the Petroleum Securities Company, No. 1, Sec. 22, 28-27; Sascal Petroleum Company, No. 17, Sec. 21, 28-28; Standard Oil Company, No. 4, Sec. 15, 28-27, and the same company's No. 2, Sec. 21, 28-27.

The Pacific Oil Company, one of the consistent operators of the Kern county fields, is keeping up its efforts to produce more oil by the spudding in of two more wells, one in the Midway on Sec. 35, 30-24, and another on Sec. 32, Sec. 26, 30-24.

Another Elk Hills well to be started is that of the Gross Drilling Company. It is the No. 3 on Section 26, 30-24.

Three new wells were commenced in the Midway field. They are the Balboa Oil Company, No. 42, Sec. 24, 31-23; Western Production Company, No. 4, Sec. 21, 31-22, and the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company, No. 44, Sec. 4, 32-24.

The Bear State Oil Company has begun drilling its No. 14 well in the Belridge district on Sec. 30, 28-21.

Sales Manager as Speaker for Advertising Club

B. J. Williams, director of sales of the Paraffine Companies, Inc., of San Francisco, will be the speaker at tomorrow's luncheon at the Biltmore Hotel of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles. His topic, as announced, is "Some Fundamentals in Sales Management."

The principle which Williams advocates in his speeches and articles, namely, sympathy and justice in dealing with men, he has so well put into practice in his own business that only six salesmen have voluntarily left his employ since he has been with the Paraffine Companies, and all of them left to go into business for themselves—and three of them have returned.

DRILLER OPENS UP LOST WELL

Abandoned Hole Close to McKittrick Worked

Hundred Barrels of Clean Liquid Pumped

Transport Company to Sink Test Near By Soon

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

McKITTRICK, Nov. 1.—A lost oil well has been discovered by A. L. Mayes just north of tais city and west of the south end of the Belridge field.

In 1920 the Standard Oil Company abandoned a test of the M. & L. lease on Section 8, 29-22 at 4700 feet. In drilling this hole the regular 900-foot sand showed a little heavy oil but not enough to warrant putting it on production.

Recently Mr. Mayes obtained twenty acres from the Transport Oil Company and acquired the abandoned hole. Operating as the Myrtle E. Oil Company, Mayes has spudded in his No. 1. While watching progress he began work on the abandoned hole.

GETS FIFTEEN BARRELS

Removing a little dirt over the casing head, he discovered that fluid stood near the top, so he tied a can to 190 feet of rope. Bringing it to the surface, the rope showed that oil stood within 162 feet of the surface, and tested 14.6 degrees gravity, with less than 1 per cent cut. Using a rope 400 feet long the oil brought up appeared a shade lighter and was clean.

Securing an old but workable pump, Mayes rigged a tripod, tubed and rodded the hole and connected up with the drilling engine. The first day fifteen barrels of clean oil were pumped ,and altogether 100 barrels have been put in the tank, it appearing that enough oil can be obtained from the old hole to keep the boiler going for the new well.

There is 620 feet of fifteen-inch stovepipe in the hole, with a plug at the bottom. At a little below 900 feet another plug is set, the producing sand being between the two plugs. It is the intention of Mayes, when the drilling well is finished at a depth of perhaps 900 to 1000 feet, to move over the old hole, pull or drill out the 620-foot plug and put the well on production if it shows as good as preliminary work has.

PROFITABLY OPERATED

The producing streak that extends several miles northwest of McKittrick along the foothill is narrow and it quits sharply on the east and west, the Mayes location being even narrower, it is thought. Myrtle E. No. 1, drilling, is 165 feet east of the abandoned hole, which Mayes thinks is at the west edge of possible commercial production. He does not expect better than 100 barrels—perhaps only fifty barrels—but, being shallow and inexpensive to drill and operate, such wells can be profitably operated.

The Transport Oil Company, it is reported, will soon start a test 120 feet west of the abandoned hole.

A mile southwest of the Mayes location L. E. Westrich has two wells drilling on a 900-acre tract and has the rig up for a test on a lease just acquired, in Sec. 19, 29-21, and just east of a drilling well in Sec. 24, 29-20, now standing cemented at 860 feet, with a showing of light oil, and where he hopes to complete a producing well at 1000 feet or less. In Sec. 18, 29-21, two locations northeast of the shallow hole, 3400 feet has been reached, with some gas showing at around 3300 feet, about where the casing was cemented for a good shut-off.

KILLS SELF IN FEAR OF INSANITY

In Third Suicide Reported Yesterday Victim's Note Declares Life Unbearable

Leaving a note declaring that he couldn't stand it any longer, that he feared he was losing his mind, Samuel Robertson, 40 years of age, ended his life with gas at his home, 633 West First street, last night. The note asked a friend, William Empsey, whose address was not given, to see that he was properly buried.

Robertson, who was a farmer, came here a month ago from Idaho Falls, Idaho. A sister, Mrs. Laura McLing, resides there. Detective Lieutenant Dryden is investigating Robertson's death.

Robertson's case was the third suicide reported to police yesterday.

New Quarters for Canadian Railway Ready

The new offices of the Canadian National Railways will open today at 607 South Grand avenue, where much larger floor space has been provided than at the former offices at 603 South Spring street. The company had offices here for three years, and the move to larger and better quarters was prompted, it was said, by the large amount of business that has been developed from this territory.

News of Oil Wells; Their Products; What Basin Fields Are Doing

RAINS HOLD UP TAMPICO WORK

New International Petroleum Well Completed

Adds 1500 Barrels to Its Daily Output

Think Large Oil Operators Will Stay in Field

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAMPICO (Mex.) Nov. 1.—Torrential rains have made oil-field operations in the Tampico district difficult, and most of the work has been virtually suspended for more than a week.

The International Petroleum Company has completed a well in Cacalilao, Panuco, which adds 1500 barrels to that company's daily output. The International's production dropped from millions of barrels monthly to a rather low figure, as a result of the gradual exhaustion of the Toteco field. The field's comeback since the company began its recent determined drilling campaign is taken as a most encouraging indication of what other companies may do later.

Despite the fact that plants which cost $32,000,000 have been closed down and the Tampico area is losing population as a result of workmen moving away, there is a general belief here that the big oil operators will hang on for many years and may be expected to greatly extend their operations in the future.

The present slump is reported to have started from political rather than natural causes, during the De la Huerta revolt.

One hundred thousand dollars is a fair average cost of a single wildcat in the lower fields. The dwindling production has reduced the government's income from export taxes to less than one-half the 6,000,000 pesos received monthly in boom times, and all gestures toward making the oilmen pay the difference in additional taxes have had a depressing effect on new operations.

A company has just been organized by local American capitalists to salvage all kinds of material from abandoned oil plants and operations for the purpose of outfitting independent oil operators.

TRACT LEASED TO ASSOCIATED

Lloyd and Dabney Interests Turn Over 160 Acres

Agreement Requiries Drill be Started at Once

Buoy to be Installed Near Ventura Pipe Line

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, Nov. 1.—The Ralph Lloyd and Joseph B. Dabney oil interests have just leased to the Associated Oil Company 160 acres lying just north of the Associated's big Lloyd lease in the Ventura-avenue field at Ventura. The terms of the agreement call for the commencement of drilling operations on the property immediately.

It was reported Saturday upon good authority that the United States government will shortly construct off the shore line at Ventura an illuminated buoy to serve as an additional safeguard for tank steamers approaching the end of the submerged oil-pipe line in Ventura harbor. It is asserted that the light-buoy is to be completed within a month.

Rancho Sespe, near Fillmore, has undertaken the construction of a two-inch pipe line from the main trunk line of the Midway Gas Company at Ventura to the ranch to supply natural gas to all the ranch houses on the premises. The new line will be 18,000 feet long.

The Standard Oil Company has completed its rig on the Santa Paula Saticoy ranch property, near Montalvo, in Ventura county, where it will drill a wildcat well. Geologists assert that the rig is located on what appears to be the north side of the supposed oil structure. It is asserted that the Standard has entered into an arrangement which required it to drill three or four test wells in that general area.

JULIAN SECURITIES

My advice to the effect that a statement concerning JULIAN SECURITIES, relative to the Eastern situation, would be forthcoming at this time, is again postponed for the reason

After mature consideration it is my judgment that it is to the best interest of the corporation and of its stockholders that a public announcement be withheld until every phase of the entire plan has been concluded and thereby avoid any danger of opposition from those unfriendly to the successful consummation of the entire plans.

I wish to again repeat and assure those interested in this Company that the buying power which I control is not now availing itself of the market while I am withholding the announcement to the stockholders of developments which they should know.

The Good-Will of the Julian Stockholders and the public in general is of greater value than the monetary advantage to be derived by availing myself of the opportunity of purchasing JULIAN SECURITIES at the present prevailing market price, at the expense and sacrifice of those stockholders who have purchased it as an investment.

The position of your company is stronger today than ever in its history, and I again repeat the object and purpose of communicating with the stockholders in this manner is to refute false rumors derogatory to your company made principally for the purpose of inducing you to part with your securities.

METHODS HOLD OUTPUT UP

Survey of Torrance Field Reveals Different Systems in Use to Get Best Production Results

Drilling methods have reached their highest development in California, where the deepest wells and most difficult wells are drilled, but production methods are keeping up with the procession, as a survey of production in the old field of Torrance will quickly indicate.

Torrance reached a peak of about 65,000 barrels a day, about eighteen months ago, and a year had dropped to about 50,000 barrels a day. No deep sand ever was found at Torrance, although deep tests were drilled all over the field. The wells were not large producers in the accepted sense of the word, and it was a common thing for a well coming in at 1000 barrels to drop to 200 barrels within a week. Furthermore there has been no extensive drilling in Torrance for nearly a year.

Yet in spite of these conditions, which ordinarily presage a rapid and continued decline, the Torrance field today is still producing about 35,000 barrels a day, which is a decline of only about forty barrels a day over the last year.

The answer is found in the application improved production methods to the producing wells. Improved pumps, and the installation of flow devices are the two most important factors in maintaining production in Torrance.

The Standard Oil Company, which a month ago shut in 2500 barrels in Torrance, is now getting about 4500 barrels a day from seventy-five wells, which is an average of about sixty barrels a well a day. This production is being maintained at a steady rate day after day, although the Standard is doing no drilling with the exception of a single well. The long-stroke pump is the principal reason for the Standard's steady output.

An even better record is that of the Superior Oil Company, which has a production of about 4000 barrels a day from forty-six wells, an average of about ninety barrels per well per day. The Superior's production is mostly from its Joughin lease, which is generally regarded as the choicest property in the field, and which had a peak output of about 7000 barrels a day. Flow devices, operating by compression of gas, long-stroke pumps, and steam-heated pumps are among the devices used by the Superior to maintain its Torrance output.

E. J. Miley is one of the small operators in Torrance, his production aggregating only 800 barrels a day, but this is produced by seven wells, with an average of more than 100 barrels per well per day. Six of the Miley wells are being produced by means of gas compression, and the seventh is using a special triple-valve pump. Miley's production is also on a portion of the famous Joughin property, near the Superior's lease.

THRONG AT LUTHERAN GATHERING

Rev. George Jacobsen of Stockton Speaker at Joint Reformation Service Here

REV. GEORGE C. JACOBSEN.

More than 3000 persons yesterday afternoon attended the joint reformation services of the Lutheran churches of the Missouri Synod in this district, conducted in the auditorium of the Bible Institute in commemoration of the four hundred and eighth anniversary of Prof. Martin Luther's ninety-five theses from which the present-day Lutheran denomination originated. Rev. George Jacobsen of Stockton was the principal speaker on the program, taking for his subject the "Blessings of Reformation."

Mr. Jacobsen outlined the advent of Lutherism and the history of the church, together with the aims, teachings and ideals of the present-day Missouri Synod, a conservative branch of the Lutheran denomination. The speaker of the day lauded the benefits of Lutherism and declared that the success of the church should be continued through the many branches of work now in operation within the denomination.

A commemoratory program was conducted under the chaplainship of J. W. Theiss and was featured by several hymnal numbers by the Lutheran chorus of Southern California.

PASTOR WHO LOST PULPIT GIVES TALK

Rev. Maurice M. Johnson, Ousted by Conference, Criticises Church Policy

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

GLENDALE, Nov. 1.—Rev. Maurice M. Johnson, ousted as pastor of the Broadway Methodist Church, South, by the annual Pacific conference held at Berkeley about a week ago, spoke on "The Battle of Berkeley" at the Glendale Presbyterian Church here tonight.

"Ecclesiasticism in the church," he declared, "is waging war on men in the organization who dare to be outspoken." Mr. Johnson asserted that Dr. Charles T. Bulla, presiding elder of the Los Angeles district, shortly before the conference had told officers of the Broadway Methodist Church, South, that he had been notified by the four great boards of the church that unless Johnson was prevented from attacking Sunday-school literature put out by church publishing houses all financial support would be withdrawn from the Glendale church.

Mr. Johnson had attacked portions of Sunday-school literature as unorthodox and modernistic in tendency. He was removed by the conference on the ground of "unacceptability."

He was invited to speak from the pulpit of the Glendale Presbyterian Church by its pastor, Dr. W. E. Edmonds, who announced that Mr. Johnson had become a member of the Trinity Methodist Church of Los Angeles, Rev. "Bob" Shuler's church. The Presbyterian Church was crowded to capacity for Mr. Johnson's address.

CHARLOTTE WHITNEY'S SENTENCE PROTESTED

A mass meeting under the direction of the American Civil Liberties Union was held last night at 223 South Broadway in protest against the sentence to San Quentin of Charlotte Anita Whitney, convicted of violating the criminal syndicalism law. Speeches in praise of Miss Whitney, attacking the law itself and criticising Gov. Richardson were made by Alexander Markey, J. H. Ryckman, Robert Whitaker and Miss Genevieve Adams.

The meeting was attended by about 500 men and women.

GIRLS LOST NEAR LAKE ARROWHEAD

Posses Scour Mountains for Pair Mysteriously Gone From Resort Cabins

Searching parties are scouring the vicinity of Lake Arrowhead for traces of Janet Kemble and Mercedes McDowell, 16-year-old girls, who mysteriously disappeared from their mountain cabins yesterday. Los Angeles police were appealed to last night by W. H. Kemble, 1212 East Ocean Boulevard, Long Beach, father of one of the girls, to aid in the search.

According to Mr. Kemble, his daughter and companion left the former's home for a walk around the village of Lake Arrowhead about 10 o'clock in the forenoon and stated they would return shortly. Efforts to trace them since their departure from the Kemble home have proven futile. Local authorities were called upon to aid in the search last night. Relatives of the girls could give no explanation regarding their sudden and strange disappearance.

The Kemble girl is described as being 16 years of age, five feet, five inches in height; weighing 125 pounds, and with brown eyes and brown bobbed hair. Mercedes is 16, weighs 100 pounds, is five feet, four inches in height, has brown eyes and fluffy bobbed hair.

LAW DOUSES CRATER'S FIRE

Volcano-like Stump, Which Belched Forth Smoke Clouds With Reeking Stench of Burning Rubber, Squelched as Court Clamps Down Fine of $25

A tree stump stands in the yard of Mrs. Jutta Hatting of 1321 Waterloo street. The stump has been hollowed out and from an improvised crater there came belching forth a smudge of smoke and an occasional spark.

Next door to Mrs. Hatting lives Mrs. George A. Whitney of 1327½ Waterloo street. Neighbors they are, but neighborly they have not been, police records disclose.

From Mrs. Hatting's tree stump the smoke continually arose and, aided and abetted by a convenient breeze, would envelop the domicile of Mrs. Whitney.

'Tis said that the odor of some of the rubbish being consumed in the volcano-like crater in the Hatting yard did not bear the breath of spring, but resembled the odors peculiar to the scorching of old shoes and cast-off rubber.

It was during September that a three-day eruption of the crater brought the law to investigate. Officer Bridgewater requested that Mrs. Hatting put out the fire smoldering in the hateful stump. This she refused to do, Officer Bridgewater testified, and she was placed under arrest on a misdemeanor charge. Mrs. Hatting was released on $25 bail.

In Judge Frederickson's Police Court she demanded a jury trial. Mrs. Whitney was the complaining witness. Both sides had their supporters. Witnesses testified to the Americanism of the defendant and of other notable qualities. She was found guilty, however, of burning rubbish out of hours. The fine was $25 or twenty-five days.

Mrs. Hatting's attorney gave notice of appeal. 'Tis said that smoke still pours forth from Mrs. Hatting's tree stump, but only during regular hours.

SOUTHWEST GAS USE INCREASING

Texas and Oklahoma Areas to be Supplied

Distribution on Large Scale Being Planned

Many Communities Reported Seeking Service

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Nov. 1.—Distribution of natural gas to far-distant communities of the Southwest, some of them more than 200 miles removed from production, is rivaling the distribution of electricity. The latter, on the whole, however, backed by water-power enterprises constitutes the greatest movement in the spread of public utilities that ever has been initiated in the entire history of the Southwest's growth.

Chicago, Kansas City, Pittsburgh and New York money appears to be flowing liberally into natural-gas enterprises and a vigorous rivalry is under way for production contracts and pipe-line rights of way. In five years the number of gas-producing and pipe-line concerns of comparatively small capital stock has increased above 100 per cent.

Big money in this movement is giving attention principally to four gas areas of the Southwest at this time. They are the Amarillo and Shamrock fields in Texas and the Sayre and Grady county fields in Oklahoma. In these fields two, three or four gas-producing strata are found, some of them more than 120 feet thick, and estimates of length of life run to thirty, forty and fifty years.

In hundreds of communities of the Texas Panhandle, the Texas South Plains, North and Northeast Texas and Southwest and Southeast Oklohoma municipal franchises are being sought either by pipe-line projectors or the municipalities themselves, and among these are several leading cities and towns of Northeastern Texas. An interesting phase of this situation is that gas from Grady county is going into Texas and through Dallas and coming back into Southern Oklahoma, and that Grady county gas soon will be on burner tips in municipalities not far from Arkansas and Louisiana borders in Northeast Texas.

A supposition that a large part of this production will go south in the coming years, is based on the report of financing activities of the Lone Star Gas Company. The stockholders of the company recently voted to issue $2,825,000 in bonds for expansion purposes and the stock issue will be increased from $10,675,000 to $13,500,000, the additional stock to be sold only to present stockholders at the par value of $25 a share. The company plans to lay at once 224 miles of new pipe line. Of this an eighteen-inch line of 143 miles is being laid from the Caddo-Breckenridge field of Texas to Fort Worth and Dallas.

Four Taken as Thief Suspects; Valuables Held

Seizing jewelry, clothing and household goods valued at $8000 to $10,000, believed to have been stolen from homes in the University district in a house on East Twenty-seventh street last night, Detective-Lieutenants Magness and Horrell arrested Richard Mayo, Mrs. Catherine Mayo, Earl Whitfield and Elinor Smith, all colored, on charges of suspicion of burglary.

Mayo and Whitfield both had served terms in San Quentin for burglary, according to police, Mayo having been paroled October 25, 1924, and Whitfield, March 5, 1925.

Policemen Doff Drab Garb for Blue of Winter

"The Winter Blues" will be revived in Los Angeles today by members of the police department.

These particular "blues" have nothing to do with music, however, but refer to the winter uniforms worn by the uniformed guardians of the law.

The olive-drab uniforms worn during the summer and early fall were discarded yesterday and will remain among the moth balls until next summer.

Police Chief Heath and his aids will commence the semiannual tour of inspection today.

GRASS VALLEY MINES BOUGHT

Idaho-Maryland and Union Hill in Deal

Los Angeles and Bay City Group Buyers

Purchase Price Reported at $2,500,000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 2.—The Idaho-Maryland Consolidated Mines, controlled by Los Angeles and San Francisco capitalists, have acquired control of the Idaho-Maryland and Union Hill mines at Grass Valley. Included in the deal are the entire holdings of Harry Payne Whitney, New York millionaire, and the Metals Exploration Company. The new corporation is headed by Edwin Letts Oliver and Frederick W. McNear.

The deal involved approximately $2,500,000, according to reports received here. It is announced that plans for reopening the mines and vigorous developments are being completed, with Errol MacBoyle to have full charge of operations. The Idaho-Maryland ranks among the greatest of California's gold producers, and is credited with a production exceeding $23,000,000.

Discovery of a rich deposit of cobalt is reported by the Marjohn Mines Company, operating a gold property in Calaveras county. The management asserts that the cobalt is one of the richest types ever found in the world and carries considerable arsenic and sulphur, and a little nickel.

The material was found while developing the gold veins. Five gold veins have been demonstrated in a tunnel has been started to tap the Enchantment vein system. Concentrators are being added to the mill, which is scheduled to go into operation in January.

The Mohawk Central Mining Company, controlled by M. J. Monnette, Capt. John A. Hassell and other Los Angeles capitalists, has practically completed arrangements for comprehensive development of the Buckingham group near Alleghany. Driving of the Elcey tunnel is proceeding with the purpose of opening the known ore bodies at greater depth. New work projected embraces 6000 feet of developments. It is reported here that Monnette and Hassell have withdrawn from the Gilbert (Nev.) district, after spending considerable money on the Homestake group.

With the Mason Valley smelter, at Wabuska, Nev., scheduled to begin work early in December, many gold companies of Inyo, Mono and adjacent California companies are preparing to resume production. The smelter is expected to provide a good market for medium-grade gold ores.

HELD AS LIQUOR OFFENDER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Nov. 1.—"Moonshine with a kick" is said to have been manufactured by a late arrival at the County Jail, one Frank Kzick, who was taken at his home in Humboldt. He had two grades, according to officers. One quality, especially intended for Mexican consumption, was flavored with red chili peppers.

NOTICE OF HEARING

Years to create ~ minutes to cremate your records!

A CONTRACT, made after months of patient planning, is only ashes in the lick of a flame. Private papers, accounts, inventories, tax data, customers' records—worth their weight in diamonds to your business. Only so much paper in a fire!

Look around your office now. How many valuable records do you see, on shelves, in desks, in cabinets, kicking around loose, a standing invitation to fire even in a fireproof building? One company recently was amazed to discover that $100,000 worth of its vital records—many of them irreplaceable—were wholly unprotected.

The mess you'd be in if your records burned—maybe it has never entered your mind. Suppose they do burn tonight—how can you carry on business tomorrow? What of the records you can't replace?

Every 24 hours, this country has 1500 ruinous fires. The fact that you escaped yesterday is no guarantee for tomorrow. Today, while you still have your records, send for the free Shaw-Walker booklet, "Years to Create, Minutes to Cremate". It will show you how to keep your vital papers safe. ## COTTON OFF OVER WEEK ON REPORT

Estimate for Large Crop Causes Declining Tendency to Suffuse Market

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The cotton market has been showing a weak and declining tendency throughout the past week, with the government's large crop estimate of 15,226,000 bale of last Monday the depressing factor. It was 467,000 bales more than its estimate of the previous fortnight and compares with the crop estimate of 13,566,000 bales put out based on the August 1 condition.

With such a heavy crop the third largest on record, there has been little incentive for new outside investment or speculative buying. Trade interests have been liquidating and disappointed bulls of the past two months leaving the market. Although other trade interests have been good buyers at times since the market had its big break of 100 to 120 points on Monday when the government's report was announced, the demand from such sources has not been sufficient to absorb the steady liquidation and hedge selling which has been appearing here and at New Orleans daily since then.

In Friday's trading there was another severe break which brought prices down to the lowest since May, 1922, for the general contract list here and also for spot cotton on the southern markets. It extended to between 50 and 60 points from Thursday's opening quotations, bringing December down to 19 1-4; January, 18.55 cents; March, 18.83 cents, May, 18.95 cents, and next July, 18.60 cents. Those prices which were the lowest of the day were the final quotations at the close, thereby showing the market's continued weakness.

They represent a total decline of 190 to 200 points from last Saturday's closing quotations or between the equivalent of $9.50 to $10 per bale. Spot markets have gone off between 1 1-2 and 2 cents a pound in the south with middling cotton now quoted as low as 18 cents at Montgomery to 18 1-2 cents at Mobile, Savannah and Augusta to 18 5-8 cents at New Orleans, 18 3-4 cents at Dallas and Norfolk to about 19 1-8 cents at Galveston and Houston.

Current crop estimates are ranging between fifteen and one-quarter and fifteen and one-half million bales without linters with another government crop estimate due November 9, covering the conditions to November 1 and still another on November 21, for the November 15 condition before the agricultural bureau's annual crop estimate appears on December 8. There is a possibility, however, that last Monday's estimate of 15,226,000 bales without linters may be the peak figures on the crop, as they were compiled to October 18. Since then there have been excessive rains in most sections of the cotton belt. In supplementing frosts over the central and western States freezing weather conditions have occurred the last two days over the northern half of the belt from Texas to Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee and the northern half of Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia, with heavy frosts over Western South and North Carolina.

These conditions have caused a good deal of damage by lowering the grade of cotton open in the fields and preventing any further top crop development. Therefore it may be definitely stated now that the crop is through producing any further cotton of importance. Also that there will be a great deal of low-grade cotton in the last pickings, besides a large amount of what is known as "bollie" cotton, or that which like linters is unspinnable; and therefore undeliverable on contracts on either this or the New Orleans exchanges.

After the first half of the crop has been marketed or placed under contract these conditions may be an important factor, in not only checking the slump in the price of the staple, but in later on probably causing some good recovery. Meanwhile current prices compare with 25 to 25½ cents early in August, when the government reports were making the crop around thirteen and one-half million bales and between 23 and 24 cents at this time last year.

Chicago Wheat Trading Hard to Understand

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The action of the Chicago wheat market, as well as that of leading traders, is hard for the average operator to understand. The situation is unlike anything which the trade has ever encountered. Fluctuations are so numerous and sharp and the outside trade is so light that it is difficult for the large operators to make turns of good-sized lines without materially affecting values.

With the bulk of the speculative trading professional, the large operators frequently find that advances and declines are the result of their purchases or sales, and when they cease it requires comparatively little trading on the part of the pit element to cause sharp rallies from breaks and recessions from bulges. With the trade so nearly balanced, the market is nervous and values are more susceptible to pit operations than the general run of news. Trade sentiment in the May is bearish, and has been largely so during an advance of 2½c from the recent low point to the high level of the past week, with the close 3⅝@4c higher on December, 1⅝@2⅛c up on May and 1⅝c higher on July.

A striking feature of the wheat situation at Chicago is the smallness of contract stocks, less than 2,000,000 bushels, with a good decrease the past week, and little prospect of supplies here being increased, unless there is an advance that will make it profitable to move grain from the Northwest to Chicago.

Farmers in the Northwest and Southwest are marketing wheat with a little more freedom, but the volume is below the average. This situation is due to smaller crops in the winter wheat States and to farmers' holdings, as they believe that the United States is on a domestic basis, which is true as far as exports go, there being little domestic wheat sold abroad other than durums.

Seeding of winter wheat has been stopped by unusually cold weather, with freezing temperatures over a large part of the area which is unfavorable, but it is too early to talk of crop injury.

Oats are down to the lowest of the season, yet prices are not increasing consumption any extent, and speculative interest is light. Elevator interests have not been particularly noticeable in turning over their hedges from December to May.

CONGRESSMAN TO BE CITY CLUB SPEAKER

Congressman John P. Hill of Maryland, "the man who made wine in his back yard in order to test the prohibition law," will be the speaker at the open forum at the City Club this evening, when he will discuss the prohibition report of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in American. Next Wednesday at noon Dr. Hugh K. Walker will speak on "The Awakening Orient."

COUNCIL PLANS SALARY JUMP

May Give $40,000 a Year More to 140 Employees

Action Due in Jumble Over Pay Rise Efforts

Mayor Reserves Authority to Veto Increase

Following the charge made in Council session by President Workman that "some city employees spend most of their time trying to get their pay raised," the City Council majority is preparing to grant salary increases as Christmas presents to 140 city employees, totalling an annual increased expense of about $40,000.

The pay increases were approved by the Budget Committee of the former City Council. Before the City Employees can receive the additions to their pay checks the adoption of ordinances establishing the increases by the present Council is necessary. A few of the increases approved by the former budget committee have been plucked from the list and sent through the Council over the objections of President Workman and Councilman Ash, chairman of the City Council's Finance Committee and of the Special Salary Standardization Committee.

Councilman Sparks last week prepared the way for action on the list of rises for 140 employees by demanding that the list be returned to the Council by the Special Salary Standardization Committee. The report will be received by the Council this morning.

It declares that the committee could take no action on the rises until the Civil Service Commission had completed its classification of all city employees, provided for by the new charter. But the "joker" in the committee's report is that the committee returned the list to the Council "for immediate action." This clause is expected to give encouragement to the 140 city employees to urge the Councilmen to adopt the ordinances granting the increases. If this is done it then will be necessary for the Mayor to sign the ordinances. If he does this, the rises will become effective about Christmas. At the time the budget was prepared, the Mayor expressed the opinion that the rises were being approved in a haphazard, unscientific fashion, and said that he reserved the fight to veto the ordinances when they came before him.

EQUIPMENT TO AID GAS PRESSURE

Two New Compressors Will Go Into Service in Next Few Days

Two new gas compressors each of 1,000,000 cubic feet an hour-capacity will go into service within a few days, officials of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation stated yesterday.

The new compressors, of high and low-pressure type, are located at the corporation's main compressor station at Ducommun-street gas works. The low-pressure apparatus is of the contrifugal kind, capable of delivering 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas an hour at a maximum pressure of five pounds. The high-pressure compressor is a horizontal, duplex, double-acting Corliss type and can deliver every hour 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas raised from atmospheric to a maximum of sixty pounds pressure.

OVERTIME IN ENGINEER'S OFFICE HIGH

Suggestions to Eliminate Monthly Bugaboo Sought by Councilmen

The increasing amount of overtime paid employees of the City Engineer's department, which has been a source of grief to finance committees of the City Councils of the past few years, is scheduled to be considered again by the present Finance Committee this afternoon.

The committee will have before it the engineering department overtime bill for September, which was $15,948, as compared with $9000 paid for overtime in August.

Efficiency Director Knox will report to the committee this afternoon, and is expected to recommend that in some cases overtime can be eliminated by requiring men to take a day off as compensation for the overtime they have worked.

AUTO SLAYER HUNTED

Body of Man Found at Roadside Said to be Collision Victim

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Nov. 1.—The body of Moses Gutierrez, 23 years of age, was found by the side of a concrete road near Mesa. A Coroner's jury decided that he had met death by skull fracture, received when he was struck by an automobile driven by some unknown person. A search for the driver is being made.

Manuel Moreno, 12 years of age, was killed under the wheels of an auto truck before which the boy ran while at play. Death was due directly to cutting of the jugular vein.

Mrs. F. M. Munk of Superior is in hospital here, very seriously injured in the overturning on the Superior road of an automobile driven by her brother, Sidney Cochran. Other members of the party of five are in Mesa and Superior hospitals with minor injuries.

William Dorman, a lineman employed by the Water Users' Association, has been brought to a Phoenix hospital and is expected to recover, though at Mormon Flat he short-circuited through his body a 45,000-volt electric current. In addition, while his clothing was burning he sustained bad bruises in falling from the top of a pole on which he had been working.

CIRCLES GLOBE ON SIXTH TRIP

President Harrison Due to Dock Here Today

Liner Steams 181,000 Miles on Schedule Time

Many Prominent Passengers to Disembark Here

The record of having circumnavigated the globe six consecutive times in less than two years, during which she steamed 181,000 miles, without once being off her express schedule, will have been established by the Dollar around-the-world liner President Harrison when she arrives at the port at daylight this morning.

One hundred world travelers and 3000 tons of cargo are being brought in by the President Harrison, which, as the Dollar Line's pathfinder, sailed from this port on December 31, 1923, in the inauguration of the service in which seven 20,000-ton steamers now shuttle about the globe on fortnightly schedule.

Among her prominent passengers are J. A. Patton, Chicago grain king, accompanied by his wife; Joseph Young, United States manager for the shipping concern of Thomas Cook and Son, and Mrs. Young; Mr. and Mrs. Gale McDowell and their two daughters of Hollywood, and Dr. D. S. Gillespie of Chicago.

Others to disembark here include Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dugan of Portland, Or.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Forrer of Parkersburg, W. Va.; Miss F. M. Woodhead and Miss Villa Nye of Los Angeles; Miss E. Mang of Miami; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wibeaux of London; Miss Mary J. Desmond of Los Angeles; Miss Cecilia Gillespie, Chicago; Mrs. Charles O. Goodwin and Mrs. Etta D. Goodwin of Los Angeles; Mrs. Elsie Gurtner of New York; Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Harris, Los Angeles; C. L. Lukes and Miss Dorothy Suess, Los Angeles; Miss Sarah L. Walker, Worcester, Mass., and Miss Isabelle Whyte and Mrs. G. W. Witherall, Los Angeles.

HEAVY TONNAGE OF COAST PRODUCTS TO LEAVE

Twenty-five thousand tons of Pacific Coast products will leave Los Angeles today for London on three offshore steamers, their combined cargoes being valued at approximately $1,500,000. The Isthmian liner Memphis City and the British motor liner Lochgoil of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Line will both take out diversified cargoes, of which a large portion is Imperial Valley cotton loaded at Los Angeles. The third ship is the British tramp steamer Berwindmore, which put in for bunkers yesterday carrying a cargo of Canadian grain from Victoria for the United Kingdom.

Two more windjammers are due at the harbor this week, to add to the rapidly increasing fleet of square-riggers and fore-and-afters. The steamer Santa Inez, towing the five-masted schooner Rose Mahoney, is due from the Atlantic Coast today, after having delivered a lumber and pole cargo at Norfolk, while the steamer Forest King, towing the steel ship John Ena, is due late tomorrow from Seattle.

The five-masted barkentine Forest Dream, which put in here last week with a disabled steering gear while en route from Victoria to Mauritius with lumber, is now in dry dock at the plant of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation undergoing repairs before resuming her 18,000-mile voyage.

W. G. Annable, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company, arrived in town yesterday for a look at the port's facilities before returning to his home office at Montreal. Mr. Annable has been on the Coast to attend the passenger conference, which recently was held at San Francisco.

Purchase of four Lake-type freight steamers from the United States Shipping Board by the firm of Pillsbury & Curtis, local marine surveyors and naval architects, was announced yesterday by the purchasers. The vessels are the Lake Superior, Lake Caralless, Lake Coquinan and Lake Cardenas. The steamers, said to be in good operating condition, are all of steel construction and of about 2500 tons deadweight. Two of the vessels are at New Orleans, a third at Hog Island and the fourth at Orange, Tex. Capt. Leb Curtis said that the tonnage was purchased as an investment, he being of the opinion that there will soon be a demand for this type of vessel when the freight market shows the improvement that he expects in the near future.

The Imperial Japanese naval tanker Ondo, which has been in port since Saturday loading a fuel oil cargo at the General Petroleum terminal, will sail today for the Japanese Naval Reserve base at Tokuyama.

An upward revision of rates on all seasonal commodities, effective March 1, 1926, will today be adopted by the eastbound intercoastal conference. The increase in seasonal freight represents an advance of 10 per cent over prevailing rates and a similar advance is soon to be made on other items in the intercoastal tariff. This latter increase will not be effective, however, until January 1, next.

The commodities to be effected by the seasonal increase are beans, cotton, wool, mohair, canned goods and dried fruit.

The committee appointed by the eastbound conference to revise the tariff on nonseasonable commodities is composed of Zac T. George of the Luckenbach Steamship Company, John E. Cushing of the American-Hawaiian Line, R. J. Ringwood of the Pacific Steamship Company and George Teter.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—Figures compiled by the Marine Department of the Chamber of Commerce show that more ships arrived at this port during the month of October than any other month of the current year, and that the tonnage departing was considerably more than any month of the last two years. Last month vessels aggregating 390,320 tons arrived from foreign lands, while a total of 322,380 tons was listed for departing vessels in the same trade.

The Italian steamship Cherca, second vessel of the newly established Mediterranean service of the Navigazione Libera Triestina, from Central European ports, is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow morning.

The Plave of the same line, with the arrival of which the new service was inaugurated, departed this port yesterday homeward bound, with more than 10,000 tons of cargo from San Francisco and Puget Sound ports.

SEATTLE, Nov. 1.—Yamashita Company announced here today that it would handle nine vessels of the Yamashita Kisen Kaisha Company on the Pacific Coast in the next fourteen days. The nine ships are to load wheat and lumber for the Far East. Two other boats of the concern were loaded and sent to the Orient last week.

W. L. Comyn & Co. announced today that its Seattle manager, Neil Haig, will leave in three weeks for Australia to study shipping conditions in the Antipodes.

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 1.—Products of the Philippines, China and Japan delivered at Portland in the last few days for reshipment to Atlantic Coast destinations were dispatched today on board the steamer Hawaiian.

Cargo discharged Thursday by the steamer West O'Rowa from the Philippines by way of Japan, and that unloaded last night from the steamer Dewey, arriving from North China ports, were included in freight restowed on the Hawaiian.

On taking aboard the last of a full cargo the Nelson Line steamer Griffco departed last night for Coos Bay, Humboldt Bay and San Francisco. The Cricket, also of the Nelson Service, which arrived with 500 tons of cement and some general freight, sailed for Gray's Harbor to take on a lumber cargo for San Francisco.

GIRL SEEKS LOVE BALM OF $75,000

Asserted Stock Swindler Blighted Her Romance, Witness Will Testify

The story of a romance that ended in disillusionment will be told in Superior Court today when the suit of Miss Dotty Stueber of Chicago against J. E. Roman-Checa for $75,000 goes to trial. Roman-Checa will not be in court though that will not be the fault of Dist.-Atty. Keyes, who has been trying to extradite Roman-Checa from New Orleans since last July on charges that he sold stock in a nonexistent steamship line and banana plantation.

Miss Stueber, according to her attorney, Morris Abraham, met Roman-Checo a year ago on a train from Chicago, and he was so struck with her that he proposed as the train rolled into Los Angeles. During the next few weeks, it is declared, he showered her with attention, promised her a $48,000 home in Pasadena and a honeymoon trip to South America, and finally won her consent. He posed as an Ecuador millionaire. Then she learned he already was married, it is said. Through his attorney, Rollin McNitt, Roman-Checa filed an answer denying he made love to Miss Stueber.

The criminal charges are made by Walter F. Parker, who asserts he gave Roman-Checa $2000 cash and $500,000 in notes for interests in the supposed steamship and banana business. There is also a suit on file against him brought by Arthur and Jane Vaillancourt of South Pasadena for $48,000, based on fraud.

THIEF ROBS MOURNER ON BURIAL TRIP

The saddest of all journeys was rendered even darker for Mrs. Mayme Byers of Arbuckle yesterday.

Mrs. Byers and her two children, 4 and 5 years of age, were accompanying the body of her husband, who died in Tucson, Ariz., Friday home to Arbuckle. They arrived at 2:15 p.m. yesterday at the Southern Pacific station, and were to take a train out at 6:15.

When it came time for Mrs. Byers and her children to eat she discovered that they were penniless. All the money she had, $200, had been taken from her handbag. The theft occurred, she believed, while she was in the woman's restroom

Appeal was made to the Travelers' Aid Society when Mrs. Byers reported her loss. The society provided sufficient funds to take care of Mrs. Byers and her children until they reach their home.

POLITE GAIETY

Laugh all you like, if people say
"He's very well behaved today!"
To have good manners doesn't mean
You must be stiff, or saccharine.
A well-bred child can be as gay
As Goops, who misbehave all day!

DRIVERS HIT IN RULING AS TO CHILDREN

Illinois Supreme Court Fixes Responsibility in Injury Cases

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Any driver of a motor-vehicle or any streetcar motorman who strikes a child of tender years is entirely responsible regardless of the child's carelessness or recklessness for any injuries done the youngster.

This is a ruling of the Illinois Supreme Court in upholding the decision of the lower courts and the Chicago Surface Lines are ordered to pay $18,000 to John Liska, 10 years of age, of Dunning, Ill., who was run down by a street car and suffered the amputation of his right foot.

The child was 5 years of age when the accident happened and the case has been in the courts ever since. He was playing with a group of children. All of them dashed into the street on some sudden impulse and the Liska boy was struck by a swiftly moving car. A lower court awarded the father of the lad an $18,000 verdict. The Appellate Court upheld the decision and it was then carried to the Supreme Court, where it had been under advisement four years.

The court holds that all drivers of motor vehicles must expect children to do strange things and must have their vehicles under such control that they can stop instantly, or be responsible for the results.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

Por el Profesor R. Guerrero
DEL DEPARTAMENTO ESPANOL DE "THE TIMES"

Número 376

En el último párrafo de la Plática 374 dice "tención" por "atención"; en el penúltimo de la 375 dice "insiges" por "insignes", y dos renglones más abajo, "Se la trata con despego" por "Se le trata con despego".

Para dar por terminados mis comentarios sobre el artículo de Z., cuyo último párrafo transcribí en mi Plática 355, diré que en la frase: "no se LA permite que se explique nada", que viene tras la oración: "Se la trata con despego", hay que reemplazar "la" por "le" y decir: "no se LE permite que se explique nada", pues en este ejemplo se halla el pronombre en dativo, y la Academia justificadamente condena la forma "la" para el dativo femenino, no obstante que muy estimables escritores la hayan empleado. Hablando de una mujer no se diga, pues: "La vi un sombrero azul", ni "La hablo todos los días", sino "Le vi un sombrero azul" y "Le hablo todos los días".

Un estimable lector norteamericano desea tener guía segura para el uso acertado, ya del indicativo, ya del subjunto, en la oración subordinada de los períodos temporales construídos con el adverbio relativo "cuando".

"Cuando" indica la simultaneidad de los hechos expresados en las dos oraciones del período temporal—la prótasis y la apódosis. Esta simultaneidad, dice la Academia en su Gramática, puede referirse al presente, al pasado o al futuro.

Cuando la simultaneidad se refiere al presente, sigue diciendo la obra citada, indica "cuando" la ocasión o circunstancia en que se verifica el hecho, también presente, de la oración principal. El presente puede ser "real", "histórico" o "habitual".—En presente real: "Te engañas cuando, en la fuerza y el poder fiando, piensas que todo a tu querer se allana" (You delude yourself when, trusting to strength and power, you think that everything will be leveled before your will (Quintana, "Pelayo", IV. 4).—En presente histórico: "Cuando hace (Cisneros) quemar en Granada los manuscritos arábigos, nos parece casi un salvaje; cuando funda la Universidad, publica la Biblia complutense y se dispone a publicar una magnífica edición de Aristoteles, nos parece un gran protector de las letras y de las ciencias" (When he—Cisneros—causes the Arabic manuscripts to be burned in Granada, we look upon him as little short of a savage; when he founds the University, publishes the Complutensian Bible, and prepares to publish a magnificent edition of Aristotle, we look upon him as a patron of literature and science) (Valera, "Disertaciones", pag. 272).—En presente habitual, denotando un hecho que se repite siempre que concurren las mismas circunstancias: "La vejez se descubre más cuando más se procura encubrir" (Old age shows most when one most endeavors to hide it) (Fray Luis de León, "La perfecta casada", 12).

Note el lector que siempre que la oración principal de un período temporal está en presente, la subordinada, que comienza por "cuando", se construye también en presente, y, como puede observarse, no es necesario que dicho presente sea real o actual, como el del primer ejemplo citado en el párrafo anterior, sino que en muchos casos es un presente de indicativo histórico, y en la mayoría de ellos, es un presente de indicativo habitual.

Número 377

En el histórico, como el del segundo ejemplo, el hecho de que se trata no es presente sino en la imaginación, que lo ve como tal, y como tal lo expresa quien habla para dar mayor fuerza y viveza al discurso. El presente habitual, que es el que más usamos en la conversación, no denota actos que se ejecutan en el momento preciso en que se habla, sino actos que, por costumbre, o por ocupación temporal, se repiten durante un tiempo indefinido: "Me baño todos los días" (I bathe every day); "¿Qué haces en Filadelfia, Ferando? Estudio medicina" (What are you doing in Philadelphia, Ferdinand? I study medicine). También expresa hechos que son permanentemente ciertos, como los enunciados por principios físicos o morales, definiciones, axiomas, postulados, teoremas, etc.: "el hidrógeno pesa menos que el aire"; "el hombre es mortal"; "el todo es mayor que la parte"; "las plantas necesitan agua para vivir"; "el envidioso nunca está contento".

Los períodos temporales construídos en presente de indicativo, lo están casi siempre en presente habitual, y en ellos, la oración subordinada, que empieza por "cuando", expresa, como dice el señor Cuervo, la circunstancia u ocasión en que se verifica o repite durante un espacio de tiempo indefinido el hecho denotado por la proposición principal. Es lo que puede verse en el lugar de Fray Luis de León arriba transcrito, y en estos otros ejemplos: "Cuando el mar es barrido por la tormenta naufragan muchas embarcaciones" (When the sea is swept by a storm, many a ship is wrecked); "Cuando llega el invierno emgiran las golondrinas" (When winter comes the swallows migrate).

Cuando la simultaneidad se refiere a lo futuro, nos dice la Gramática de la Academia, denota el adverbio "cuando" la circunstancia en que se verificará lo expresado en la oración principal, y se construye con presente (ame) o con futuro de subjuntivo (amare).—Con presente: "Veremos los progresos de esta nación y sus grandes hazañas cuando hablemos de la serie de sus reyes y esté menos pendiente la narración principal" (We shall see the advances of this nation and her great exploits, when we speak of the series of her kings and the main narrative is less incomplete) (Solís, "Conquista de Méjico", II, 3).—Con futuro: con este tiempo adquiere la oración sentido hipotético, y viene a equivaler muchas veces a un período condicional de tercera forma: "Cuando pudiere y debiere tener lugar la equidad, no cargues todo el rigor de la ley al delincuente" (Whenever there can and should be room for equity, do not let all the rigor of the law weigh upon the offender) ("Quijote", II, 42); "¿Qué harán las doncellas criadas en señorío delicado, cuando se vieren en dura servidumbre?" (What will maidens do, who have been bred in the refinement of high state, when they see themselves under harsh servitude?) (Pulgar "Crónica"); "No temas cuando el hombre enriqueciere mucho y vieres que se multiplica la gloria de su casa, porque cuando muriere, no llevará consigo sus cosas, ni descenderá con él su gloria" (Do not worry when man gets very rich and you see that the glory of his household manifoldly increases, for when he shall die, he shall not take his things with him, nor shall his glory follow him down) (Fray Luis de Granada).

NEW ISLAND BELIEVED TO BE IN ARCTIC

Another Continent May Be Found North of Bering Straits

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Nov. 1.—Two passengers on the Hudson Bay steamer Baychimo, from Herschel Island, and men who have been in the North for about seven years, reported that they are certain a large island or another continent lies to the north of Bering Straits.

Eskimos who have been trading with these white men, have told of their forefathers being blown to this island and only getting back with great difficulty.

The description given by the natives is that it is vast land with high mountains, large rivers and fertile valleys, but that the evil spirit lives there and to prevent visitors, surrounds it with ice.

Old-time residents in the North believe the Indians and think there is another Australia to the north of Siberia. Wild geese fly from there in the spring, and it is contended by the settlers that there must be warm springs or open water of some kind or the geese would not go so far north.

Woman Seeks Recovery From Horse Traders

Declaring false representations were employed by Roy L. Davis in selling her a mare, Girl of My Dreams, for $10,000, Christine Weber has brought suit in Superior Court to have the sale declared rescinded.

Mrs. Weber asserted Davis and another defendant named as "John Doe," told her the mare had never been shown, was capable of developing five gaits, was in perfect health and that the defendants had purchased her for $6500.

The plaintiff asserted these representations were false and that the mare suffered a marked weakness of the front legs. Mrs. Weber also stated the mare had been shown, was incapable of five gaits and was worth not to exceed $3500.

She asked that the defendants be restrained from disposing of two promissory notes for $2500 each and requested judgment of $5000, which, she declared, she gave as consideration in purchasing the mare. The complaint was prepared by Attorney John C. Miles.

Land Purchase Urged for Park and Playground

Superintendent of Parks Shearer has made a favorable report to the Board of Park Commissioners on the proposed establishment of a combination public park and playground in the Van Nuys district on Kester avenue, near the Van Nuys High School.

The report said this twenty-acre tract will provide neighborhood park and playground service for a square mile of territory. There now is a swimming pool, cottage and tennis courts on the property and fifteen acres of walnut trees.

Supt. Shearer recommended that the Playground Department purchase the property with bond money and establish organized play features, while the Park Department would improve and maintain as a park all of the land not used by the Playground Department.

Beating Victim Quits Hospital to be Stabbed

Ruben Rodriguez, 1328 North Main street, came to the Receiving Hospital late Saturday night with a broken nose and both eyes blackened. He said two men had attacked him at Macy and Date streets.

Rodriguez spent the night in the hospital, leaving yesterday morning. Four hours later he was brought back unconscious, with stab wounds in the chest and back.

Police reported that he was found near the scene of the Saturday night attack. Rodriguez, still unconscious, was removed to the General Hospital. It is said he will recover.

The reason for the attacks is still a mystery.

FOUR DEAD IN AUTO MISHAPS

Train Kills Car Occupants Stalled on Crossing

Woman Crushed to Death in Three-Car Smash-up

Civil War Veteran Succumbs to Injuries by Bus

Traffic and grade-crossing accidents in and near Los Angeles yesterday took a toll of four lives. Two of the deaths occurred when a Southern Pacific passenger train plunged into an automobile stalled on the Otterbein crossing, near Puente, the scene of a similar accident three weeks ago which cost five lives.

The dead are:

Mrs. Josephine Gasch, 38 years of age, of 2143 Valleybrink Road.

William Peterson, 70, veteran of the Soldiers' Home, Sawtelle.

Fidel Telles, 20, Abbey street, Puente.

Mrs. Gasch was killed almost instantly when an automobile crashed into two other cars which had collided a few seconds previously at the intersection of Glendale Boulevard and Valleybrink Road, according to a report to the police by Fred A. Gasch, the husband of the dead woman. He was driving his machine north on Glendale Boulevard and, in attempting to make a left turn at the intersection, his car collided with a machine driven by Tod Burns, of [illegible] South Valencia street. The two drivers got out of their cars to investigate. Mrs. Gasch also left her seat and was examining the damage done to a rear wheel of Burns's car when the third machine smashed into the other two cars, striking Mrs. Gasch and crushing her against the back of the Burns automobile.

The driver of the third car disappeared in the confusion which followed. The machine which struck Mrs. Gasch was registered to H. L. Mumford of 1412 Coronado Terrace. The police were unable to locate Mumford at that address.

Mrs. Gasch was first taken to the Monte Sano Hospital by a passing motorist, and then brought to Receiving Hospital, where she died a few minutes later. The body was removed to the mortuary of the L. G. Scovern Company in Glendale, pending an inquest, scheduled for today.

William Peterson, aged Civil War veteran, died from injuries received when he was run over by a bus operated by the Bay Cities Transportation Company, according to the Venice police. The police reported that the old soldier fell under the wheels when he alighted from the bus at the intersection of Wavecrest street and the Speedway, and missed his footing. Peterson was an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle. The body was removed to the Sharpe & Nolan undertaking parlors in Santa Monica. The driver of the bus, Walter Daugherty, address not reported, was released, pending a Coroner's inquest.

Manuel Zemegas, 22, Abbey street, Puente.

The two Mexicans were driving over the Otterbein crossing, between Puente and Walnut, six miles west of Pomona, where the David[illegible] family was virtually wiped out recently. The Sunset Limited, Southern Pacific train, struck their light touring car, killing Zemegas outright. He was head of a family. His body was taken on the train to Pomona.

A passing motorist started with Telles to Pomona Valley Hospital, Pomona, but death occurred before arrival there. Telles was single. The bodies are at Todd & Reeves, Pomona undertakers. Deputy Sheriffs Hodis and Weir are investigating.

CHAMBER TO STRENGTHEN ARIZONA TIE

Committee Will Cement Cordial Relations Between State and California

The Arizona relations committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, thirty-two strong, left last night for Phoenix, Ariz., as the guests of the Arizona Industrial Congress, the purpose being to strengthen the business relations between the two States.

The party was headed by William Lacy, former president of the chamber, and chairman of the Arizona relations committee, and R. W. Pridham, president of the chamber. They will return to Los Angeles at 2:15 p.m. Thursday.

While in Arizona the Los Angeles men will have numerous conferences with business men of the neighboring State, with the aim of cementing the cordial relations already existing.

Among those who started on the trip are W. I. Hollingsworth, C. C. C. Tatum, Harry Haldeman, Milton G. Cooper, Waller Taylor, S. E. Gates, J. A. McNaughton, John P. Burke and W. T. Bishop.

The Hotel Adams will be the headquarters for the delegation during its stay in Phoenix, where a banquet will be tendered the Los Angeles men by the industrial congress tonight. Tomorrow the party will motor to Mormon Flat Lake and tour the Salt River Valley irrigation project. They will then continue to Roosevelt Dam, Miami and Globe. The night will be spent at the Dominion Hotel, Globe.

On Wednesday the morning will be devoted to inspecting the various copper mines and smelters about Globe and the party then will go by automobile to Tucson, passing through the towns of Superior and Florence, the center of the area to be irrigated by the new Coolidge dam. The night will be spent at the Santa Rita Hotel, Tucson.

The delegation left in two Pullman cars by way of the Southern Pacific. The cars will pick up the party at Tucson, returning to Los Angeles. F. L. S. Harmon, assistant secretary of the chamber, accompanied the delegation.

CHICAGOAN SEEKS SITE FOR PLANT

Head of Manufacturing Company Negotiating for Cligett Factory

Negotiating for an industrial site that ultimately will represent and investment of more than $300,000, and on which a factory employing more than 200 skilled workers will rise, Fred Nachman, president of the nationally known Nachman-Springfilled Company of Chicago, was registered at the Biltmore Hotel yesterday.

A deal by which the Nachman company will buy out the plant of the Cligett Manufacturing Company located in the Central Manufacturing District, near Maywood, has practically been completed, the Chicago manufacturer admitted yesterday. The conclusion of the transaction is expected to take place today. The Cligett plant will be enlarged and remodeled according to plans already designed.

The Nachman-Springfilled Company is one of the largest manufacturers of automobile and furniture seat springs in the country and its product is used exclusively by many automobile and furniture companies throughout the country.

PRANKS TAKE HEAVY TOLL

Damages Resulting From Customary Halloween Festivities Run Into Thousands

Damage which, in the aggregate, amounted to many thousands of dollars, resulted from the customary prankish preliminaries to All [illegible] Day, police estimated yesterday from complaints that kept pouring into all the station houses all day long. Though eight or nine hundred extra policemen were on duty Halloween, they contented themselves for the most part with restraining such exuberance as came under their direct notice, and made few arrests. A total of only six persons charged with Halloween crimes were booked, though arrests for intoxication were numerous.

Broken windows, stolen doormats, smashed street lights and injuries to automobiles made up the bulk of the complaints.

William Hawke, 15 years of age, of 116 Colorado street, Santa Monica, and Humberto Duron, 14, of [illegible] 1-2 One Hundred and Ninth street, were arrested by Officer [illegible] of the Sawtelle Division charged with throwing stones through the windows of the home of Jesse L. Cavinaugh, principal

CITY MANUFACTURERS FORCED TO DOUBLE CAPACITY WITHIN PERIOD OF EIGHTEEN MONTHS

H.E. PORONTO
© Witzel

"Three of the larger manufacturing firms established in the Central Manufacturing District during the last eighteen months have found it necessary to double their capacity," H. E. Poronto, president of the district organization, said yesterday, and he sees in that and other signs of the times "a certain indication of the possibilities now available to industry in Southern California."

"The success of our industrial project in Los Angeles," said Mr. Poronto, who is executive head also of the Chicago Central Manufacturing District, "has justified our decision made more than three years ago to spend several millions of dollars in developing a great manufacturing center here. We see business here on the upgrade.

"The return of prosperity all over the United States is bound to reflect favorably in Southern California. However, if the State is to profit from the prosperity wave to the fullest extent, California must advertise and make her corporation and inheritance tax laws more favorable to business men of the East.

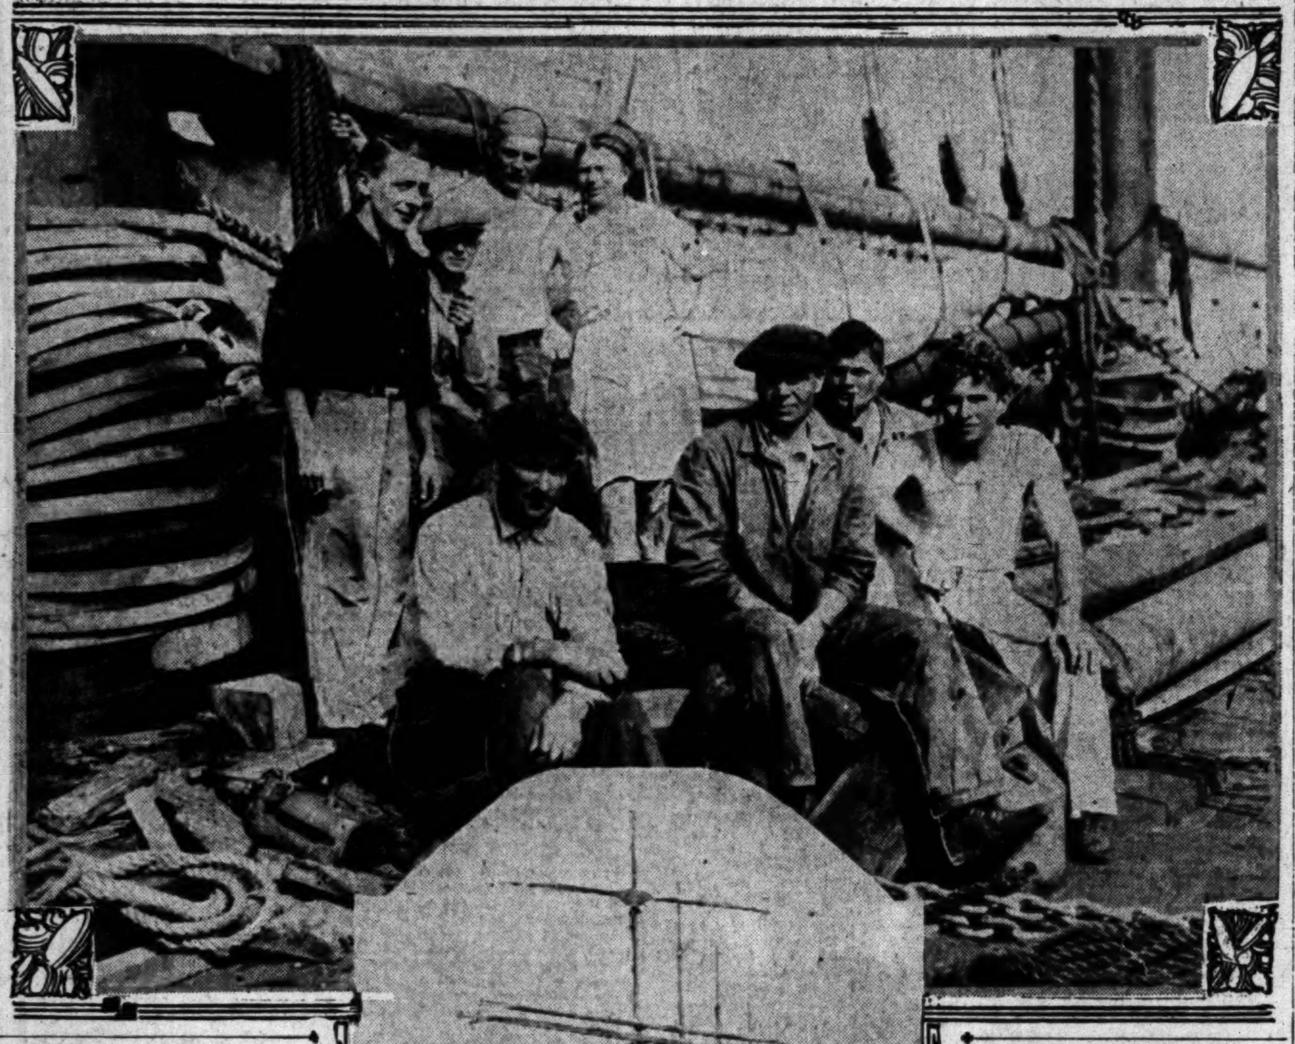
"Eastern manufacturers are looking toward Los Angeles as the logical center for manufacturing and distributing products to the rapidly expanding Pacific Coast field. Pacific Coast manufacturers are now shipping many of their products to the Atlantic seaboard and are able to compete favorably with eastern manufacturers.

"California has climate, water transportation, an abundance of agricultural, mineral and forest products for raw materials and her possibilities in manufacturing are practically unlimited.

"However, to share in this business to the fullest possible extent, California must do four things and do them quickly: She must revise her present unfavorable corporation laws; she must repeal her present inheritance tax; she must have faster train service, and she must advertise more extensively. She must do these things in order to compete with the southwestern section, and the Atlantic seaboard, to attract visitors and to attract population."

SKELETON CREW MANS BARK ON PERILOUS VOYAGE

Five-Master Prepares for Long Cruise With Only Twelve Hands



Bound for Far-Off Mauritius

The Forest Dream's sailormen are shown on the deck of the craft in the upper photo. In the lower picture she is shown in Los Angeles Harbor.

"SAILING aint what it used to be," sadly ruminated Capt. Walter H. Meyers, master of the five-masted barkentine Forest Dream, when he brought the giant windjammer into Los Angeles Harbor Friday in distress.

The Forest Dream is en route to Mauritius, off the African East Coast, a trip of 18,000 miles.

The Forest Dream, hoisting more than 30,000 square feet of canvas, is manned by a total crew of twelve men—six seamen, a cook, a steward, a carpenter, two mates and the master.

SKELETON CREW

This skeleton crew is taking the Forest Dream on a voyage around Cape Horn, around the Cape of Good Hope and up into the Indian Ocean, over the routes which, in the old days, was traversed by clipper ships much smaller than the giant barkentine, but manned by crews of eighty to more than 100 men.

Capt. Meyers and the ship's owners are betting the small crew against the chances that she will encounter no dangerous storms.

Carrying 2,000,000 feet of lumber, the Forest Dream sailed on October 17, last, from Victoria for Mauritius direct. Last Wednesday she encountered a northerly gale off the coast that disabled her steering gear and Capt. Meyers headed for the local port, sailing right up to an anchorage in the dead of night past the anchored battle fleet without the aid of a tug or pilot.

WILL CIRCLE GLOBE

Before she returns here the barkentine will have circumnavigated the globe. She will discharge her lumber at Port Louis, Mauritius, load soda and return home via Australia—thus running her easting down completely around the world.

Capt. Meyers, her skipper, is one of the old school of sailing-ship men. On square-riggers of the post-clipper period he made nineteen successive voyages around Cape Horn and has sailed in windjammers for thirty-nine years.

The Forest Dream is one of the largest barkentines afloat. She is of 1427 net tons, with a length of 242 feet and was built in 1919 at Aberdeen, Wash.

NEW HEAD OF ITALIAN OFFICE HERE

Venetian With World War Medals Will Take Over Foreign Bureau

Count Gradenigo

Count Gradenigo of S. Giustina, Consul of His Majesty, the King of Italy, today will assume charge of the Los Angeles affairs of the Italian Foreign Office. The Count arrived here Saturday evening and is a guest at the Ambassador.

Italy's local Foreign Office heretofore has been in charge of some Italian in business here. Enrico Piana has been the local consular agent for the country for the past eighteen months. He will be with Count Gradenigo for a time and then will withdraw to devote his efforts entirely to his travel bureau.

Count Gradenigo comes of a Venetian family. He was a captain in the war and served through its entire duration. He was an airman and then an instructor in flying. Before the war he was in the diplomatic service in Rio De Janeiro, South America. More recently he has been in Italy's Foreign Office in London and came here from there several weeks ago. He was secretary for a time to the Director-General of the Foreign Office in Rome.

Belgian and Italian medals have been bestowed on the Count for his military services.

NO PLAY DAYS FOR JACK HOLT

Jack Holt is to have little opportunity to take a vacation at the conclusion of his present picture. He is now being starred in "The Enchanted Hill" at the Famous Players-Lasky studio and will begin work immediately after it is finished in "Sea Horses."

Reserve Corps Training School Opens Tonight

The "Winter Plattsburg," Los Angeles group, the training school for Regular, National Guard and Reserve officers of the Army of the United States, begins its sessions tonight at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Building. Lieut.-Col. James M. Hutchinson, Q.M., U.S.A., is in charge of the conference.

Similar winter Plattsburgs are being held in more than twenty of the larger cities throughout the United States.

MEETING FOR BOTANISTS

The regular monthly meeting of the botanical section of the Southern California Academy of Sciences will be held at the Public Library at 7:45 o'clock this evening.

OPEN SHOP CONFEREES WILL MEET

Industrial Leaders of West to Hold Three-Day Session at San Diego

Many leaders of industry will assemble in San Diego this week for a three-day conference beginning Thursday on the American-plan open shop system in industry and business. For the most part they will come from that region west of the Mississippi. Sessions will take place in the Hotel Del Coronado, Coronado Beach. A. C. Rees of Salt Lake City will be chairman.

The conference is described by its chairman as "an intensive training in organization and management to industrial executives." The last one of the kind was held in Kansas City in April. M. J. Perrin of the San Diego Manufacturers' and Employers' Association principally is in charge of arrangements. A delegation from Los Angeles will attend.

Twelve points, described in the program as pivotal subjects, will be the basis for discussion. They are "Community Achievements," "Unionism's Attempted Invasion of Public Schools," "Analysis of the Policy of the American Federation of Labor as Outlined at its Atlantic City Convention," "Employment Service," "Selling the Open Shop to Uncle Sam," "The Wage Question, "Scientific Management," "Exhibiting Leadership in the Open Shop," "The Labor Day Parade," "The Contractor as a Problem," "Bringing Light to the Working Man" and "The Open Shop in Permanent Occupations."

DEVOTED HUSBAND FALLS DEAD ACROSS BED OF INVALID WIFE WHO COULD NOT SUMMON AID

For a score of years life had borne sufficiently hard upon Richard Williams and his wife. It seemed impossible that death could intensify the tragedy. Yet that is what death, in an ironic artist mood, accomplished yesterday.

All the water front knew Williams. For more than forty of his sixty-four years he had worked around the Harbor, coming in time to be one of its characters.

All San Pedro, where he had lived at 737 West Fourth street, knew of the troubled waters into which his life had fallen. For more than twenty years his wife had been unable to leave her bed and incapable of raising her voice above a whisper.

Williams divided his time between her and the docks, where he worked as a laborer. Age came upon him and the struggle of taking care of his helpless wife and of earning a living for both of them daily became more arduous.

Late Saturday night his weakened heart cracked under the strain. Standing at the foot of the bed where his wife lay, he swayed and fell across the bed at her feet.

His wife, terrified, could not move to his assistance. She could not call for help above a whisper. While she struggled to raise her impotent voice, her husband gasped and died.

All night she lay there, wide-eyed and helpless, with her husband's body at her feet. Williams had been dead for hours when his stepson, Frank Gonzales, came in yesterday morning.

PLANS LAID FOR MUSEUM

Sponsors Propose to Make Casa Adobe Replica of Early Spanish Day Residence

Plans to make the Casa Adobe on Pasadena avenue a replica of a home of the early Spanish days in California, to be furnished with antiques and heirlooms now owned by old families, were made at a meeting yesterday under the auspices of officers of the Southwest Museum. The meeting was the occasion of opening the Casa Adobe to the public for the first time since its construction more than ten years ago.

Dr. Milbank Johnson

Dr. John A. Comstock

The Casa Adobe was built under the direction of Mrs. Randolph Huntington Miner, now of Florence, Italy, and the late Dr. Hector Allott. It was recently deeded to the museum by Mrs. Miner through the efforts of Henry O'Melveny, a relative, who is in charge of her estate in this country.

More than 100 persons interested in the restoration and preservation of California landmarks attended the meeting in the patio. Dr. Milbank Johnson, president of the museum, and Dr. John A. Comstock, director, were in charge.

Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes explained that Mrs. Miner had planned the building as a meeting place for the old Hispano Society, and had intended to furnish it with articles coming down

HARVEST YIELD IN RECORD YEAR

Prophecy of Southland's Prosperity Fulfilled

Large Shipment of Crops Bringing High Prices

Deciduous Fruit Packing Doubles 1924 Season

With the harvest season well advanced, the early prophesy that 1925 is to be one of the most profitable in Southland agricultural history has been well established, according to "Southern California Crops," the monthly field, market and statistical report issued by the Agricultural Department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, released yesterday. The indications are that the money returns from all permanent plantings will be larger than ever before, while most vegetables and the important eld crops are to exceed last year's totals, the report states. Following are the principal summaries of the report:

The interest of the citrus industry has turned to Central California, where the picking of new crop navels is in progress. There was little shortage between orange shipping seasons, as the Valencia and navel movement is said to be "dovetailing" nicely. Due to the high-price trend on California oranges straight through the past season, new crop navels are starting off at good prices, f.o.b. California quotations are on a basis of $7 and $7.50 per box, while it is reported that growers are receiving from 3 1-2 to 4 1-2 cents a pound. California lemons are still bringing good prices, and seedless grapefruit has appeared on the local market.

DECIDUOUS PACK HIGH

The deciduous fruit packing season is over in Southern California, with a record of about twice as much fruit canned this year over last season. This was largely due to the large pack of peaches, which totaled 1,175,000 cases. The market for canned fruit is strong.

The grape deal in San Joaquin Valley has been successful to growers and legitimate operators, although a car shortage has troubled some shippers. The daily carlot movement reached as high as 1583 cars per day this year, and, so far, there has been a total of more than 64,000 cars shipped from California this year or 6000 more than the total for the 1924 season. It is expected that the total movement will reach more than 70,000 cars. The deal has been characterized by a good demand for juice stock, and a rather sluggish market on table varieties. Southern California grape growers had a fairly good season, although some table stock was lost through the rains, especially in the Escondido section of San Diego county, where it was estimated that about forty cars were lost by precipitation which, however, brought thousands of dollars to growers in other lines.

California cotton is being ginned in all districts, although there is a shortage of pickers in some sections. The San Joaquin Valley, last district to start, has already ginned about 7500 bales. The total California crop is placed at 130,000 bales this year, with 70,000 or 75,000 bales in Lower California, 90,000 bales in Arizona and 60,000 bales in New Mexico making up a Southwest total of around 350,000 bales.

Threshing of baby limas is in progress throughout San Fernando Valley, and a nine or ten-sack average per acre is expected. This should make a total crop of between 12,000 and 15,000 sacks. The regular lima crops in Ventura and Orange county irrigated lands are making good return.

A great many of California's vegetable specialties are moving into the eastern market. Florida has taken several cars of California mixed vegetables during the past month. Tomatoes are moving in volume at around $1.65 to $1.75 per lug. f.o.b. Orange and San Diego counties are supplying a good

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE unfriendly attentions of a burglar brought a policeman to our house.

I was very much interested in him.

NEW-STYLE COP

He wasn't at all like the flat-footed cops we used to know. He was courteous, direct, pointed and intelligent. He was more like a young lawyer.

The cop, who would have come to us ten years ago would have been a good-natured giant, who would have petted the dogs; scolded us for carelessness; compared notes on raising of children and gone away with half the facts.

A GENIAL TYRANT

Yet, I mourn for the old flat-footed cop.

He was more than a thief-catcher. He was the arbiter, father confessor and genial tyrant of his beat.

OLD MICHAEL JOSEPH

Never shall I forget old Michael Joseph Conboy.

He was the boss of the Barbary Coast in San Francisco.

RULED THE ROOST

Michael had more dignity than the tsar of all the Russias.

He seldom made any arrests. He ruled the toughest water front in the world with a glare and a club. If some ruffian behaved rather badly, Michael walloped him somewhat severely. If he did something really monstrous, Michael rang for the ambulance first; then gave him the stick where he needed it most.

QUICK ACTION

One day a green little country boy came quivering to Michael, complaining that a Barbary Coast barkeeper would not give him his change.

"Aw, he didn't have no change coming," growled the tough barkeeper, glowering at the boy.

"Ye'll hand over tin dollars and twinty cints or I'll be coming around behind that bar," remarked Michael Joseph briefly, getting a good grip on his club.

Chain lightning is no quicker than the time it took the barkeep to slide over the money.

THE STRIKER

One time during a car strike a big truck got across a car track at the Ferry Building and refused to move.

The militia soldiers flourished their bayonets; but the tough truck driver only laughed and spat tobacco juice at them.

Michael was appealed to.

"Take them sogers away; and all them boy cops," he said, scornfully.

JOSEPH EXPLODED

They were a little doubtful; but they finally did as Michael Joseph ordered.

And so the crowds fell back and left a vacant lonely place around the mutinous truck.

Suddenly there was one raucus roar. "Git that domn truck aff a that track."

The truck driver looked around, startled. The lash came down on the backs of the frightened horses; and the truck moved on, with one wild bound.

"SOUTH OF THE SLOT"

The only rebels that Michael could never rule were the little tads "south of the slot."

For all his dignity, Michael Joseph certainly did waddle when he walked. And there is many a big business man in California who will remember walking lock-step down the opposite side of the street in a ragged procession singing derisively:

"MICH-ael-JOS-eph- walks - like - THIS."

To the old man's purple-faced rage.

AIR PROGRAMS REACH CLIMAX

Welcome to Hawaiian Party Acclaimed Superb

Southland's Finest Concerts Greet KHJ Head

New Station to Broadcast High-Class Music

BY PAUL SHEEDY

The tower studio of KHJ yesterday reached the climax in the three days of special concerts to mark the homecoming of Uncle John and his Music Box artists from Hawaii, with the Martin Music Company giving a feature concert from 8 to 10 o'clock in the evening and the Western Auto Supply Company presenting a brilliant matinee from 4 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Martin company presented for the entertainment of the thousands of radio fans another ensemble of the leading musical artists of the Southwest, adding further laurels to its reputation as one of the sponsors of the district's finest programs. During the evening the Music Box Trio, composed of Mona Content, concert pianist; Bernice Neal, 'cellist, and Carolyn La Fevre, violinist, appeared in ensemble and solo selections, repeating many of the compositions that won them applause at Honolulu.

STARS OF EVENING

Two outstanding vocalists of the city gave the songs of the evening. Ruth Pitts, coloratura soprano, recognized as the possessor of an exceptionally fine voice, and Keaumoku Louis, brilliant Hawaiian baritone and Victor record artist, sang before the microphone. The selections of the latter were dedicated to the nation-wide observance today of Victor Talking Machine Day, introducing a startling innovation in reproduced music. John Martin gave several delightful solo numbers on the Gulbransen registering piano, and also acted as accompanist.

A trio that recently made itself a place in the ranks of KHJ favorites, the Harmony Trio from Pasadena, was on the matinee program of the Western Auto Supply Company. This group is composed of Thelma Strange, violinist; Margery Stoddard, 'cellist, and Frances Dodge, pianist.

Another brilliant appearance was made by Vera Barstow, internationally recognized violinist, who gave a group of selections from the world's greatest composers, with her artistry heightened by the splendid accompanying of Marcia Obuchon at the piano. Constance Thode and her delightful mezzo-contralto voice were warmly received, with numerous requests received for special songs.

OPEN NEW STUDIO

With the announced ideal of giving its listeners a program of uniformly high standard, without making it "highbrow," in any sense, radio station KFPG, on a wave-length of 238 meters, owned and operated by K. M. Turner Radio Corporation, will hold its formal opening Friday night. Various feature events have been planned for the program that will make it memorable, and a number of the Southland's leading artists will be heard.

Carlton "Dad" Kind is the station announcer and comes to KFPG with a considerable radio background. Tom Mitchell, well-known radio baritone, also acts as announcer as well as program manager.

K. M. Turner is president and manager; the other directors being C. C. Magenheimer, G. Allen Hancock, F. F. Magenheimer and C. E. Magenheimer. Mr. Turner is widely known as "the man who made radio broadcasting possible" through his invention of the first microphone, the dictograph, the acousticon and other inventions dealing with sound vibration, sound reproduction and sound amplification.

Mr. Turner also enjoys the distinction of having broadcast the first musical program that was ever put on the air. This was in 1910, when with Caruso and other artists in the leading roles, he broadcast the operas "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Il Pagliacci" from the stage of the Metropolitan Operahouse.

AMBITIOUS PROGRAM

One of the most ambitious program outlines ever attempted by a broadcast station has been announced by the station, it being proposed to keep it "on the air" except for short intermissions, from 9 o'clock each morning until the close of the 10 o'clock program each night. For the last two weeks the station's mail has been heavy with applause cards and letters of appreciation of the Turner concert orchestra, which has been on the air Monday to Friday nights, inclusive, from 8 to 10 o'clock. It is composed of professional solo artists, headed by Loren Powell, director.

Under Mr. Turner's exacting supervision, the studio at KFPG has been made not only one of the most perfect on the Coast from the standpoint of broadcast acostics, but from the standpoint of luxurious and beautiful interior decorations as well. This was done with the thought in mind that the most artistic nature might find inspiration in its surroundings.

The K. M. Turner Radio Corporation is now manufacturing in a temporary location Turner radio receiving sets, pure-tone speakers, multiphones and addressophones. It now has under way a factory building in the industrial district of Hollywood, and announces that by January 1 it will be well under way with its manufacturing program. In addition, it owns and operates one of the first mobile broadcast stations in the country. This invention makes possible the broadcasting of accounts of big news events from the field of action, to be put on the air on a short wave length and picked up for rebroadcasting by the larger stations on their respective wave lengths.

The Optimists' Quartet, the group of male singers, who have recently created an enviable position for themselves in broadcasting over KHJ, will be heard at 10:30 this morning in the Hollywood Women's clubrooms when they sing the opera "Natoma," by Victor Herbert, before the Hollywood Opera Reading Club in honor of Dr. Frank Nagle. The singers will be assisted by the Madrigal Octet. The four members of the quartet are J. Howard Johnson, first tenor; Dan Gridley, second tenor; Edward Novis, baritone, and Frank Geiger, bass.

TODAY'S PROGRAM

7 to 7:15 a.m. Setting-Up Exercises by Prof. Barclay L. Severns.

12 to 12:30 p.m. Leighton's Arcade Cafeteria Orchestra. Jack Cronshaw, director.

12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Program of the Electric Club luncheon of Los Angeles, broadcast from the ballroom of the Biltmore by line telephony thorugh KHJ. Presenting Charles Hamp and Earl Reynolds, "California Blue Boys," Charles Beauchamp, baritone; Lee Kent, ukulele and singer; Ray Kellogg, violinist; Charles Wellman, Billie Dunn and Ben McGlishin.

Silent rest of day.

RECEIVING HOSPITALS CONSIDERED

Two Plans Before City Finance Committee for Improving Service

The City Council's Finance Committee is scheduled to consider this afternoon the request of Chief of Police Heath and Police Surgeon Goodrich that the Receiving Hospital be located in the new police substation to be built in Georgia street, just south of Pico street. This location already has been purchased by the city for $50,000 and consists of two lots, with a frontage on two streets. The combined lot will provide sufficient space for a building large enough for the combination police substation and Receiving Hospital, with a driveway through the building for police cars and ambulances.

The locating of the Receiving Hospital at this site, Chief Heath said yesterday, will bring to an end the delays resulting from the ambulances now being required to force their way through the downtown traffic to reach the Receiving Hospital's present location at First and Hill streets. These rented quarters have long been inadequate, and the Police Chief and Police Surgeon will urge the committee to authorize the combination building, which it is estimated will cost $150,000 and is to be financed from the $1,600,000 police bond issue authorized last year.

A second proposition before the committee is that of leasing a building near Pico street and Broadway for ten years at a total cost of $45,000, which will cover the rental and the remodeling of the building for use as a Receiving Hospital. The new hospital, whether it is located in the police substation or in leased quarters will include wards and rooms where citizens, policemen, firemen and other city employees who are injured on duty, may remain for care by the police surgeons.

from Spanish days. These plans were interrupted by the war.

Prof. Rolland E. Vandegrift of the University of Southern California declared that Los Angeles should have at least one place commemorating the Spanish period.

Dr. Johnson stated that the Casa Adobe would be of service as a meeting place for historical sociates and to instruct schoolchildren in the types of old Spanish furniture and architecture.

Miss Grace Stoermer, head of the finance group, announced that she will call a meeting of her committee next week to make plans for raising funds. It is estimated that $6000 to $8000 will be needed for repairs, the building having been unoccupied since 1915.

Film Cowboy's Trial Date Will be Fixed Today

A time for the trial of Tom Bay, motion-picture cowboy, will be set today by Judge Keetch. Bay is accused of the murder of another cinema actor, "Yakima Jim" Anson. The latter was shot to death in a quarrel in the Selma Hotel, 1617 Cahuenga avenue, on August 8, last, and Bay and Ed Carmichael, who were found in the hotel room with him, were arrested.

At the preliminary hearing Justice Russill released Carmichael, but bound Bay over for trial when testimony showing that Carmichael was in another room when Anson was shot with Carmichael's gun, was adduced. Carmichael said he heard a scuffle and a struggle and then a shot. Bay is asserted to have said that Anson grabbed the gun and attempted to shoot him, and they struggled for possession of the weapon.

Carmichael was represented by Attorneys Phillips and Kendall. Bay is represented by Attorney W. J. Clark. Dept. Dist.-Atty. Scheinman will prosecute the case.

Farm Bureau Will Conduct Annual Meet

The Los Angeles County Farm Bureau will have its annual Dairymen's Day at the Arden Dairy, one mile northwest of El Monte, next Thursday. There will be a barbecue, speech-making and some entertainment stunts, and dairymen will inspect the plant of the dairy company, declared to be one of the best equipped in the United States.

ARMISTICE DAY PLANS COMPLETE

Military Organizations of South to Participate in the Parade

Virtually every military organization in Southern California will co-operate, it was said yesterday, in making the Armistice Day celebration at the Coliseum the 11th inst. the most notable yet conducted. Plans for the day, in charge of Charles I. Bogue, head of the Los Angeles Interpost Council, American Legion; Col. D. S. Frank, chairman of the committee of the day, and Col. S. M. Saltmarsh, grand marshal of the parade, are almost completed.

The parade will form at 1:30 p.m. northwest of the Coliseum and will move promptly at 2 p.m., arriving inside the inclosure within a few minutes. Among the organizations which already have reserved space in the line are the California National Guard, with band, and more than 1000 enlisted men; the R.O.T.C. of the University of California, Southern Branch, 1200 strong; the R.O.T.C. of Loyola College, the Naval Reserve, the Indian War Veterans, the G.A.R., Spanish-American War Veterans, and most of the posts of the American Legion, led by the Victory Post Band. The Mayor and representatives of the city, county and State governments will be present.

The committee has asked the Chamber of Commerce to observe the day, and business organizations will be urged to permit employees to march in the parade. The committee is also urging all citizens to fly the American flag on that day. The Armistice Day celebration will be discussed in many pulpits next Sunday.

of Harding High School. Two other boys escaped.

Sergt. Day of the Newton-street station arrested Frank Neal, 15, of 406 East Forty-first street, and John Thompson, 14, of 1212 East Fifty-second street, for firing off a shotgun at Forty-eighth street and South Park avenue.

Special Officer Lary found several boys soaping the street car tracks at One Hundred and First street and Vermont avenue, he said. He arrested Henry Schreiber, 18, of 1232 West Ninety-eighth Place, and Edwin Kennedy, 17, of 1336 West Ninety-seventh street.

A trick that had serious consequences was the stretching of a rope across the highway on Riverside Drive. The rope was made taut between a telephone pole and a heavy stake driven into the ground, and Robert Heffron, 17, of 3420 Maceo street, ran into it full tilt with his car. The stake was yanked from the ground and flew out, striking Heffron near the shoulder and breaking his arm. He was treated at Receiving Hospital and transferred to General Hospital.

MORE THAN SIXTY ARRESTED AT BEACHES

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 1.—More than sixty persons were arrested incidental to the celebration of Halloween here and in Venice last night and this morning. The majority were charged with intoxication, reckless driving and disturbing the peace. There were a few charges of battery and transportation of liquor.

Arrests for intoxication ran higher than for Halloween celebrations for several years past. Police were kept busy untangling traffic mix-ups near the oceanfront. Merry-makers thronged the amusement piers here and at Ocean Park and Venice until daylight.

L. H. Chambers of Los Angeles, according to the report of Police Officer Locke, sent hundreds of celebrants scurrying for safety when he drove his auto across the Ocean front promenade into the entrance of the Dome pool hall. A. H. Schaffer of Los Angeles was arrested near the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios after running into several machines, it is charged.

quality product at the present time. The Mexican tomato deal is expected to get under way about December 5 and growers are optimistic over their prospects.

There are about 900 acres of lettuce in the San Fernando Valley for December movement. The quality is better than has been known for years. Imperial has about the same lettuce acreage as last year, and shipments will start during the latter part of December.

Cauliflower movement was late this year, but is now well underway. F.o.b. California prices are on the basis of $1.25 per crate, which means about 85 cents to growers. There are about 3500 acres in Los Angeles this year.

Live-stock and feed conditions are reported in good shape throughout the district, the first rains being of much value to pasture lands.

The Chamber of Commerce report also contains several pages of statistical matter, covering price ranges on various agricultural commodities in Los Angeles, and ends with a careful workout on the trend of cotton production in the Southwest, as compared with world and United States production.

PICTURE DIVISION OF CLUB TO GIVE BANQUET

The California Federation of Women's Clubs, under the supervision of Mabel E. Graham, chairman of the motion-picture division, Los Angeles district, will give a luncheon at the Ambassador at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow.

With the co-operation of the West Coast Theaters, Inc., many film figures will be present. The following will give three-minute talks: Michael and Abe Gore, Sol Lesser, Elinor Glynn, Hal Roach, Fred Bestson, A. M. Bowles, Robert Edeson, Barrett Kiesling, Charles Brabin, Irving Cummings, Louis Mayer, Fred Niblo, Alice Calhoun, Sid Grauman and Edmund Lowe.

NEED OF HARBOR DEFENSE SHOWN

"Much to be Desired," Says Ordnance Expert

Number of Guns Declared to be Out of Date

Brig.-Gen. Joyse Here on Tour of Inspection

Coast defenses for the port of Los Angeles leave much to be desired in the way of up-to-date equipment, according to Brig.-Gen. John W. Joyse of Washington, second assistant of the Ordnance Department of the United States Army, who arrived at the Biltmore yesterday.

"There are a number of guns at Fort MacArthur which met all requirements at the time they were placed there and still are in first-class condition," said Gen. Joyse. "But since they were installed advances in ordnance construction have left these pieces behind. Another element that must be taken into consideration in modern coast defenses is aircraft. You have some planes here and also some antiaircraft guns, which are perfectly good so far as they go.

"Of course, aircraft defense is still a subject of controversy. It has not been tested out sufficiently to determine just what part it will play in future warfare. It has been demonstrated, however, that planes can drop bombs on vessels with considerable accuracy and this fact has to be taken into consideration in any defense program."

Gen Joyse's visit in Los Angeles is in connection with a tour of inspection of ordnance activities at the different army units west of the Mississippi River. His trip to Los Angeles is incidental to his inspection at the Presidio in San Francisco.

"I looked over the ground where the new fourteen-inch gun, now on its way to Fort MacArthur, is to be placed," he said. "This gun, which is the only one of that size mounted for railway transportation, will arrive some time in December. Stops are made at various places along the route to permit the public to view the big piece of ordnance."

BLAZE IN HOME LEADS TO CRIMINAL CHARGE

Jacob Seidenberg is scheduled to appear in Judge Reeve's court today for arraignment on a charge of burning insured property in order to defraud an insurance company.

It is charged that on October 7, last, fire partly destroyed a house, a wagon, considerable hay and endangered some horses at 2445 Fairmount street, and that the defendant was responsible for the fire.

HELP WANTED

It must be admitted that there is always a demand for a good cabinet maker on the other side of the water.

ROMANCE OVER

How can they call it romance when a man of 60 weds a girl of 30? That isn't even chivalry. More likely it is a sign that all romance has been shot to pieces.

SOME HONEY BUNCH

More than 100 tons of honey were shipped out from our harbor last month. Los Angeles might be aptly billed as America's sweetheart—with regards to Mary.

THE BIG BUSINESS

The flags of more than a dozen nations were floating in our harbor last month. Our contacts of commerce extend into every section of the globe.

THE SOAP SLIPPERS

One of the accident insurance companies paid indemnity last year to no less than sixty-seven persons who had been badly bunged up as a result of skidding on the soap in the family bathroom. All our tragedies are not in the film comedies by a long shot.

THE BLUE MILL

Now somebody wants to start a fund to save the windmills of Holland. It seems that these venerable flutterers are not so much in demand in an age of oils and machinery, and numbers of them have been dismantled. If the tourist cannot feed his eyes on clusters of Dutch windmills he may not visit Holland at all. To keep the world picturesque and interesting the windmills of The Netherlands should be protected, but utility will win in the long run.

SAFE AND SANE

The newspaper of greatest circulation in the world is printed in Paris and it never carries any glaring billboard headlines or salacious details of divorce and crime. It is printed with American machinery and conducted largely along American lines, but the lurid headings and blood-curdling news features are deliberately forbidden. It is a mistake to assume that the mass of readers prefer this sort of an exhibition in their home paper.

KEEPING THE PEACE

One of the barons of big business is said to keep a deck of cards in his private office. When he has a perplexing problem in finance or trade he locks himself in and plays a few hands of solitaire. When he comes out he has the problem all solved and things are working fine. The game gradually puts all other thoughts out of mind and replaces them with a new set. The play has also a soothing effect that leaves room for later reflection. It might not be a bad idea for all peppery executives to woo solitaire in their trying hours.

LUMBER LANDS

As the population increases the demand for lumber grows, yet the forests are becoming fewer and smaller every year. The only great forests left in this country are found in Washington, Oregon, California, Mississippi and Louisiana. In Germany no one can cut down a tree without planting another in its place, but in this country lumbermen can cut and slash willy nilly. A Washington woodsman claims that his cutting record exceeds the shooting record of Buffalo Bill. To see a buffalo one must go to a game reservation. Will it be that way with forest trees?

AN ENGLISHMAN SEES

The Canon of Westminster denies saying that America was degenerating from a human society into a monkey house. That isn't the way evolution works. But the British divine did say that the divorce evil was becoming a canker on the heart of America. He doesn't like the shiftless and irresponsible manner in which our people approach and leave their matrimonial obligations. From the Church of England standpoint much of his emotion over the subject is justified. Nevertheless our cheerful optimists are quite certain that our country will be able to pull through.

BAN UPON BANNERS

The city will hereafter forbid the placing of advertising and other florid banners across our streets and boulevards. They add nothing to the joy and beauty of the community and are seldom of conspicuous advantage to those most concerned with their emplacement. When they are flaunted for political ends they are an affront to half the populace and they fail to furnish satisfaction even to those who approve. No injustice is done to anyone by placing a ban upon these cross-country banners. When any program of street decoration is necessary it can be worked out under agreement with the civic authorities.

GERMANY AFTER LOCARNO

Political conditions in Germany since Locarno are as unsettled as in France. The Central Committee of the Nationalist party, to which President Hindenburg belongs, has voiced its disapproval of the security pact, and the Nationalist ministers have resigned. The President is apparently abandoned by the leaders of his own party, for it was by the Nationalists that he was nominated.

Repudiation of the President by his own party would be regarded as second only to revolutionary activity in this country. One can imagine the political excitement that would follow the resignation of all the Republican members of President Coolidge's Cabinet, which would mean the entire Cabinet. But these things are not considered so serious in Germany. While President Hindenburg is a Nationalist, his Cabinet represents a coalition, and the retirement of the Nationalist members does not mean complete Cabinet dissolution.

Despite the repudiation by the Nationalists, however, President Hindenburg has not wavered in his support of the Locarno treaties. The Junkers, who nominated him and made his campaign, are surly and disappointed; for the treaties, if ratified, sound the death knell of militarism in Germany. If the security pact is ratified and observed the seeds of a war of revenge planned by the militarists can never ripen to a harvest; and those who had chosen arms as a profession must turn to something else.

Neutral observers on the ground are almost unanimous in the opinion that President Hindenburg will secure the ratification of the pact, although it is opposed by the Nationalist leaders. They say the old marshal is more popular with the mass of the people of all parties than ever before.

Groups representing the Center and the Moderate Left are already moving to take advantage of the Nationalist defection. They are assuring Chancellor Luther and the President of their support in the Reichstag and they would be glad to see a Cabinet crisis that would necessitate a new election. And this is just what the Nationalists are now trying to prevent. Their leaders have awakened to the fact that the country is not with them, that the majority sentiment in Germany favors giving up all hope of recovering Alsace and Lorraine in order to secure a permanent peace. They hold that the lost provinces on the eastern bank of the Rhine are not worth the blood and treasure that have been expended on them; and the mothers of Germany are praying that the new generation may evade the welter of blood that engulfed the generation that fought the World War.

One cause of the opposition of the Nationalists to the security pact was that it left foreign troops in possession of parts of German soil. They hold that England and France should withdraw from the occupied territory as an evidence of their good faith. The English government has taken cognizance of this objection, which possesses an element of justice, and the announcement has been made that the British troops will be withdrawn from Cologne. This announcement served to mollify some of of the protesting Nationalist leaders.

At the present time the affairs of government in Germany are conducted by three men: President Hindenburg, Dr. Luther and Dr. Stresemann. The positions of the retiring Cabinet members will not be filled for the present, probably not until the Locarno Pact is either ratified or rejected. President Hindenburg has justified the belief of the majority of the German people who elected him that he would be a peace President. He has had enough of war and he thinks his country has had more than enough. His position is similar to that of President Grant in our own country. After the Civil War Grant was one of the strongest advocates of peaceful solutions of political problems. Hindenburg is of the same opinion; and it is well for Germany and for the peace of the world that it is so.

THE BADANCES OF POWER

And now Canada slips into the Conservative fold. The world, as the late President Harding foresaw, is getting back to normalcy.

Country after country experimented with liberalism, leaning dangerously toward radicalism, and for nearly a generation conservatism was forced into the position of "extreme right." For a decade liberalism represented the "center," the half-way point of compromise between the Conservatives and Socialism. In this position it made its appeal to the electorate as steering the sane, reasonable, middle course.

But as liberalism veered toward Socialism it pulled the Conservatives with it. And today conservatism stands as the sane, reasonable, least-biased center.

The United States repudiated the Democrats with no uncertain note. England gave her so-called Labor government short and sharp orders after a brief display of its intent. Germany came to realize that only through a form of conservatism could she hope to recover from the ravages of a lost war. Mussolini may be said to have preserved Italy from Bolshevism. Even Australia, long known as a Socialist-Labor paradise, saw the writing on the wall and elected a conservative Prime Minister and Federal Cabinet, in the name of Nationalism. Yes, even Ireland shows a predominant conservative force in her Free State administration. And now Canada, long faithful to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal regime he instituted, turns out Sir Wilfrid's successor, Mackenzie King, and votes Conservative.

Only France and Russia remain in the radical fold. Their "liberalism" has long since rushed them into the "extreme left" position, and Russia in particular may have to go clear around the other way to get back. All of France's most unpleasant embarrassments are occasioned by her "extreme lefts."

It has taken a decade to do it; but the world is returning to normalcy, politically, commercially, financially—and perhaps morally, too. For who shall say that the principles behind politics, commerce and business integrity do not influence the morals of nations? For forty years the world veered away from conservatism and, under the banner of liberalism, toward Socialism. During the last few years the tide has turned with sweeping decision. Conservative regimes have not been reinstated by a hair's breadth, they have been reinstated in almost every case by sweeping, overwhelming majorities.

It is noteworthy, too, that in its association with radicalism, liberalism has suffered some staggering reactions. It is the Liberal now rather than the Conservative who occupies that uncoveted position of "extreme right." Conservatism today represents the sane middle course to the man in the street, the man with the vote, the man who pays the taxes. Conservatism no longer means hold-back reaction, but actually the conservation of the processes of progress.

[Protected by George Matthew Adams.]

THE UNSUCCESSFUL GOLFER

He rises early in the morning with new resolves in his bosom and a new ball in his pocket, assured that he has mastered the jinx at last. Disillusionment settles down upon him as he smites a mighty swat and the ball bobbles a few feet away and hides maliciously in the grass.

He has a vision in the midnight gloom that it is his club. Next day he sneaks surreptitiously into the house by the back door to avoid his consort, with a package done up like a piece of weather boarding. Removing the sacred thing from its sheath, he daubs some mud on it to remove the glitter and make it look like a friend of the other inhabitants of his bag and strides forth to lay low his score. If it be possible his drives are more decayed than before.

He observes a long, rangy fellow lift the ball among the angels and is overwhelmed with the suspicion that maybe it is his weight. So he begins to reduce his body for the purpose of reducing his score. His over-wrought imagination makes him believe the two reductions are tied up indissolubly with each other. No appreciable results.

The unsuccessful golfer feels humiliated and depraved. He would willingly resign his place in the large affairs of men to be able to shout, "Fore!" with enthusiasm and assurance. So many times has he lifted his voice sonorously when the game was young only to have his ball roll apologetically halfway to the sardonic object of his proclaimed slaughter. He now takes chances of cracking his neighbor's skull. It would at least inspire confidence and fill the driver with joy.

Nobody since Ananias has been so tempted as he. His conscience has completely resigned. He even ceases to joke about his score. The solemn silence that settles down on the foursome as they cease to count or take interest in his endeavor fills him with ominous fear.

What this country needs is a golf ball that will not plunk into a sand pit the first crack off of the tee. But perhaps America will be safe as long as the fairways are full of unsuccessful golfers.

MOURNFUL SPEEDERS

Justice Lennon of the State Supreme Court said recently in an address to a meeting called by the California Development Association for the furtherance of safety on the highways:

> If the automobile offender who strikes down a helpless pedestrian on the highway was considered by the public in the same category as the porch-climber and the burglar there would be far fewer automobile offenders in the State. Public opinion is necessary to enforcement of the automobile laws.

There is no apparent reason why every speeder who recklessly knocks down and kills a pedestrian should not be arraigned in court for manslaughter or murder, as the case may be. The wheel of an automobile in the hands of a careless driver or willful speeder has become as dangerous a weapon as a gun or stiletto. Contributory negligence in the case of an accidental death may lead to a charge of manslaughter. In the case of a willful driver who habitually steps on the gas without due precautions to enable the innocent pedestrian to avoid collision the contributory negligence becomes, by reason of the driver's knowledge of the danger, a premeditated acquiescence in a possible accidental death to the same extent as the dynamiter who neglects to place the danger signal when he blasts a rock on the road.

Indifference to the rights of the pedestrian on the part of automobilists is a serious menace to the safety of innocent bystanders. Where the speeder's reckless driving results in an accidental death he should be charged with premeditated murder in the same way as the desperado who discharges his gun point blank at a group of peaceful citizens.

In the realm of jurisprudence the degree of culpability, on the part of the habitual speeder who ultimately kills a pedestrian or even causes a fatal accident through collision with another automobile, seems to be no extenuating justification for murder for the reason that he places himself in the position of habitual contributory negligence.

In this connection it would also be well to provide for the results of accidents caused by reckless drivers who maim their victims for life. In the case of an accident which results in permanent disability caused by a railroad company the injured has a claim of damages against the railroad management which can be collected as compensation in a lump sum or a permanent pension in favor of the injured. What provision is made for the permanently disabled who becomes the victim of a speeder whose financial responsibility is nil? It might be suggested that every automobile owner should be required to furnish a bond with the application for his license as a driver to insure his potential victim of an accident against possible injury. Automobile accidents are becoming too frequent to overlook that new casualty element without a proviso furnishing the innocent party with visible means to recover damages.

IN THE ATTIC

Although attics are quite passe in these days of space conservation and such antiques as old sofas are only found in second-hand stores, the literature that flourished in the same period, especially that of interest to children, hasn't followed the same path of oblivion.

When dad and mother were boy and girl and even when older brother and sister were young several apples, a copy of "Tom Sawyer" or "Little Women," the old sofa in the attic and the rain pattering on the roof were all that was necessary for a pleasant afternoon.

Youngsters haven't changed much today, for the books that were dear to the older folks in their childhood are just as much read now. In the children's departments of the libraries there are more copies of some of the old books than any other on the shelves. "Little Men" and "Little Women" lead in popularity today as they did in years gone by.

Next in popularity is "Tom Sawyer," by Mark Twain, of which there are always copies in demand. And it is often true that, in spite of the large number of copies, it is hard to find a one in the library.

COSTS OF "LIFE"

Wilda Bennett, actress, is going to have to pay $37,500 damages for love theft. What can the poor theatrical managers, already frantic over high salaries, do in the face of a precedent so likely to treble the costs of living in the theatrical profession?

STREET CALLED STRAIGHT

BY HARRY BOWLING

Man's senseless rage for destruction has deprived the heirs of the ages of a large portion of their legitimate inheritance. It has created the antiquarian who, at great pains and expense, must be always trying to recover and piece together these lost treasures. This is the sum total of its achievement. War lords, conquerors and soldiers in general are no better than children breaking their own and their neighbors' toys and raising the job of the toy repairer to the dignity of the archeologist.

Damascus is the latest arena where Frenchman and Druse have prepared an ash heap in which to bury the history of the past for the excavators of the future. Unless the reports from Syria have been exaggerated, the oldest part of the world's oldest and most unique city is a smoldering ruin, while under a rain of French bombs and shell fire the "Street Called Straight" has shared the fate of Troy and Carthage.

The "Street Called Straight" is—or was—the most ancient and interesting thoroughfare in the two hemispheres, just as Damascus is—or was—the most ancient and interesting of all cities extant. French bombs and shells appear to have placed the historical interest of Damascus in the past tense.

Into the ashes of a wretched street riot, started by fool fanatics and tipsy soldiers, have gone one of the world's most famous museums: the House of Ananias, the reputed refuge of Judas and the Court of Haremlik; timeworn thoroughfares that were once trodden by the Apostle Paul in the first zeal of his marvelous conversion; stones that were laid to grace the triumph of the Roman Pompey or the Armenian Tigranes or the Jewish Prince Demetrius; masonry that was cut and chiseled when the city fell into the hands of the Macedonian Alexander or was wrested from the Babylonians by Cyrus the Persian or crouched before the Assyrian monarch, Tiglath-Pileser; clay bricks that were baked when Jeroboam of Israel held the city in thrall or David quartered a garrison there; bricks that had walled the oldest house on record where the steward of Abraham was born.

Through all these vicissitudes of changing nationalities and dynasties the "Street Called Straight" held its own till it became the longest line in existence between the modern and the ancient worlds—to be wound up finally as cannon fodder for French amour propre in a stupid squabble with a ragged mob and buried in the old family ash heap to await the unearthing shovels of archeologists as yet unborn.

HOOKED THE "CITY FELLER"

The city man who was staying for the week-end in the country was telling one of the villagers that he could not imagine how people managed to live in such a dull, quiet place.

"Well, sir," said the man, "you should stay here till next week and then you'd see the whole countryside stirred up."

"And what is going to happen next week?" asked the stranger.

"Plowing," said the old man.—[Atlanta Journal.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS YOU

BY ELLANORE J. PARKER

Seventy-five years! It is the evening of man's life, the his achievement. But for a State it is but the dawning, the just breaking. The dews of the night yet linger upon and it is young, full of endeavor and of a marvelous fairn

Seventy-five years young!

California, what of your maturity? How full of pr golden future!

Winter, sweet mistress, holds before your enraptured eyes a mantle of green, a kirtle of roses—and orange blossoms for overdress, a wreath of golden poppies for your hair. Wealth of beauty clothe you. Proud and fearless you stand, peerless and fair, a young and beautiful sister for your sister States to love and encourage.

Give, oh, California, a measure of joy to all! Fling far your welcome. Let no pettiness of border line or lack of gold keep the children of man from your golden poppyland.

If mayhap they can but linger for a season, let it be filled with delight.

Seventy-five years young, but with all the countless ages of nature behind you. Be not too vainglorious of man's achievement, but say rather, "How generous has been the great Creator." The hills tower not, the tides flow not, the yucca and the cactus bloom not by man's desire. In the bowels of the earth the oil lay hidden and no man called it into being.

Proud of its beauty, oh, children of California, let not your pride blind you to her defects. Arise and put on your armor. Let the great majority of justice-loving people see how fair a thing is the Goddess of Justice. Take vows, oh, people of a lovely land, that ere the year shall close the pages shall be fair and lovely reading.

Man, so eager to rise, is blinded by mistakes; he is beguiled by a strange god and is led forth to a land of seeming brightness. Veils fall, and there before him he sees the abyss. There is no return, cries his soul. I have sullied my garments, my companions are thieves and murderers, and he is in a measure right. Repentance is acceptable, but discretion is ever better.

Listen, oh, youth, to the tinkle, listen! Does it ring true, the life of crime? Flee away from the city for awhile; seek upon the hills the healing and the strength, for you are not wholly to blame. It is a godless age, and unchristlike, for ever before the multitude the golden calf rides high.

Seventy-five years! Man sees the paths of the years with new eyes. His span is almost spent. He looks back, for it is his lifetime, but it is but an hour of time for a new land. And how the coming hours call, "Fill me with beauty, with song and with every delight." How they call to the artist and the singer, "Come, I will fold you close to my breast; come, I will feed you, for the music in your soul; come, that I may capture, for the coming race, some of your soul's treasure."

Open wide the gates, California. Hold out your hands and lead them in, the children who yearn to nestle here and grow; for in the sunshine the artist unfolds, even as the flowers under the sun's warm rays. Tears and anguish have they known, despair and loneliness. The soil is rich; it is the blossom time. Call them in!

Little streams are laughing in the mountains; the hills are rejoicing; the mocking bird sings his song to the moon, it is a day of rejoicing and a night of delight, for California is seventy-five years young.

Across the seas men tell of her delightful places, hidden places where the golden calf would not be known, hidden spots where the blue waters yet kiss a lonely beach and the wild things come unafraid.

The tongue of man tells, too, of the campfire and of the gold camps, where upon the trail lie the bones of California's heroes, yet unsung, men who dared and died to pave a way for today.

California, pause for a moment, look back across the years and call them, your pioneer sons and your daughters, call them and bless them, the living chain that linked the West and the East.

Voices call softly over the air and night answers them, "What do you seek?" "We call from the past, what of our beloved California, we are the dead, is it well with her?"

There is a pause upon the lips of the Goddess of Night ere she answers "All is well."

A CHURCH-GOING TOWN

At Holland, Mich., which has a population of less than 15,000, there are twenty-five churches and 95 per cent of the children go regularly to Sunday-school. The day schools are opened with prayer, the town has no dance halls, poolrooms close at 10 p.m. and Sunday movies are barred. And yet the town is so attractive that it is a center for western tourist traffic. It was settled by the Dutch in 1847 when many left The Netherlands that they might worship God in their own way, a habit they seem to have kept up ever since. And they do say the maidens of Holland are uncommonly fair to look upon, but pay absolutely no attention to sheiks.—[Capper's Weekly.

GERMANS LIQUEFY COAL

Exhaustive tests conducted in a large plant near Mannheim, Germany, prove that liquefying coal by a process discovered by Prof. Bergius has reached a practical commercial stage. The plant, which is in full operation, is capable of converting 20,000 tons of coal a year; one ton of oils is produced from two tons of coal, one ton of coal being used in energy during the conversion. It is estimated that the oils produce three or four times as much power as the coal from which they are made would produce. Benzine, benzol, heating oil and ammonium derivatives are the main oil products of the process. The oils are obtained by introducing hydrogen under high pressure into vats containing the coals.—[Pathfinder.

HAVE YOU LOOKED IN ICE BOX?

No, Don't Rush Glassware—It Isn't What You Think It Is; You May Be Entertaining Some Little Visitor Unawares—Forerunner of Hordes to Come, Maybe

COISES!
YOU BOYS CAN'T COME IN LOS ANGELES. WE DON'T ALLOW PARADES!
CITY COUNCIL

Presaging the greatest tourist influx this city ever has known, word was received yesterday that the Forticulidae family may visit here.

Our most exclusive society circles are on pins and needles in anticipation of the possible visitation as one branch of the family, the Euplexoteras, are now being municipally entertained in Portland at an expense of $20,000. If the Euplexopteras are persuaded to come to this city, it is considered certain the entire Forficulidae entourage will follow. If so, traffic conditions on the Dixie highway into Florida will become as complicated as Broadway at 4 a.m.

Lest we be unprepared city officials are planning the most rousing reception accorded visiting nobility since Fremont pierced Cahuenga Pass. Particularly is this true of the health department, where Dr. Parrish is aligning a formidable array of data on all branches of the family.

FINDS DERMAPTERA

First intimation of the visit came from a society leader of the Wilshire district who asked that her name he withheld because we always forget the middle initial.

"Just think," she said. "When I took the butter from the ice box this morning, I found a Dermaptera."

"How wonderful," cooed the reporter. "And—er—is she blond or brunette?"

"Oh, very dark. But, of course, all Dermapteras are dark."

"Of course," the reporter chorused. "The true Castilian strain, no doubt."

"Dear me! Is it possible you are not acquainted with the Dermapteras? Why, they are earwigs!"

"In this climate? Er—that is—of course. An earwig. How marvelous. We'll send right out for a picture of it."

Business of phoning a film press agent.

"I dunno," sezze, "but it sounds close enough to an earmuff to be a twin sister. I'll pose one of the bathing girls in an earmuff and a smile. Great gag. Thanks for the tip."

Close-up of reporter registering perplexity. Ah, Monsieur Webster.

"Earwig"—the term is applied to small chilopodous myriapods, as those of the Genus Geophilus.

How simple.

DOC FURNISHES DOPE

Business of phoning Doc Parrish of the health department.

"What's an earwig, Doc?"

"Why, it's a Euplexoptera, also known as a Dermaptera, member of the Forficulidae family."

"How sweet. Prewar stock or merely fatal?"

"Oh, it isn't poisonous, but vicious or potential activity. Once settled in a community it multiplies enormously, invades homes, attaches itself to articles of food and unless caught finds its way into the stomach."

"Ah. An Ambassador to the Department of the Interior."

"Gastronomically speaking. Portland spent $20,000 last year eradicating it and needs as much more this year. The danger of the earwig lies in the fact that it carries other virulent and violent germs into the system.

"Other germs? Then it's a germ?"

"Why, yes."

"Oh!"

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the germs are marching.

COMMUNITY HEART

BY ALMA WHITAKER

One is always forgiven for being chesty, if a loving heart beats within.

Los Angeles has a pleasant opportunity of being heartily chesty for ten whole days.

We may put on all the swank we like about it, if we let our hearts reach clear down to our pockets with suitable magnificence.

A great many of us will just write a nice little check or enroll a bill or two, but 15,000 of us are required to do a trifle more than that. This 15,000 roll of superhonorables will undertake the harder part. It is an exacting, uncomfortable part, persuading the rest of us to justify our chestiness.

Mobilizing this army of 15,000 volunteers is the main problem of these predrive days. No conscription draft to help our generals raise their patriotic army. No rewards in pay or glamour can be held out as an enticement. It is just a plain heart call for the performance of a labor of love.

But it is a labor of love. And it is rather fascinating and inspiring to note how many dear people have rushed to offer their services. The list of those so far volunteering contains the very cream of us, from every walk of life. Our wommen, God bless them, are to a large extent, undertaking this noble, but very exacting task. Society women, clubwomen, professional women, business women and just nice wives and mothers are all represented on that heartening list—busy, busy women who could easily have excused themselves on the score of other crowding activities. Women who could easily have written their own little check and left it at that. But they have chosen to write their own little checks first, and then devote their precious time, energy and charms to persuading us to do likewise. They are going to see that every individual one of us is canvassed and inspired to righteous generosity.

And so many of us will not give them a cordial welcome when they call. We shall make their task as difficult and unpleasant for them as we possibly can. We shall argue, suspect, hedge, duck, cheat and even in some extreme cases (as happened last year) revile and abuse, as people will whose hearts are shriveled and whose conscience smarts.

This then, is the army in which our dear women are enlisting. Another thousand or so are still needed that the task of the others may not prove beyond their strength. No there isn't any glamor attached to it, beyond a deep, inclusive impersonal community gratitude, and beyond the very personal sense of worth-while service.

Yes, it is essentially an unselfish, tremendously worth-while cause. This precious Community Chest fund of $2,830,798 is to insure that the welfare work of our city, the care of the weaker brother, the old, the sick, the poor, the sorrowing, and dependent little children, will be properly financed in its errands of mercy.

Every type of relief and philanthropic agency, every organization for the aid and protection of the unfortunate, is supported by this precious Chest money. Every form of needy human, of any color, class or creed is cared for out of this fund. It is the modern, practical way—and we have proved it good. Only 5 cents out of every dollar collected goes for administration and campaign expenses.

I have visited dozens of these organizations during the past year, any everywhere one hears blessings showered upon the Community Chest idea, which has mercifully removed the constant agony of the appeal for funds, which so discouraged their directors, and diverted so much of their energy.

But that highly necessary 15,000 army of persuasive collectors has not yet reached full strength. Don't let it go forth with a shortage of volunteers, so that the dear unselfish ones must do twice the work. They don't have to be all women. Those thousands of men who enjoy some partial leisure can help, too. Your city needs you, the community heart needs you.

It isn't a pleasant job, it calls for some rather magnificent selflessness. But you will be doing it for the weak, the poor, the distressed, the sad amongst us. You will be doing it for orphanages and hospitals and children's clinics, and family relief, and for the tired and discouraged aged poor—and your own soul's sake.

And you will be serving in a rather wonderful army.

ARMISTICE SPEAKER NAMED

Robert M. Clarke, former Superior Court Judge and member of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, will make a patriotic talk next week at the Armistice Day celebration to be held at Imperial in the Imperial Valley under the auspices of the Inter-post Council of the American Legion.

A Cooking SECRET

Everybody Loves It—Every Human System Craves It

An amazing stride has been made in the art of cooking. A housewife is handicapped who doesn't know it. For the sake of every member of your family, learn this secret! No woman's skill in cookery is a match for Science.

Suppose, commencing with tomorrow's breakfast, the man of your house ate everything in sight—with a relish. And the children became greedy for the plainest dishes. Suppose a simple salad on your table caused guests to forget good form, and beg you for the "recipe." These things are all brought about by—vegex.

Vegex is concentrated energy. Not a mere sauce that pampers the palate, but an all-satisfying, full-flavored vegetable essence produced through yeast. A hearty meal of today's "modern" dishes may hold less actual nourishment than is in the bit of vegex the size of a pea! So, while vegex is imparting to every dish, every soup, every stew or salad, even gravy, a new and elusive richness and flavor, it is energizing the whole system! Vegex multiplies white blood corpuscles; helps to make good bone and hard teeth; it gives the body a superabundance of Vitamin B and mineral salts sadly lacking in menus of today.

Some of the body-building elements in vegex are, of course, obtainable in other forms. But who wants to eat yeast! Or take tonics they taste for hours? What child will eat "health foods," and what grown man will eat by rule? A tiny jar of vegex in your kitchen will win compliments for your cooking that bring a blush. Many perfectly marvelous recipes are in the Vegex Cook Book, being distributed free at stores right in your neighborhood. Or, write for one direct to Vitamin Food Company, Inc., Dept. 0, Westfield, Mass.

Invitations are being issued by Mrs. Edward H. Platt of Lafayette Square for the first of a series of bridge luncheons Thursday afternoon, the 5th inst. She will be assisted by Mrs. John T. Coleman and Mrs. B. A. Rimpau. Those included will be Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Rimpau, Mrs. Charles F. Backus, Mrs. Frank Duncan, Mrs. L. E. Wild, Mrs. William Framton, Miss Harry Hubbard, Mrs. J. I. McCifforn, Mrs. Frederick Baker, Mrs. Harry Rose, Miss Eva Sell and Miss Annette Rimpau.

Morris-Toland

The charming Little Church of the Flowers, Glendale, was the setting chosen by Miss Genevieve Leslye Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Morris of Catalina street, for her marriage to John Toland, son of Dr. C. G. Toland of Bonnie Brae street, the ceremony taking place Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, with Rev. Albert Hall of St. Marks, Pasadena, officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore an ensemble suit of amethyst velvet and chiffon with hat to match, and carried an arm shower of butterfly roses and orchids. Miss Ben Elizabeth Northcote assisted as maid of honor, wearing a frock of peach chiffon, fashioned with circular skirt and tight bodice, a turban of peach tulle completing the dainty costume. She carried Somerset dahlias and foliage. Miss Amanda Wright and Miss Madge Toland were the bridesmaids, the former in pink chiffon with hat to match and the latter, a sister of the bridegroom, wearing pale green chiffon with hat to match. Both carried arm bouquets of dahlias.

Cecil Van Wyke served Mr. Toland as best man, while John K. Tomkins and John Trowbridge were ushers. Mrs. James Rice presided at the organ and played the wedding marches, while Mrs. Leonard M. Fry sang "At Dawning" and "When You and I Beheld," the latter song having been written twenty years ago by a close friend of the bridegroom, but not previously sung or published.

The bride was graduated from Cumnock School, while Mr. Toland is an alumnus of Stanford. After a wedding trip of several weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Toland will return to Los Angeles, where they will make their home.

Sunset Wedding

Just at Sunset, when the long shafts of light cast a rosy glow through the tall garden flowers, Miss Martha Harper, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. W. Harper of Santa Monica, became the bride of Charles Keller Turner, the ceremony being read beneath a natural arbor of clematis and roses, Rev. E. J. Harper, an uncle of the attractive young bride, coming down from Corvallis, Or., to officiate. Afterward a wedding supper was served indoors, the rooms rivaling the outdoor gardens in their profusion of fragrant blooms. The candleshades of the sconces along the walls of the dining-room were tiny replicas of the huge pink and white wedding cake which centered the table, while tall candles in silver holders at each corner of the table were tied with huge bows of pink tulle ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with bands of duchesse lace and hand embroideries of half-blown roses, in whose hearts nestled clusters of seed pearls. A long veil of tulle held in place by filets of pearls with shower effect of orange blossoms completed the dainty costume. She carried white orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Sturgeon Harmon was matron of honor, wearing yellow chiffon with white hat and silver slippers, and carried yellow roses, while Miss Lucille Generes, maid of honor, was attired in orchid georgette with hat to match and carried orchid sweet peas and pink cyclamen. The two maids, Miss Marjorie Pierce, in pink georgette, carried lavender sweet peas, and Miss Anita Wilson, in blue with bouquet of pink sweet peas, carried out the rainbow motif. Two little train-bearers, Florence Waddell, in orchid, and Margaret Weber, in shell pink, and flower girls Janey Weber, in yellow, and Helen Waddell in blue, completed the colorful ensemble. The tiny ring-bearer was George Arnold.

Benjamin Harper, brother of the bride, was best man, and Sturges Harmon, George Elkins and Albert Allen were ushers, while Miss Willo Pierce, aunt of the bride, kept the bridal register. Following a brief wedding trip in the north, Mr. and Mrs. Turner will be in Long Beach until the Christmas holidays, when they are planning to go east for a two months' trip, visiting relatives and friends at Dyersburg, Tenn., where Mr. Turner's parents reside, and Memphis, and after their return will be at home at Carroll Park East, Long Beach.

Visiting Sister

Mrs. Vernon Goodwin (Maybelle Rendell) who, with Mr. Goodwin and their son Vernon, Jr., and daughter Barbara, are making their home at 100 G avenue, Coronado, until their new home in Pasadena is completed, has been making flying trips recently to Los Angeles. She came up a week ago to join her sister and brother-in-law Senator and Mrs. Tasker Oddie (Daisy Rendell) of Nevada, who are making a trip to the Coast. They remained for several days and then motored down to Coronado, where the Oddies have been visiting at the Goodwin home. They are returning to Los Angeles today, accompanied by Mrs. Goodwin and will visit here before leaving for Washington, D. C.

Miss Elizabeth Spence, daughter of Mrs. Frances Layng Spence of South Vermont avenue, is visiting at the Goodwin home in Coronado and will remain for several weeks longer.

Round Table Luncheon

Miss Elspeth MacNeill will give the program at the Round Table luncheon tomorrow afternoon at the Assistance League, with a talk on the current plays in New York. Those entertaining with luncheon parties will include Mrs. E. Avery McCarthy, Mrs. J. Warren Tatum, Mrs. John Maurer and Mrs. Edwin Peter Werner.

Informal Tea

Miss Margaret Bourne of Highbourne Gardens, gave an informal tea Friday afternoon honoring Col. and Mrs. A. N. Stark, who have taken a house at 1786 Sycamore avenue for the winter. Col. Stark was the commanding officer during the recent war of the sector in France where Miss Bourne was a Red Cross nurse's aid. The guests included Col. and Mrs. Stark, Col. and Mrs. Frank Webster, Col. and Mrs. Guy Palmer, Col. and Mrs. George Sidney Binckley, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Vreeland, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred North, Miss Elinor Lawson, Miss Caroline Spalding, Miss Elena Binckley, Mrs. Ralph Waldo Trine, Mrs. Kinsey DeWitt, Miss Viroque Baker, Mrs. McCardell, Mrs. Robert Stanley, Stewart Rome, Bernard Martin and Miss Helen Davis.

Luncheon Series

Mrs. Robert M. Allan of 2495 Glenower avenue, entertained with a luncheon at her Los Feliz Heights home, the affair being in the nature of a Halloween party, with dainty favors and place cards carrying out the spirit of Halloween by cleverly fashioned spooks, ghosts and devils. Covers were arranged for eighteen guests and the menu carried out the same motif with the ice creams in the mold of skulls. A profusion of flowers of the fall season was used on the table and about the several rooms of the house. This is the second of a series of affairs Mrs. Allan is giving this winter.

Pledges Honored

To present its pledges to the campus of University of Southern California, Zeta Tau Alpha entertained with a beautifully appointed tea at the chapter house in Ellendale Place Monday afternoon and again in their honor will entertain on the 7th inst., with an informal dance at the chapter house, the decorations to be carried out in the sorority colors of turquoise blue and steel gray.

A Mother's Helper

A large box, and it may be covered with cretonne if desired, used for toys, will be a labor saver for mother. Teach the children to put away their toys after playing with them, and it is a much easier job if they have a definite place to put them.

Soiled Shades

When shades become soiled or faded at the lower end, it is by no means the end of their existence. Remove them from the rollers, make a hem in the good part of the shade and tack the shabby end to the roller. They will look like new as the poor part will scarcely show.

GALL STONES

Did you ever try to melt a stone with any success

Dr. E. H. Graham, a recognized authority on gall-bladder disease, tells me that he often has patients come to him bringing pint jars half filled with the "stones" they have passed after the olive oil treatment. He demonstrates their fallacy by this melting test. I asked the doctor, whom I met at the last A.M.A. convention, some questions about gall stones. I'll give you my questions and his answers:

"Is it possible, Dr. Graham, to pass a large gall stone through the bowel?"

"Yes, in one way only. If there is extensive inflammation of the gall bladder with adhesions to the intestines and final ulceration, the gallstone may go through this ulcer into the intestines. No stone of any size can pass through the intestines in any other way because of the very small caliber of the gall duct. Small stones do pass through the duct to the intestines; when one gets into the duct, of sufficient size to stretch it much, there is great pain—the gall-stone colic."

"Have you observed any relationship between overweight and gall-bladder disease?"

"Ah! I knew you'd come to that, Dr. Peters," laughted the doctor. "Yes, I have observed this. A large percentage of those who have gall-bladder trouble with stones, are overweight."

"Good! I thought you'd say that," I smiled back, "for other surgeons have told me the same thing. What do you consider the relationship?"

"Well, doctor we, know the nucleic of gall-bladder stones are in the great majority of cases composed of infectious germs which have gained access to the gall bladder and caused an irritation with the resultant precipitation of the bile salts. But undoubtedly obesity favors their formation in two ways: (1.) The overeating which results in overweight, causes a bile which is too concentrated; (2.) Obese persons do not actively use their trunk muscles and therefore lose the automatic massage of the gall bladder which keeps it in good condition."

So here we have another good reason for our campaign against overweight, which we have not been emphasizing sufficiently, I'm afraid. From now on, we'll mention it frequently. Prevent overweight by active exercise, especially of the trunk muscles, and correct diet, and you will, in most cases prevent the formation of gall stones.

Here's a little more about gall stones, from Tice:

Climate: Gallstones are more frequent in cold and damp climates.

Sex: They occur three times as frequently in women as in men.

Causes given: tight lacing (doesn't act now!) constipation, sedentary habits, lax abdomen, pregnancy. (I'll sum up—there is a greater proportion of women who are overweight!)

Age: 75 per cent occur after 40. Larger number between 50-60. Under 20, only 1 per cent. (Another summing up by L. H. P. That is the age when too often the physical activities slow down without accompanying slowing down of appetite, hence overweight.)

Race: Russia, Sweden, Hungary, Austria and Germany yield the highest per cent. (Lots of overweighters in those countries?)

Occupation: Sedentary occupation most.

Diet: Indirectly a cause. Overeating with intestinal trouble causes inflammation of the gall bladder. Alcohol, too little water, and everything that favors stagnation of bile, are potent causes.

Exciting cause: Infection.

THE TIMES SALAD

Peel three medium-sized chayotes, cut them in strips and cut the strips in even-sized dice. Boil the dice in boiling salted water until tender, not soft; drain in a colander and rinse in cold water, drain and place in the ice box until cold. Peel an eight-ounce avocado, cut in halves and cut the halves in strips; cut the strips in dice and place in a cold bowl, add the chilled chayotes and mix lightly with a seasoning of salt and paprika, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and six tablespoonfuls of good olive oil. Mound on cold, lettuce-covered plates and sprinkle lightly with finely chopped chives.

FIG TAPIOCA

Cut twelve dried figs in small pieces and cover with warm water, let stand three hours, add half a teaspoonful of cinnamon, the sliced peel of half a lemon and half a cupful of sugar; bring to a boil and simmer ten minutes. Place in a double boiler half a cupful of fine tapioca, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, two cupfuls of hot water and two cupfuls of hot milk; boil fifteen minutes; mix with the cooked figs and pour into a cold dish. Let stand in a cold place for three hours. Serve with cream or orange custard sauce.

MANHATTAN SOUP

Place in a sauce pan four tablespoonfuls of diced potatoes, four tablespoonfuls of diced turnips, four tablespoonfuls of chopped cabbage, four tablespoonfuls of diced carrots, two tablespoonfuls of chopped onion and two tablespoonfuls of butter; stir over a slow fire until the onion is slightly browned; add two cupfuls of hot water and cooked until the vegetables are soft; press through a sieve, return to the fire, add one teaspoonful of meat extract, one cupful of strained tomatoes and one cupful of boiling water; heat and stir in three tablespoonfuls of butter rubbed to a smooth paste with four tablespoonfuls of browned flour and half a cupful of cream; cook five minutes and serve in bouillon cups with a teaspoonful of whipped cream on each serving. Season with salt, paprika and a little mace.

HAM AND RABBIT PIE

Remove the bones from one cleaned Belgian hare and cut the meat in strips; cut three-quarters of a pound of lean ham in strips; cut two slices of bacon in dice and slice three hard-boiled eggs. Place layers of the hare, ham, bacon and hard-boiled eggs in an earthenware baking dish, sprinkling each layer with a seasoning of salt, paprika, chopped parsley and grated lemon rind. Mix one cupful of hot water or meat broth with one tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce and pour over all. Cover with an extra-short biscuit dough, brush with beaten egg and bake one and one-half hours in a moderate oven. Good hot or cold.

SOUR CREAM DRESSING

Beat one cupful of sour cream and beat into it one well-beaten egg, three tablespoonfuls of strained lemon juice, one teaspoonful of salt, four teaspoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of sifted flour, mixed with one teaspoonful of mustard and a pinch of paprika. Place the mixture in a double boiler and stir over the fire until thick and smooth. Chill before using.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

All Over the House

Use salt and vinegar to brighten brass.

An iron that is too hot will fade colors.

Washcloths should be boiled once a week to be germless.

The most expensive linoleum will not look well on the floor if laid incorrectly.

Heat the new range very gradually to prevent the possibility of cracking or splitting.

Sprinkle the insides of new kid gloves with talcum powder and they will be much easier to get on.

Little Helps

If the skin is full of pin feathers you can be sure the fowl is young.

Keep the shells on hard-boiled eggs until you are ready to use them. They will keep much better.

Old-fashioned rick-rack will add an attractive finish to the neck, sleeves and pockets of the bungalow apron.

Try giving weak cocoa to the child who is not fond of milk, yet should have it for strengthening purposes.

Be Prepared

Don't wait until the day of your party to clean the silver and see if you have plenty of china and glassware. These things are just as important as the things to eat and should be looked after just as systematically.

Concerning Iodine

Iodine should be applied as soon after an injury as possible, and then just one painting. Keep iodine in a glass-stoppered bottle, as it evaporates when a cork stopper is used and makes the iodine mixture much stronger.

More Attention

When cleaning a spotted garment in gasoline it is well to run a basting thread around the badly soiled spots that particular attention may be paid to them. Use light thread on dark material and vice versa.

The Laundry List

Take the few minutes extra that it requires to make a duplicate list of clothes sent to the laundry. This is the only way a laundry will recognize a claim and why not take this measure to insure your clothes against loss?

The Woman and Her Job

BY VALERIE WATROUS

(Questions concerning the problems of women will be answered in this column if addressed to Mrs. Watrous at The Times.)

WHEN THE OWNER IS AT THE DOOR

This is a man's story, and all women readers will please turn the page. It's an employer's story. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if some salesmanager posted it on the bulletin board with a notice above it: Salesmen: Attention!

Yesterday afternoon I wandered into one of the big shoe stores along Broadway in search of something to cover my hard-to-fits. In the window were some alluring bargains; shoes that had been $18 for nine and something. Of course, I've yet to find a shoe bargain, but I keep hoping. You women will understand.

After futilely searching the top row next the ceiling, the salesman descended. He was sorry, but not at nine something nor nineteen something did he have anything for me. "Perhaps next week, when we receive a new lot we are expecting . . . " I could play that refrain on my radio.

And so, I wandered out again, neither discouraged nor disgruntled. "Nothing comes from nothing," and I hadn't expected much.

At the door a smiling, elderly gentleman accosted me.

"Did you find what you wanted?" he inquired.

"No, I'm not easy to fit," I smiled back, "and there was nothing for me in the type of shoe I wanted."

"And you tried both floors?"

"No, I hardly think there'd be anything downstairs . . . "

"But we send the broken lines of our very best shoes down there. It's quite possible you might find an odd size there when you couldn't find it here. Let me take you down and introduce you to one of the salesmen," the pleasant gentleman suggested.

I explained that I was due in a near-by office building in five minutes, but my guide had signaled the elevator, and I hadn't the heart to refuse to accompany him, although I felt skeptical.

He called a salesman and introduced him explaining that I had only a few minutes, but would come in later in the afternoon.

"If you will tell our Mr. Blank the type of shoe you want, he can look through the stock, and that will save you time when you return."

Now I hadn't said I'd come back, but after such courtesy I had to pledge my return by describing the kind of shoe I wanted.

Later in the day I again sought the salesman. He had several pairs that were possible, and I finally bought, not because the shoes were what I had been seeking, but because they did fit, and I recalled a line from Hamlet: "Not so deep as a well, nor so wide as a church door, but 'twill serve."

I questioned the elevator man as to the identity of my courteous guide, although I had made a shrewd guess.

"Dat man? Why, dat's Mr. K. hisself!"

I said: "Thank you," but I chuckled into my red fox collar: "That's salesmanship!"

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Dear Mrs. M. M. M.: The first part of your letter was answered in my Thursday column. Before attempting a correspondence course in law, you'd better find out what is required to pass our State bar examinations. I know that the universities demand two years' prelaw, or a bachelor's degree, before admitting students to the law classes. The course is four years, I think, and the preparation and admission to practice are not all there is to becoming a lawyer. There is the waiting for clients, and I know that the majority of men either enter other law firms as clerks after their admission, or they have incomes sufficient to tide them over the first four or five years while they are building up a practice. If you were ten years younger the problem would be more easily solved, and you could afford to wait. Since you want to help finance the education of your children, you can't afford to wait. A course in beauty parlor work, after which you could open a modest shop of your own, or a course in book-keeping would be a much shorter route to an income. You can study both these subjects in the evening high schools, or the beauty work in the Grand Avenue Trade School in the day time. No fees are charged.

WOMAN DIES IN THIRD TRY TO END LIFE

Will Bequeaths Estate to Mother, Cutting Off Mate With Legacy of Dollar

After writing a will in which she left her husband $1 and all the rest of her property to her mother, and directed that her husband should lose even this legacy in case of a contest, Mrs. Mary Alice Sjostrom, 30 years of age, ended her life with poison yesterday in a hotel room at 205 South Figueroa street. A maid found Mrs. Sjostrom in agony on the floor and called police, who took her to Receiving Hospital, where she died in a few minutes.

The document names the mother as Mrs. Mary Randall, 1641 Washington street, San Francisco. The woman's husband is said to be a tailor. Detective Lieutenants Hickey and Shannon said they found tax receipts indicating she owned property at 1258 North Alexandria street.

Asst. Capt. Bean of the detective bureau said this was Mrs. Sjostrom's third attempt to take her life.

The gift basket, containing a message of good will from President C. C. Teague of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, was presented at the Santa Fe station by Miss Carol Finney, representing "Miss Sunkist." # HUGE FILM PROGRAM OUTLINED

First National's Plans for Coming Season Require $20,000,000 Expenditure

Production plans of First National Pictures for the coming season will call for an investment close to $20,000,000. The program will be the "most ambitious in the history of the organization."

Richard A. Rowland, general manager of First National Pictures, has not tendered his resignation, as rumors have it.

These statements came from John McCormick, general manager of production for First National, who returned yesterday from New York City.

They form the high points of a two weeks' trip East during which McCormick conferred with First National executives on forthcoming activities for the coming season.

In the McCormick party, which arrived on the California Limited, were Cleve Moore, Ronald Colman, Joseph Hubbell and Harry D. Wilson.

"New books, plays, and original stories have been purchased for production," said McCormick. "Negotiations are now being carried on for some of the biggest directors to join our fold in Los Angeles. Some of the biggest film hits of the forthcoming season will carry First National trademarks, and the West Coast will see more companies working under the First National banner in the future than ever before in the history of the company."

McCormick drew added attention to the length of travel time between New York and Los Angeles, stating it an obstacle of severe consideration.

IRE LEVELS PLANT WITH LOSS OF $20,000

Fire, believed caused by a short-circuit in the electric wiring, leveled the Joseph Schilling Building at Jackson street and Losey avenue, Hynes, early last evening, with a loss estimated at $20,000. Starting in a corner of the structure, the flames had enveloped the building and the interior was a raging mass of flames before the arrival of fire-fighting apparatus.

TWO MEN ASSAULTED BY THUGS

Beat Victims in Hold-up; Five Sunday Morning Thefts Reported to Police

Thugs who beat two men so severely they required hospital treatment were operating with several other hold-up men early yesterday, according to police reports. There were five hold-ups reported in various parts of the city.

The thug victims were A. J. Conley of 1030 West Eighth street, and M. E. Smith of the Huntington Hotel. Three men attacked Conley at Tenth and Georgia streets, inflicted many bruises, and stole his watch and $15. Smith was attacked near his hotel by two men, who inflicted a scalp wound and other injuries, and robbed him, but he was unable to state the amount of his loss. Both were treated at Receiving Hospital.

Charles H. Vance reported he was robbed at Twelfth street and Central avenue by two men who jumped on the running board of his car and held him up with a pistol. He lost $15. Bert A. Cole of 1415 East Washington street accepted a ride from two strangers at Twenty-third street and Griffith avenue; after they had gone several blocks they robbed him of $18 and threw him out. E. F. Ludolph, an oil-station owner, was returning to his home at 5351 Eighth avenue when two men held him up and took his night's receipts, $175.

ACTOR KILLS SELF AFTER FAMILY ROW

Film Man Sued by Wife Kisses Children Good-by and Fires Fatal Shot

Louis H. Cuneo, motion-picture actor and former producer, yesterday kissed his two children good-by and then shot himself through the head at his home, 1741 Crescent Drive. He died instantly. The shot followed a quarrel with Mrs. Cuneo, against whom he filed suit for divorce on Friday, and a struggle with her for possession of his revolver, which he won. He locked himself in the bedroom to kill himself.

Cuneo had been drinking heavily for several weeks, Mrs. Cuneo told Detective Lieutenants Hack and Carmen, and was intoxicated when he came to the house at 5:30 p.m. His first act was to caress the youngsters, a boy 2 years of age and a girl of 11 months, his next was to start a quarrel and his third act was to obtain his revolver from a closet.

Mrs. Cuneo said she tried to wrest the weapon from him, but he shook her off, ran to the bathroom and turned the key. His body was sent to the Gates, Crane & Earl undertaking rooms. Mrs. Cuneo's mother was in the house at the time, but was not a witness to the affair. Cuneo was 37.

RUSH MEADOWS FACES DRUG CHARGE TODAY

The narcotic case pending against Rush Meadows, former U.S.C. athlete and gridiron star, is on the calendar for call today in Judge McCormick's court. The defendant is now facing a two-year term in a Federal penitentiary in addition to a fine of $10,000 following his conviction several months ago of dealing in forged Liberty bonds.

Cryer Reported Resting Well After Injury

Mayor Cryer was reported to be "resting as well as could be expected" at his home, 530 Shatto Place, last night. He was injured Saturday afternoon when his automobile was struck by a Pacific Electric Hollywood car.

He was cut and bruised in the crash, in addition to suffering a broken leg. Dr. M. L. Moore, the Mayor's personal physician, stated yesterday that the limb may be fractured in two places.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

CELEBRATE END OF WORLD WAR

Pasadena Veterans Arrange Program

British Soldiers Join in Day's Events

Dedicate Legion Building With Ceremony

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 1.—November 11 will be Pasadena's greatest Armistice Day since the World War ended, according to plans for an elaborate celebration shaped by the Pasadena Post of the American Legion, in charge of the day's activities.

The British War Veterans of Southern California will hold their annual convention in Pasadena that day, bringing together men who have served under the royal command in all parts of the world and in many varied campaigns. The Canadian Veterans' Club of Pasadena will be host to their brothers-in-arms of the past, and the organization is co-operating with Adjutant Robert McCurdy of the American Legion in arranging the day's celebration.

Starting at 10 o'clock on the morning of Armistice Day, a parade of American, British, Canadian and Australian war veterans, as well as many aged survivors of the American Civil War, and numerous Boy Scout and military reserve organizations, will march from Colorado street and Lake avenue, west to Raymond avenue, and then to the beautiful new American Legion War Memorial Building at 115 North Marengo avenue.

With Capt. Paul Perigord, professor of French civilization at the University of Southern California as the principal speaker, an impressive dedication ceremony of the new Legion building will take place at 11 o'clock. Commander Frederick J. Loomis will be grand marshal of the parade.

The feature of the afternoon program will be a football game at the Rose Bowl between a team headed by "Brick" Mueller, and composed entirely of former "all-American" men, playing under the banner of the Pasadena Post of the American Legion, and the team of the U.S.S. Melville, undefeated for the supremacy of the southern division of the Pacific Coast fleet.

The day's program will be climaxed by two military balls, one at the Shakespeare Clubhouse under the auspices of the British War Veterans, and the other at the Hotel Maryland, given by the American Legion.

ERECT MEMORIALS

Fountain, Gate and Grill to Ornament Campus

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CLAREMONT, Nov. 1.—Construction of three new memorials to grace the Pomona College campus began last week. The three memorials consist of a wall fountain, decorative gate and an iron grill and bench all to be located adjoining the Marston quadrangle forming a new patio between Sumner and Bridges halls.

The iron grill and bench is erected in memory of Jessie Hays Williams by Dr. R. D. Williams. The wall fount is the gift of Dean Edwin C. Norton as a memorial to his son, Theodore Edwin Norton, while the new wall and gate is the graduating gift of the class of 1920. Total cost of the three memorials is estimated at $3000. Sumner Maurice Spaulding, Los Angeles architect, drew the plans for the memorials, co-operating with the firm of Cook & Hall and Ralph Cornell, '14, landscape gardener.

BEAN PRICE LOWER TO OXNARD GROWERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Nov. 1.—According to unofficial reports here the price of lima beans dropped from the original $12.65, the October shipment price set by the California Lima Bean Growers' Association, to $11.75. It was reported that the association, basing its price on a smaller estimated crop than actually developed, sold considerable beans at the price of $12.65, but orders failed to continue flowing during the greater part of the month. Therefore to stimulate November buying and to move beans, the price has been dropped.

Purchasers of association beans for October shipment at the opening price are reported to have been given a further reduction of 30 cents per hundredweight, conditional on duplicating their October orders.

COMPANY BUILDS NEW WAREHOUSE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TULARE, Nov. 1.—Preparatory to construction of a $50,000 garage and warehouse on the same site by the Southern California Edison Company, raising of the old Mount Whitney steam plant at the eastern limits of Tulare is well under way. Charles Thorne, superintendent, has a crew of thirty men dismanteling the plant and actual construction of the new structures are expected to start by the middle of next week.

The new building will be fireproof and earthquake proof, built of reinforced concrete with structural steel construction. Office rooms, shop showers and steel lockers are included in the plans.

INSTALL NEW CONDUIT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 1.—Installation of one of the largest underground telephone conduit projects ever undertaken in Pasadena will be started tomorrow in the west and northwest sections of the city by the Home Telephone and Telegraph Company. The project, which will cost approximately $115,000, will be completed in three months.

BRING GREAT SHARK TO GAFF

Ocean Park Fisherman Lands Giant

P. Nash and Unusual Catch

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Nov. 1.—After a hard struggle in which the strength of five men was necessary to haul it aboard, Paul Nash, Ocean Park fisherman, emerged the victor today over a 560-pound hammerhead or anchorhead shark. The shark, measuring twelve feet long, is said to be the largest ever caught off the bay shore.

Nash and his friends were fishing from a barge three miles off the Ocean Park pier when they caught the shark. The sea giant will be placed on exhibition tonight at the entrance to the pier.

Monthly Dinner of Boosters to be in Monrovia

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MONROVIA, Nov. 1.—The importance of Los Angeles county's metropolitan sewer system, particularly to the San Gabriel Valley, will be the chief address to be delivered here Tuesday night at the monthly banquet of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel Valley. A. K. Warren, county sanitation engineer, will be the speaker on a program of importance to the entire valley.

Because reservations for the dinner already had reached more than 300, President J. L. Matthews announced today that the banquet, originally scheduled to be held in the Aztec Hotel would be transferred to the Methodist Church of this city.

District seven of the new metropolitan sewer plan contains eighteen cities and communities of this valley where voters soon will pass upon approximately a $5,000,000 bond issue. In other districts of the county more than $10,000,000 has been voted for this purpose. Work already has been started in these districts and it is planned to incorporate the new district in time to connect with trunk-line sewers and the ocean outfall as planned by Engineer Warren.

Tuesday's banquet is the second of this year to be held under auspices of the Associated Chambers of Commerce. Other speakers on the program will touch upon problems of the valley.

Bank Clearings Show Big Gain in Crown City

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 1.—General business growth and prosperity in Pasadena will be reflected at the end of this year by an increase of approximately $20,000,000 in bank clearings over those of last year, according to predictions made today by Secretary Harry A. Collyer of the local clearing-house. Clearings to date this year exceed those of last year at this date by $14,000,000, including an increase announced today of $2,000,000 for last month, as compared to October, 1924.

"This year has shown remarkable strides over all previous years," Collyer said. "Repeating what I have said a good many times before, a city's bank clearings are a pretty reliable barometer of its business conditions. It is definitely certain that the next two months will top November and December of last year, which were among the banner months of 1924. Thus we are practically certain of having $20,000,000 more than last year."

SURPRISE WEDDING

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 1. What comes as a big surprise to their friends here is the announcement that Walter B. Thompson of this city, former City Attorney of Huntington Park, and Mrs. Annis Breeding, also of this city, quietly slipped away last Monday, making their way to San Bernardino, where they were united in marriage that evening. No one knew of their plans until their announcement of the marriage yesterday to their many friends. Mr. Thompson is a member of the Huntington Park Bar Association, and practices law in this city.

NEW ROTARY CLUB

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BELL, Nov. 1. — Preparations have been made for a great time here tomorrow night when the Bell Rotary Club will observe its charter night, and will then become a full-fledged club. The charter will be presented by the district governor, Thomas Bridges. Fred A. McClung of Huntington Park, prominent Rotarian and sponsor of the local club, will preside until the charter is presented, when Paul Callow, local president, will take the chair. Members of the Woman's Club of Bell will serve the banquet. It is expected that Rotarians from all parts of Southern California will be in attendance.

PLAN TO REBUILD MISSION

Start Campaign to Raise Funds to Restore Old-Time Landmark

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 1.—Pioneers and Californians interested in the preservation of the Southland's early landmarks will restore the old San Bernardino Asistencia, a mission erected by Franciscan padres near Redlands in 1822. Senator Lyman M. King of Redlands and George W. Beattie of East Highlands are directing a campaign to raise funds to restore the mission, a portion of which is still standing.

The mission site, on the old J. W. Barton ranch, was purchased by the Board of Supervisors as a county memorial park for $2500. On the site are the mud walls of the old structure, at which the early Spaniards and Indians worshipped.

The mission was one of the chain constructed by the padres in California and for years has been neglected. Mr. Beattie, a student of California history, became interested in the proposal to restore the mission through his study of its history. In his writings, Mr. Beattie tells of the days when the mission was Christianity's only outpost in the San Bernardino Valley, years before the coming of the Mormon settlers in 1851.

The mission's ruins are situated on a hill overlooking the valley, three miles west of Redlands.

Mass Meeting to Formulate Sewage Plans

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Nov. 1.—Property owners of the northern sections of Glendale and of Casa Verdugo, will be called together in a mass meeting within the next ten days to decide on the plans that are to be adopted for a comprehensive drainage system to be installed at a cost of $224,588, which will be designed to protect the property in these districts from the flood menace.

The meeting, which will be arranged by City Manager V. B. Stone and be held at the Casa Verdugo school, will be addressed by City Manager J. F. Johnnsen and County Surveyor John Rockhold, who will explain the needs of the district, and who will present the program planned to submit to the Board of Supervisors.

The original drainage program called for an outlay of $355,000, and included an area of 900 acres, but this area has been enlarged to 1300 acres under the proposed new plan and the cost has been lowered. The laterals included in the original program have been eliminated and the main drain will be laid along Stocker street, thence to South street and on to San Fernando Road, where it will empty into the Los Angeles River.

SEEK ANNEXATION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH GATE, Nov. 1.—As a result of the organization of the South Gate Taxpayers' League, petitions will be circulated asking that this city will be annexed to Huntington Park.

The league members have under discussion business pertaining to city affairs. They state that they are dissatisfied with the tax-rate as fixed by the Board of Trustees at $1.46 on the $100 of assessable property, while the tax-rate fixed by the Trustees in Huntington Park is only $1.33 on the $100 of assessed property. The league also is dissatisfied with street paving contracts recently let by the Trustees.

ORANGE COUNTY HAPPY

Heavy Bank Deposits Proof Returning Wave of Bright Prospects for Ranchers

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ORANGE, Nov. 1.—Any pessimism that might have developed in Orange county following last winter's drought, with its accompanying wind and frost damage, is rapidly vanishing under the magic touch applied by improved business conditions, particularly as evidenced in increased banking deposits.

The rather dark outlook that followed the dry season is being replaced by a bright perspective into the future—the very immediate future, which is now at hand with teeming prospects for a wet winter and a consequent crop boom.

In other words, the plain, everyday optimism that usually characterizes the average Southern Californian has returned after being threatened by its arch enemy—pessimism—through the medium of two discouraging dry seasons.

As concrete evidence of this fact, the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce has just completed a survey of local banks, which brought out astounding figures showing that bank deposits in Orange are displaying a healthy increase over last year.

The latest bank statements, as obtained by V. D. Johnson, chamber secretary, reveal the surprising fact that there is on deposit in the three local banks the comfortable sum of $3,277,360.40.

Compared with last year at this date, this represents an increase of $326,836.61, vividly illustrating that despite the frosts and wind damage which threatened the crops there has been deposited nearly a third of a million dollar increase over last year.

As another healthy sign, the segregation of the savings from the commercial deposits reveals the interesting information that the people have deposited $1,258,899.83 in the city's savings banks, which represents a glowing gain of $199,799.83 over the corresponding period last year.

Another proof that the citizens are saving their money is seen in the resources of the Orange Building and Loan Association, which, on September 28, this year, aggregated $1,281,982.80, or an increase of $163,528.81 over the same date in 1924.

"Our banks are the true barometers of business conditions," said Johnson today. "The figures tell their own story and furnish a practical reason why a great wave of optimism is again rippling over Orange county and Southern California."

FARM BUREAU ELECTS

Kern County Organization Chooses New Officers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 1.—Elected by unanimous vote, A. E. Hoagland, director for the Edison Fairfax district, was made president of the Kern County Farm Bureau for the coming year at the annual meeting of the directors of the organization today in the Courthouse.

Other officers and directors elected at the meeting were as follows: S. I. Merrill, Rio Bravo, vice-president; Mrs. Viola E. Rasmussen, secretary; C. H. Stiles, A. H. Swain, Robert Barlow and Roland Hill, directors at large, and Basil Herman, publisher of the Wasco News, State director.

As a member of the directorate of the County Fair, Swain spoke favoring the county's ultimate purchase of its own grounds at a cost to approximate $150,000. That is the price reported to have been set on the site used this year. If the county does not purchase this site, he continued, a loss of $15,000 in equipment must be sustained as that is the amount already spent on the grounds by the directors.

Hugh Jewett, as chairman of the cotton seed committee, reported. In Kern county, he asserted, 11,000 acres of cotton have been given over this season to the production of pure-seed acala to be used for next year's planting, there will be seed enough for 60,000 acres.

Out of the 11,000 acres, 400 acres will be selected for an even higher quality seed. This will be used for producing the seed for the following year's seed production. In this manner, through a process of elimination the seed will be improved in quality as each year passes.

LIBERTY SLATED FOR NEW COAT OF PAINT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HANFORD, Nov. 1.—"Liberty," an illustrious young woman who twice won prizes for Kings county at State fairs at Sacramento, has been badly wrecked. She was to be exhibited again, this time in the county Armistice Day parade at Lemoore, this county, but she will have to be rehabilitated and revamped before she can make another public appearance. . . .

When Secretary Kimmel of the Kings County Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by Former Secretary B. B. Price, drove out to the fair grounds pavilion, where the lady has been in storage for some time, it was found that much of her paint had disappeared and it will be necessary to give her a new coat of whitewash.

The gentlemen in charge state that they were in doubt whether to take her to the County Hospital, next to the fair grounds, or bring her to a beauty doctor in town, but the beauty doctor won approval and "Liberty" is off her pedestal and undergoing treatment.

TO MAKE ABSTRACTS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HANFORD, Nov. 1.—A business change in this city of considerable local interest is the succession to the agency of the Security Title Insurance and Guaranty Company of Los Angeles by Harry G. Smith, a well-known abstract man of this city, who will open an office tomorrow in the new Bank of Italy Building. He has also purchased the business of the Safety Abstract and Title Company, conducted in this city by J. H. Farley ever since Kings county was cut off from Tulare county.

Census Not in Favor With Long Beach Chamber

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 1.—Desire on the part of the City Council to spend money on an official census of Long Beach population, under Federal supervision, has made no hit with the directors of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce. Opposition to the Council's plan was voiced today by Fred B. Dunn, one of the directors, who declared that expenditure of city money on such a project is unnecessary.

Recent Federal reports gave this city's population as 90,000, while Long Beach claims 140,000, and bases this claim on reports from telephone companies, electric companies and the city directory.

"I understand the proposed census would cost about $28,000," Mr. Dunn said. "That money can be spent by the city to better advantage. The people of Long Beach know the Federal figures are incorrect and comparatively few outsiders will see them, anyway. The figures of public-utility companies for estimating population here have always been within 6 per cent of being correct. We can continue to use them until the next Federal census, which will give us the truth," Mr. Dunn declared.

The displeasure of the Chamber of Commerce directors over the Council's plan to spend money on a census will be communicated to the city fathers, it was said.

CANTU BACK HOME

Exile Permitted to Return to Mexico

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CALEXICO, Nov. 1.—Col. Estaban Cantu, former Governor of the Northern District of Lower California, who defied the Obregon administration and then fled to the United States for safety when Mexican Federal troops were sent to oust him, returned to Mexico this week after five years in exile from his own country. He has been residing in Los Angeles since his hasty departure from the territorial seat of government at Mexicali.

Friends of Cantu have for several months been seeking official permission for him to return to Mexico. He came here early last summer and held a conference with Gov. Abelardo Rodrigues, and it was rumored at that time that he was to be restored to citizenship.

Later a message was received by territorial officials from Mexico City stating that Cantu would not be welcome in Mexico.

Recently influences have been brought to bear in his behalf, however, and the Department of Interior has authorized his return with full rights of citizenship.

He is the owner of a large ranch near Mexicali to which he expects to give his personal attention in the future.

HIGHWAY BEAUTIFUL

Association Adopts Resolutions as to Construction

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 1.—The Greater Manchester Boulevard Association has recommended that this boulevard, which will extend from Palisades Del Rey to Santa Ana, and later on to San Diego, be paved with cement concrete, and a certain lighting standard has also been approved by the association.

A petition now in circulation to improve a section of the boulevard between the west line of South Gate and the city limits of Los Angeles, this to be 100 feet in width, to correspond with the other sections of the thoroughfare. This will be done under the Mattoon Act, if this law is declared to be constitutional.

The association has gone on record as approving of parks along the big highway, and a committee for park promotion, consisting of Thomas J. Ridge, W. L. Stewart and H. George Herschvogel, has been appointed to look after this department of the association's work.

Of these minors, 5169 are white children, twenty-one negroes, four yellow, eight Japanese, seventy-nine Mexican and nine of other nationalities. Of the foreign parents listed in the survey, only seven fathers cannot read and speak the English language, while fourteen mother are illiterate.

THE BEACHES' NEWEST CLUB

Announce Ground Breaking Soon

The Breakers, Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 1.—Definite announcement that ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Breakers Club on the site where Marine Terrace meets Ocean Front, would take place on January 1, 1926, were made yesterday by Harry L. Lewis chairman of the building committee of the organization.

The new clubhouse will be within half a block of the Edgewater Club and the Casa del Mar. It will have the largest private beach, it is stated, of any beach club to date, with 343 feet of sand directly in front of the club building. The clubhouse proper will be on a site 220x125 feet.

To date more than 500 prominent Southern California business and professional men have enrolled in the organization, according to George Bowman, chairman of the membership committee.

Features of the club will include an esplanade upon the beach, a bathers' grill, sun parlors, various public and private dining-rooms, bridge, billiard and mah jongg parlors, dressing rooms for bathers, showers, gymnasiums with handball, tennis, squash and volleyball courts, dormitories and bachelor apartments.

Reginald Barker has been appointed by Lewis to arrange a mid-winter spectacle appropriate to the ground-breaking ceremonies on the new year.

BIG PRICE PAID FOR NEW CROP

Anaheim Orange Association to Pay Members $5 a Box for Fruit

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ANAHEIM, Oct. 31.—According to preliminary estimates released by G. W. Sandilands, of the Anaheim Orange and Lemon Association, that association expects to pay its growers an average of $5 per packed box net at the packing house for fruit shipped as a part of the third pool of the season just closed. Actual figures will not be made known until accounting is fully completed, Sandilands said.

"Considering the unusual difficulties facing us this season from frost-nipped fruit and the preponderance of small sizes in the season's run, the association feels that the season has brought satisfactory returns to the growers," Sandilands declared. "We have taken every means known to us to place every orange to advantage."

With the closing of the season's packing and shipping, the house also has completed its other activities, including its fall fumigating and the distribution of fertilizer and clover seed to members, according to the manager.

After the regular annual meeting, to be held in January, the association will be able to announce refunds on the year's business that will augment payments considerably, he added, the regular returns which members have or are to receive on their fruit.

Widows Lead in Booking for World Tours

Success of six around-the-world cruises, all affecting the port of Los Angeles and involving an estimated total of 3000 tourists, is assured and the travel season of 1925-1926 will be the most successful on record, according to telegraphic advices received by the D. F. Robertson Travel Bureau, 714 Hibernian Building.

A summary prepared by the steamship companies reveals the fact that at present approximately 30 per cent of all persons booked for the world cruises are widows, and 13 per cent widowers.

Among the Angelenos booked on tours around the world, include: Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dickinson, Mrs. E. A. Tufts, Mr. James Ohler, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Fisher, Dr. and Mrs. N. B. Rairden, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kegley, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Marcher, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Jack, Maj. and Mrs. M. W. Hingeley, Mr. and Mrs. H. Parker.

Asserts Dealer Defrauded Him in House Deal

Accused of obtaining $1200 from Thomas B. Walsh by false pretenses in connection with a real estate deal, Vincent J. Cox will appear today in Judge Burnell's court for arraignment. Cox is said to be a large holder of real estate.

It is charged that on July 16, last, the defendant represented to Walsh that he owned a house at 920 Burnside avenue, and that the property was then free of incumbrances, except for a mortgage of $9500. It is asserted that the property was not owned by Cox and that it was incumbered to a greater extent than stated.

A second count charges grand larceny of $1200 in connection with the same deal and covering the same set of facts.

ASKS AUTOMOBILES FOR SEWER PATROL

In order to obtain a more efficient operation of the automatic sewer flushers installed throughout the city, City Engineer Shaw has recommended to the Board of Public Works that two additional small automobiles be purchased for the flusher maintenance crews. In his report to the board the City Engineer said that with the addition of the two cars there will be a total of four machines, each manned by two men, to inspect constantly the sewer flushers, to assure their effective operation and to make necessary repairs or adjustments.

Youthful Prank May Result in Death of Girl

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

UPLAND, Nov. 1.—Efforts of Robert Garrison, 2004 Fairmont avenue, South Pasadena, to dodge a sign placed near a dip in the pavement of East Nineteenth street, as a Halloween prank, early today resulted in serious injuries to two young women of his party when his motor car turned turtle.

Miss Catherine Cooper, 1718 Miland avenue, South Pasadena, sustained a probable fracture of the skull and other painful injuries. Her condition was reported serious this evening at the San Antonio Community Hospital, where members of the party were taken following the accident. Miss Harriet McLaren, 1835 Fairmont avenue, South Pasadena, sustained painful abrasions and bruises about the face and hands, but her condition is not critical.

Garrison and Charles Cooper, brother of one of the young women, escaped with lesser hurts. According to the young men, they were driving west on Nineteenth street and as their car came up out of a dip in the roadway, a large sign, which had been dragged onto the pavement, probably by Halloween pranksters, loomed up in front of them, and it was the efforts of the driver to avoid striking this that caused the accident. Dr. John B. Craig was called to attend the injured young women.

SAN DIEGO POLICE GET AUTO SUSPECT

The Sheriff's office yesterday was notified by the San Diego police of the arrest of Howard Wilson, asserted to be in possession of an automobile belonging to Arthur S. Westphal, 605 South Wilton Place, which was stolen from the Hollywood Country Club. Wilson, according to the information, was arrested just this side of the Mexican line. He will be brought here to answer to a grand larceny charge, according to the Sheriff's office.

NATIVES IN MEXICAN INTERIOR BENIGHTED

EXPLORERS FIND RACE THAT TAKES NO INTEREST IN HOLLYWOOD

Strange tales rivaling the adventures of Marco Polo were brought to Los Angeles yesterday by Sol Lesser upon his return from a two weeks' hunting and fishing trip in the interior of Mexico.

A strange tribe was encountered, he declared, who had never heard of Hollywood. The natives, nevertheless, or therefore, were most friendly, but evinced no curiosity about the characteristics and home life of film stars, for which there is no word in their language.

STREET LIGHTS ASKED

The City Council has received majority property owners' petitions asking for the installation of ornamental lighting posts on Fifty-first Place from Hoover street to Vermont avenue and on Redondo Boulevard from La Brea avenue to San Vicente Boulevard.

COMEDY AMUSING

"TO THE LADIES" TRIUMPH FOR BARBARA BROWN

By Grace Kingsley

"Dulcy" has a bright little sister. Messrs. Kaufman and Connelly, parents of "Dulcy," have another brain child. She is "To the Ladies," and the heroine of "To the Ladies" is the very antithesis of poor Dulcy. Because whereas Dulcy was a helpless little dumb-bell wife, this one is very efficient.

This bit of gentle drollery and bright satire opened yesterday at the Majestic. And I rather think that I will warn those who thought "Abie's Irish Rose" a great play to stay away. All that delightful fooling and poking sly fun at banquets and efficiency systems and bosses in offices and the husband who cannot even find a laundry list without his wife's help, much less keep his job, will be lost on the Abie's-Irish-Rose hounds.

The plot meanders through the first two acts, almost getting lost at times, but personally I didn't care, while I giggled and snickered over the comic presentment of the small troubles of the young married couple, who entertain the man's boss in their house and are paralyzed at the entrance of the two men who come to take away the unpaid-for piano, and at the clever little wife's subterfuges and efforts to aid her husband.

And then that gorgeous second act! Most of it is devoted to a pompous banquet of the Kincaid Piano Company members and employees. The diners face the audience, seated at a long, decorated table, and one hears delighted little guffaws all over the house at the bromidic speeches made by the Senator, who takes advantage of the occasion to turn it into Democratic propaganda, by the big boss, who prefaces his remarks by the statement that he is "a notoriously bad speaker" and then goes on to prove it; and by the sonorous toastmaster with all the proceedings frequently interrupted by the noise of the waiters and inevitable man with the cough.

The wallop of this act comes when the young husband, who has learned his speech out of a book because "people don't go to banquets to hear people talk the way they talk," is preceded by another young man, his rival in the office, who makes the same speech, thus spiking hubby's guns. That's where the wife comes in with a speech which she pretends was his when she finds her husband cannot open his mouth for dismay. That speech is a blue-ribboner, of course, and wins hubby a promotion.

A delightful part about this play is that the little wife does no marvel of business to help her husband's success. She just does the common-sense things that any wife would do.

Edward Everett Horton makes a most quaintly amusing, effective and subtly colorful characterization of the ambitious young husband. He played the role in pictures and has the advantage of all that experience.

Barbara Brown is a revelation to us in her skillful and charming playing of the young wife, who doesn't ever quite let her husband know that she knows she is helping him. Here is a part requiring fine little pastelle shadings of comedy and pathos, and Miss Brown never misses a trick. Franklin Pangborn is effective as the breezy and fresh young office clerk who wants to go into vaudeville, even though he carries the ingenious little boy stuff too far at times, especially in the latter scenes. Henry Hall some day probably will put away his make-up box and go out and become a bank president or something, he has played so many of that sort of parts and played them so convincingly; again he wins as the big boss. Ruth Stewart is disappointing as the fly stenographer. It isn't that she doesn't "hoke." It is that she fails to get laughs where she should in some of her lines. Florence Pierce Reed, in a somewhat colorless role as to the first two acts, fails to establish herself as the bright but cryptic sort of person she was undoubtedly intended to be, succeeding only in looking and acting gloomy, with undetermined character. I would suggest a more definite planting of character. The other actors are all excellent in their small roles.

POLLOCK'S "FOOL" IS AT CRITERION

Fools do indeed rush in where angels fear to tread. Else "The Fool" never would have dared to rush into a picture

I did love to think of Channing Pollock's "The Fool" as a great play. In some ways it was. It had mounting power, virility, a penetrating philosophy at times, a wealth of vital characterization, and above all it treated humanly, sanely, even with some natural and saving humor and a deal of insight, the problem of what would befall the man who tried to travel in the footsteps of the Master. Above all it was glamorous with Pollock's own bright spirit.

But the picture version, showing at the Criterion, has only the dry bones of melodrama. This picture version, save in a few spots where it was seemingly impossible to ruin the play's quality, blandly strips the story of all the above-named qualities.

If you don't know the original play, I think you could hardly follow the picture, so badly is it directed. Few sequences in the film story endure long enough for the spectator even to know what they are all about, much less inspire any sympathy for the characters concerned.

I didn't see how the director could possibly botch the great healing scene. But he did. He sustained the brawling of the crowd just about fifteen seconds too long. You kept expecting Mary Margaret to hop up healed. Instead of which the fight kept on and on until you didn't care what happened to her or to anybody else. In the play this scene could be effectively prolonged because at its close you heard Mary Margaret's thrilling scream of amazement that she could walk without her crutches.

Where did they get that blessed child, Anna Dale? Her playing of Mary Margaret is the one bright spot in the whole show to me. A more sympathetic, natural and lovely, characterization has rarely been seen on the screen. I do hope we shall see her in a lot of other suitable roles.

I hesitate to criticise Eddie Lowe, he is usually so good. But in this picture his idea of a man of sorrows seems to have been one who cultivated sideburns and put tragedy make-up on his eyes before he went out to meet the great rude multitude, who struck a shocked attitude when any lady professed to love him, and who, however much he might have been bewildered by life's problems, never was a bit at a loss as to where the camera was.

Mary Thurman looked the part of Pearl—that street-walking Pearl of small price—but she failed to live up to her opportunities. Also, she irritated by wearing the inevitable feather boa, badge of sin or comedy—or both—on stage and screen.

A charming, colorful prologue, with the Melody Kings featured, and a very amusing Krazy Kat Kartoon lift the average of the show, however, and the music is very pleasing. Indeed, if you dodge the feature, you will have a very good time.

TYPICAL DENNY FARE AT FORUM

BY HERBERT MOULTON

Reginald Denny is typically his cinema self at the Forum this week. His is the same delightful personality and he plunges into the same delightfully funny situations. In fact, I don't know when I've seen a Denny picture with so many distressing complications as this one. They pile up with breath-taking rapidity at times, until one really begins to feel sorry for the poor hero, even though he is only a projected image.

"Where Was I?" is an appropriate title if ever there was one. It is based on the fact that Denny could not recall where he happened to be on a certain day of a certain year and could not find anyone who knew. In most cases his forgetfulness would not have mattered much, but in this one it brings on Old Man Trouble and a flock of progeny. For it was on that particular day that Denny, according to the claims of the mysterious woman in the plot, was united in holy matrimony with that same mysterious woman. So "Where Was I?" becomes the uppermost question in the minds of everyone involved.

Despite its abundance of mirthful situations, however, "Where Was I?" is not the best vehicle Reginald Denny has had. "California Straight Ahead" drew frequent and prolonged outbursts from the spectators. "Where Was I?" does not. It has many laughs, but actual guffaws are somewhat scarce.

On the other hand, Denny has never to my knowledge had so many narrow squeaks as he has in his new picture. He appears to be in a hopelessly involved mess at the climax. While the story is building up to this point his escapades are many. He realizes, like the audience, that every move he makes takes him just that much nearer his eventual downfall, and while this in no way detracts from the audience's appreciation of the humor of the thing, it makes them at times feel just a wee bit sorry for him.

The mysterious woman, played by Pauline Garon, is the cause of all the trouble. She it is who breezes into Denny's office just after he has announced to his associates that he plans to elope with the daughter of his business rival on the morrow.

Some of the best comedy in the picture comes through Denny's efforts to convince his friends that the woman is a blackmailer. Failing in that, he tries to make her out as insane. Failing in that, he almost goes crazy himself, for Miss Garon completely wins over the others, who turn on Denny and confound him by asking him to prove where he was on the day the fair lady claims he married her.

Merriment is at its highest pitch, however, during the episode where Denny returns to his home after a hectic night in a taxi in search of the only person in the world who can possibly help him out of his predicament. At home Denny finds his "wife," and after several minutes of hilarity while she takes him in hand, along comes his sweetheart, played by Marian Nixon. Keeping the two girls from meeting keeps Denny and his companion-in-complications thinking fast, but not nearly as fast as when, in succession, the taxi driver, the police and, finally, the girl's father, put in an appearance. This sequence is a wow, to put it mildly.

Of Denny's performance nothing need be said. He is his usual obliging self.

Miss Garon takes all the feminine honors with her excellent portrayal of the "wife." Here is a sparkling personality.

The cutter's shears seem to have done wrong by our Marian, for she doesn't appear more than half a dozen times in the entire picture. To her credit, it must be said that she is all there when she IS there.

Others who appear advantageously are Otis Harlan and Lee Moran. The latter as Denny's companion in the taxi sequence is especially fine.

Arnold Tamon's ballet makes a pretty spectacle on the stage, and a special short-reel subject called "Bill" is an exquisite character study of an old man — done with flashes of that same genius which set "The Last Laugh" aside from the general run of screen features.

"NEW BROOMS" FILM HIT

Given two pretty girls and a good-looking youth, a love theme tinged with a wee bit of filial jealousy, a drama of modern business and the desire of the owner thereof to tone down the somewhat exuberant ideas of his son and a happy ending in which the appeal is rather to the masses than the classes, a director should be able to produce a box-office winner.

And William de Mille, to whose efforts "New Brooms" at the Metropolitan this week is accredited, has by no means fallen down on the job.

In this picture, adapted by Clara Beranger from Frank Craven's play of the same name, one will find a direct appeal to every type of playgoer. The superlative artistry of Bessie Love is brought out to its greatest advantage; the sparkling personality of Phyllis Haver gives the needed touch of vivacity and verve, and Neil Hamilton more than justifies his rapidly rising reputation as a portrayer of juvenile leads in which acting is more desirable than sheikery.

One forgets, as the plot unfolds, that the theme is somewhat shopworn; and what otherwise might seem unrealistic bits of melodrama are so shadowed—shaded—by the whole as to form a welcome blend and a more welcome addition to the week's offerings on the entertainment menu.

Robert McWade, in a very good portrayal of Thomas Bates, Sr., a wealthy broom manufacturer, appears as the father of Neil Hamilton—Bates, Jr. This latter youth, just starting his ante-college life, has imbibed numerous ideas on the conduct of modern business and has evolved therefrom a number of unusual theories.

He is in love with Florence Levering—Phyllis Haver—his father's ward. Geraldine Marsh—Bessie Love—is a young and attractive housekeeper for the family.

To teach his son a needed lesson, the father turns over to the boy the management of the plant for a year. And out of the ensuing troubles the major part of the yarn is built. Of course, he falls out of love with Florence and in again with Geraldine, in order that the inevitable clinch may be witnessed in the final fadeout.

Fred Walton as Williams, the butler; Josephine Crowell as Margaret, the housekeeper who makes way for Geraldine; Larry Steers as George Morrow, the pleasant youth who finally wins and marries Florence, and James Neill as Kneeland, the faithful general factotum of the plant, do their work smoothly and well.

On the remainder of the program are Waring's Pennsylvanians in their last week at the local house, Edith Griffith, Dean Moore, the Four Forbes and Bobbie Tremaine and her dancers in a review titled "Halloween Revels;" the news reel with inspiring views of naval activities, a laugh-provoking animated cartoon and a very impressive overture by Forbstein and his orchestra.

In toto it is an amusement offering well above the standard.

"EXCHANGE OF WIVES"

TREATMENT OF TIME-WORN PLOT IS AMUSING

By Edwin Schallert

If old plots are not absolutely the best, they may possibly be described as among the most popularly successful, judging from the reception of "Exchange of Wives" this week at Loew's State Theater. I don't know that the story of this film contains a single original idea, but it nevertheless manages to be a brightly amusing affair from start to finish. The acting honors go chiefly to Lew Cody and to Eleanor Boardman, though they are shared in liberally by Creighton Hale and Renee Adoree, and Hobart Henley has done a very clever piece of work with the direction.

The picture headlines the entertainment along with a circus prologue that is a novelty. Fanchon and Marco have bettered even their previous average of diverting shows with this latest razzle-dazzle of dancing, acrobatics and burlesque. The culmination of the act discloses a girl swinging over the audience in an electric-lighted horseshoe, with a prize awarded to the persons who can snatch a slipper from her foot while she is carried hither and yon by the suspended trapeze-like contrivance. The act almost caused a riot in the front rows of the downstairs section yesterday.

People who recall "So Long Letty" and the earlier play, "Your Neighbor's Wife," will perhaps have no trouble deciphering in advance what "Exchange of Wives" is all about. The plot is in several respects, at least, almost identical —too nearly identical, in fact, in some ways, to be entirely satisfactory. The exchange is made by virtue of an agreement entered into at the instance of the wife, whose husband has shown a disposition to wander from the hearthside with the spouse of the man next door. The actual exchange takes place at a mountain resort.

Lemon pie seems to be the chief attraction that brings the errant, not to say erring, husband back home. Although the picture is a comedy, the pie is not thrown but eaten. Lew Cody consumes the most of it. In fact, he eats the better part of a pie about every reel, without apparently suffering any ill effects to his digestion.

Cody is good in comedy. The part of the husband-seeking diversion, as he plays it, is one of his cleverest recent portrayals. His pantomime where he has to eat candy and peanuts because of the quality of the other woman's cooking, and also the scene when he returns and tries to lay the law down to his wife, among others, are certain of laughs. Especially good also is that episode where he comes homes late at night from the country club.

Miss Boardman's role is not one of great comedy opportunities, but she balances the other players' work with sympathy. Her portrayal is another proof of her gaining ability in acting.

Creighton Hale does a very excellent characterization, recalling to mind his performance in "The Marriage Circle." He seems to have acquired more deftness in his comedy.

While not exactly suited to the role of the other woman, Renee Adoree gives a performance of capital mirthful worth.

Comedy of a broader sort makes "Below Zero," a short-reeler with Lige Conley, quite acceptable.

SUNDAY ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS BEGIN

Light Novelties Share Ovations With Coroni, Gifted Young Baritone

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The first popular concert of the Philharmonic Orchestra yesterday afternoon, was a divided success. The orchestra directed by Walter Henry Rothwell was unusually successful with a well-chosen program and the soloist, Leonida Coroni, Italian baritone, was especially popular with the audience.

The "Danse Macabre" of Saint-Saens, and the well-known "Overture to Rienzi," by Wagner, were the orchestra's big numbers and every note in them was unfailing in its effect. The "Rienzi" was magnificent. The brass section led by Benjamin Klatzkin was thrilling in its declaration of the battle hymn, and the strings responded with an attenuation of the theme that was marked in its refinement and yet held the tremendous meanings without loss of power. The "Dance of Death" was an eerie etching of the graveyard revelry, taken a shade too slow for reality, but doubtless the tempo was right for ghosts.

Coroni has a powerful and beautiful voice which suffered yesterday by his lack of control due to stage fright and a lack of well-grounded musicianship. His first aria from "Hamlet," by Ambrose Thomas had some splendid moments and held an emotional quality which made the audience insist upon an encore. His choice was Massenet's "Elegie," and the accompaniment was played by Ilya Bronson, cellist, and Alfred Kastner, harpist, from widely separated sides of the orchestra. Coroni's phrasing was not sufficiently assured to hold the two instruments together, or to maintain his own balance. His last number, the difficult aria from Massenet's "The King of Lahore," with the aid of a very fine orchestral accompaniment, showed a beauty of spirit and a dramatic intensity marred by uncertainty. The audience tendered him an ovation.

Hugo Kaun's "Festival March" was thick and ponderous in its orchestration until it lightened into a European version of the "Star Spangled Banner," in which the cellos had the best of it because of necessity they were allowed to keep their seats. Debussy's "Children's Corner" suite, the intermezzo from "I Pagliacci," and the dizzy little "Bumblebee," by Rimsky-Korsakoff, were delightful and the last two were so effective that they had to be repeated. Ernest Huber and his double-basses were particularly good in the "Elephant's Lullaby," and Henri de Bussacher distinguished himself in the "Little Shepherd" song from Debussy's suite.

NIVERSE DECLARED TO BE GOD'S NURSERY OF SOULS

Culbertson Asserts We Are Here to Develop Character Amid Surroundings of Earth

[illegible] the belief that the key to the interpretation of life's [illegible] is that "God created the universe to be a nursery of [illegible]" Dr. H. C. Culbertson, pastor of the Mesa Congregational [illegible], preached an inspiring sermon yesterday to the KHJ [illegible] from The Times broadcasting station. "Love Stories [illegible] Bible" is the subject on which Dr. Culbertson spoke in [illegible] as follows:

[illegible] is not a treatise on [illegible] but a book of life whose [illegible] are aglow with the joys [illegible] laughter and heart-[illegible] of hundreds of generations [illegible] folk like ourselves. Love [illegible] in our lives and love [illegible] in theirs. When Abra-[illegible] ancient desert chieftain, [illegible] with flocks, herds and [illegible] out of the corrupt civilization [illegible] of the Chaldees and [illegible] Mesopotamia, westward, [illegible] new land of promise and to worship a righteous God, the first migration in all history that had a spiritual purpose and impulse, in his tent was the wife of his heart, Sarah the Princess. Amid all the hardships and uncertainties of their travel through strange mountains and valleys, amid hostile peoples, and down into splendid and terrible Egypt, she was his inspiration and counsellor.

"There are many interpretations of the book called the 'Song of Solomon,' but the best is that which reads it as the story of the simple-hearted maiden, who loved a shepherd lad. The royal glance of the licentious king fell upon her, and the king took her away by force to the royal palaces and artificial splendors of the capital, but in spite of all temptation she remained faithful to her shepherd lover, and at length rejoined him in the perfect happiness of a humble love that had been tried and proven true to the uttermost. Like a paean of joy rings out the triumphant word, 'Love is strong as death, waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it

DID HE HAVE STORY?

"Did Jesus have a love story? We read in Scripture that He was tempted in all points like as we are, and that He was made perfect through suffering. There is a word which He once dropped when the disciples were speaking about marriage, when He said that some become eunuchs, that is, give up hope of love and marriage, for the kingdom of heaven's sake. As a spirit from another world incarnate in human form, entering into all human experiences, did He whose teaching has done so much to ennoble womanhood and exalt marriage, feel that He must turn away from earthly marriage for Himself? What happened in those hidden years at Nazareth, when the young carpenter, with high heart and radiant brow, entered so fully into all the neighborhood life about Him?

"Was there some similar, spirited, ambitious maiden of Nazareth for whom His heart throbbed in those silent years? When He made the sacrifice, what was her attitude? Did she turn away to some other. In that hard land of slavery and poverty where a peasant woman was helpless unless married, and where a husband might divorce a wife with a word, at will, and where a divorced woman could find no way to earn a living, almost no way, except by shame? Was the heart of Jesus wrung by the sorrows of her unknown experiences until, apart from earthly passion, He could win her to salvation and to God? Did His agony for her sake help Him to enter deeply into sympathy for all the sinning, sorrowing outcasts of earth? Students of psychology will understand the technical terms when I ask reverently whether His love, turned aside from human fulfillment, was sublimated into a love for all humanity, so that, as Paul expressed it, the church, all His multitude of followers in all ages, became His bride, the bride of the lamb, and love and marriage became the symbol of God's sacred love for all the world and all mankind. The Bible closes with the sublime appeal. 'The Spirit and the Bride say, come.' The Spirit of God, and the bride, the great company of believers, call all the world to the comradeship of heaven.

"The very use of this symbol, calling the church the bride of Christ, sanctifies and makes beautiful the thought of love and marriage.

"I believe that the key to the interpretation of the mystery and purpose of all life is that God created this universe to be a nursery of souls, where souls should be brought into being and trained for eternity.

WHENCE COMES SOUL

"Whence comes the soul? Some have believed that it is created by God as a special miraculous act whenever a child is born. But others ask, why then, does the child inherit the qualities and tendencies of the parents? It is not God's usual method to interpose creative acts in the universe where He abides in continuing guidance and constant creative power. Another theory is that the soul is an emanation of a vast impersonal deity, taking temporary individuality in a human body and ultimately being absorbed back into Infinite Being, with all personality lost, as a wave subsides into the sea. But if this be true, what is the purpose of life? Has it any worthy purpose? Is it worthy of God, that He should bring us into sinning, suffering earth-existence just to absorb us back again? What is the purpose of earth? It is to produce souls of high character and immortal aspirations. What is the end and aim of all business, in this light? It is to develop souls. When we come to look habitually at life in this perspective, we shall see our earthly surroundings as the loom on which character is to be woven, all our joys and sorrows as part of the machinery in and through which souls are to grow great and pure and reverent and brotherly. The Gospel is God's love story, as He calls us to realize our divine possibilities, and Christ is the shining of God's presence into our environment to let us know how deeply He shares in all that is ours."

MISSION OF CHRIST DEFINED IN SERMON

"The Saving Power of Jesus" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Rev. J. A. V. Pieters at the Hoover Street Baptist Church. Mr. Pieters spoke in part as follows:

"The purpose of the coming of Jesus into this world, was revealed before His birth by the angel to His Mother, and by Himself and others after His birth.—that He came to 'Save people from their sins.' His salvation begins with the moment of the regeneration of the soul, continues on through life, and reaches its climax in the eternal joys of the Glory Land. He saves the sinner from the penalty of sin, and also from its power and reign over the life. Also—we are saved from condemnation and from the curse of a broken law. There is a wrath to come which John the Baptist preached, and also reaffirmed by Jesus, from which Jesus saves. Although the saved sinner will be judged at the Judgment Seat of Christ for his deeds upon earth during his Christian life, he will be saved from the Judgment at the Great White Throne, at which only the unsaved and impenitent sinners will appear."

BIBLE IS CALLED UP-TO-DATE BOOK

Rev. Gordon Palmer of the South Park Baptist Church preached yesterday on "The Holy Bible." He said in part:

"The Bible is not only a book for past reference, it is the most up-to-date book extant. It is the greatest revealer of human nature of modern times. America has been a land of the Bible. Our Presidents have never been afraid to declare their faith in the Bible. They have been inspired by its precepts and exhortations. We must never forget that America is a Christian nation and the Bible should be freely read in the home, the school and the church. The moral and social ideals of Jesus surpass all others. Let us give them a chance. They always work when honestly tried."

"SAVE THE CHILDREN" IS PLEA OF PASTOR

Dr. J. W. Neely, pastor of the Wilshire Methodist Church, preached yesterday on "A Child Shall Lead Them." He said in part:

"Jesus emphasizes the place of the child in the kingdom of God. We hear much today about the conservation of our national resources, our mines, forests and water. We are stressing conservation of human energy in the prevention of sickness and accidents. We are inquiring into the causes that make for poverty, crime and suffering. We need a larger emphasis upon this doctrine of conservation as applied to the child life of our nation. The church is being awakened as never before to its responsibility and opportunities. The child life presents the key position in our world-saving program. Prevention is always better than reformation. Too long we have been stressing rescue methods instead of preventive measures."

POWER OF MONEY TOLD BY PASTOR

Dr. R. J. Wyckoff, pastor of the Melrose-Avenue Methodist Church, preached yesterday on "The Right Use of Money." He said in part:

"'Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.' Imagine Jesus saying that to the finest nation of money-getters in the world. Commanding them to take their money from strong boxes, behind time locks, and put it into a treasure as mystical and as far off as heaven. No wonder the crowd laughed at Him and called His Kingdom unreal. No wonder today we call Jesus a dreamer and His Kingdom a chimera. We are a very wealthy nation and we are disposed to hold onto the stuff. Nearly 50 per cent of the world's gold and one-third of the world's wealth is in our possession. Our riches exceed 50 per cent the total wealth of Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy. Imagine being asked to put out treasures in Heaven. Well, that is about the only safe place for so much money. By Heaven Jesus meant His Kingdom, and His Kingdom means a kingdom of good will, peace, happiness, comfort. It means redeemed lives. Money can conquer hunger, disease, war. It can be used to make old age comfortable. It can conquer pain, bring laughter to children and fuel to the cold. Money, next to God, is the most omnipotent thing in the world."

SAYS CHURCH HAS BEEN MADE BEGGAR

Dr. Bruce Brown of the South Park Christian Church preached yesterday on "Lazarus and Dives." He said in part: "Lazarus lying at the gate, begging for crumbs and Dives feasting in his palace represent conditions that have prevailed from that day to this. For twenty centuries humanity has given Christ only the crumbs, after being surfeited. The church has been made a beggar, supplicating alms, and must be satisfied with the leavings after men have been satiated. The rich man would have lived longer and happier if he had shared his feast with the needy. The makers of history and literature have often lived in penury, while others fattened on the products of their toil. A new social conscience is being developed that recognizes the producers' right in all material and moral products. The very fact that Lazarus and Dives exist is sufficient proof that there will be a final settling up of all affairs when virtue shall receive its due reward."

POINTS TO LADDER THAT LEADS TO GOD

"The Confusion of Tongues" is the subject of an address given yesterday by Dr. Mayer Winkler, rabbi of Congregation Sinai. Dr. Winkler said in part:

"The first chapters of the Bible relating to the history of the human race are fascinating in their simplicity. Irrespective of the external shell, they contain eternal and everlasting truth. At the primitive stage of civilization humanity spoke one language. This uniformity of a common language was the motive power of the plan to erect a tower reaching to the heavens, and to concentrate all efforts and energies and interests around the narrow circle, so that man should not be scattered all over the earth. It was indeed a narrow conception of life, of God, to restrict the whole woe and weal of human life to a city with its powerful tower built out of bricks and mortar. Their final goal was, according to the Bible, 'Let us make a name for ourselves.' A reputation based upon distrust in God and in Divine Providence. This generation was lacking the vision of a life towering toward heaven, not by placing brick upon brick, but rather by developing the mind and spirit for the sake of the betterment of the human race. The confusion of their language stands as a reminder that not through the steps of a tower but rather through the unseen rungs of the spiritual ladder man of earth must uplift himself to reach the height of the heavenly spheres for a just, pure and righteous life."

ASSESTS LISTED AS SAXOPHONES

MURDER HINGES ON BURNS

Position of Dead Man's Injuries May Determine Purpose Involved in Fatal Fire

While the weight of a man's life hangs in one balance of the scale of blind Justice today men will argue about placing in the opposite pan a bit of evidence so technical that it might have been taken from the story of a famous detective of popular fiction.

The position of the burns on the body of Walten Skala are expected to determine whether he went into a house at 1681 East Manchester street to set fire at the instigation of George H. Ferlin, owner of the house, who is charged with Skala's death, or whether he saw the flames and ran into the house to extinguish the fire.

The burns from which Skala died, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Scheinman, prosecuting Ferlin before Judge Jennings of San Diego, sitting for Judge Hahn, are to be found below Skala's knees and above his chest. And to get the burns in that manner he must have been stooping over when the flame suddenly enveloped him, it is contended. Scheinman will attempt to show that Skala had just entered the house and stooped to light a pile of oil-soaked rags when an explosion occurred and caught him in its flame.

Ferlin, who is charged with being responsible for the death of Skala even though he had no idea that any harm might come to his agent nor knew that any accident had happened until a day after the fire.

A Modern Roman Road

REACHING into her distant corners were the Roman Empire's military roads, built that the couriers or armies of Caesar might have highways that were dependable.

Through the industrial heart of America — from New York to Chicago—a highway for the voice has just been dedicated to service, likewise designed to afford dependability to its travellers. This is the world's longest telephone cable which, buried beneath the streets of crowded cities, and elsewhere held aloft on heavy poles, now offers communication facilities that are practically free from the hazards of storms and other dangers.

In affording rapid and dependable transit to thoughts voiced every minute between great cities, it serves a large territory both alone and as part of a national wire system that is being further extended through cables in response to the people's need.
